CONGRESS IN REGULAR SESSION

RESUME AFTER SHIP SUBSIDY SPECIAL ENDS

Law Makers Allow But Ten Minutes to Elapse Between Close of Extra Gathering of National Legislature and Reopening New.

BUTLER CONFIRMATION OVER ON AN OBJECTION

Seate Approves 1,700 Appointments Including 1,500 Army Promotions and Demotions — Names Woman Secretary of Legation.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Congress closed its two weeks extra session and started its regular session today with an intervening period of only ten minutes.

By resolution the end of the special session which began November 20 was closed at 11:50 o'clock and the new and final session of the 67th congress began at noon.

Proceedings today were largely routine of winding up the old and beginning the new session which runs until March 3. The senate met at 10 o'clock and the house at 11. In its brief sitting the senate formally dropped the Dyer anti-lynching bill and confirmed about 1700 nominations, but that of Pierce Butler of St. Paul to be an associate justice of the supreme court was blocked by objections from Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin and Norris, republican, Nebraska.

Same Thing Over Again.

After the ten minute breathing spell between the old and new sessions, the senate and house again went through the established motions of reconvening, adopting resolutions naming committees to notify the president and notify each other of their presence and rediness for business.

The principal business of the new session today was receipt of the annual budget.

Tomorrow President Harding is expected to deliver his message outlining the administration's program with the shipping bill, farm credit legislation and annual approviation bill as the major features in prospect.

Fails of Confirmation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—The nomination of Pierce Butler, St. Paul attorney, to be an associate justice of the supreme court failed of confirmation by the senate today in the close of the extra session and a renomination in the regular session was made necessary. Senators LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, and Norris, republican, Nebraska, objected to immediate confirmation and forced over the nomination.

A statement opposing Mr. Butler's confirmation, filed recently with the judiciary committee, was referred to by Senator LaFollette and he was

P. J. BARRON IS NEW JUDGE

Former Lincoln Man Appointed By Governor McKelvie to Succeed R. W. Hobart on Bench in Seventeenth Judicial District.

P. J. Barron of Scottsbluff, formerly of Lincoln, has been appointed by Governor McKelvie as judge of the 17th judicial district to succeed R. W. Hobart on January 1, the incumbent's resignation taking effect at that time. The governor based his selection on a poll taken among the lawyers of the district, who were asked to express their first, second and third choice. Mr. Barron is a republican.

In announcing the appointment, Governor McKelvie said that he had allowed 50 points for each first choice vote, 35 points for each second choice, and 15 points for each third choice. The results on the three high candidates were stated by the governor as follows:

P. J. Barron, 885 points; James G. Mothersead, Scottsbluff, 840; F. E. Williams, Bridgeport, 700.

Forty-nine attorneys out of fifty living in the judicial district took part in the poll, Mr. McKelvie said.

Judge Barron has a large circle of old friends in Lincoln who will be pleased over his appointment. He lived here about twenty years ago with his mother and brother. He married a Lincoln girl and moved to North Platte, where he was court reporter to the late Judge H. M. Grimes for several years. Afterward he became Judge Hobart's court reporter and went to Scottsbluff to life. Some years ago, he resigned and entered the practice of law at that place.

In Lincoln during his younger days, Mr. Barron achieved considerable distinction as a chess player. On one occasion when Phillsbury, the American chess champion, came to Lincoln and played at a local tournament, Mr. Barron was his antagonist in one game and defeated the champion.

GREEK PRINCE TO LIVE IN ENGLAND

Princess Alice Related to British Royal Family, Through Mountbattens.

(International News Service.)

ATHENS, Dec. 4.—Prince Andrew, who was banished from Greece for life by a military court, and his wife, Princess Alice, are enroute today for Corfu, their former home, where they will stop briefly to gather together their personal effects before continuing their journey to England.

They are traveling on a British warship. England will be their future home. The princess is related to the British royal family through the Mountbatten branch.

The Greek revolutionary committee, evidently influenced by the widespread protests throughout Europe over executions of former state and military officials, has modified its stern program.

General Pallis, General Dousmanis, General Exadactyles and General Valettas, who had been arrested on the charge of contributing to the Greek military defeat by the Turks in Asia Minor, have been released. Trials of accused state officials will continue, however. A group of statesmen headed by M. Stergiadis, former Greek high commissioner in Asia Minor, will be arraigned this week before a military tribunal.

A statement was issued by the Greek revolutionary committee today defending the recent executions and revealing for the first time that the condemned ministers had been offered exile abroad.

Fear For King George.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 4.—Despite the fact that the Greek revolutionary court martial spared the life of Prince Andrew, fears pervaded Rumanian court circles today that King George was likely to meet an unhappy fate. Preparations are under way to give asylum here to the Greek queen who is a daughter of King Ferdinand, if her husband is condemned to death by the Greeks.

Deny George a Prisoner.

SOUTH AMERICANS AT PEACE TABLE

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Under the firm and kindly guidance of the United States government the fice small powers that comprise Central America, gathered around a conference table in the history hall of the Americas here today to work out a program for permanent peace and tranquility in the area that has been the cockpit of so many little wars in the last century.

The conference that met today under the leadership of Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes is in fact a miniature replica of tre greater conference of world powers held here a year ago, which accomplished the reduction of the world's great navies, and gave assurance for peace on the Pacific and Far East for years to come.

The ends attained by the great Washington conference a year ago are the same sought by the little republics of Central America today —reduction of armament, assurance of perpetuating peace by treaty, establishment of tribunals to decide disputed questions without resort to force and finally the establishment based on a clear understanding and recognition of each others' problem. The countries that sent representatives here today were Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador, Costa Rica and Nicaragua.

The interest of the United States government in today's meeting is largely benevolent. Inviting the small republics to bring their troubles to Washington, however, the United States government was actuated by a deeper purpose than the mere establishment of peace for its own sake in the region south of Mexico.

American administrations, past and present, have long realized that the continual petty warfares in Central America constituted a menace to the Monroe Doctrine. By ending these wars and establishing tranquility, the chief temptation for foreign nations to "butt in" in Central America is thus removed.

Turmoil Holds Full Sway at Tsing Tan; Bandits Rule City

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 4.—Bandits are creating a reign of terror on the Shantung peninsula. Business is paralyzed and foreigners are fleeing for their lives, according to advices received here today.

Chinese newspapers charge that the Japanese are responsible for the turmoil, which is centering around the city of Tsing Tau. The newspapers allege that the Jopances inspired disorders "in an effort to show that China is not capable of handling the situation."

"Under an agreement between Tokio and Peking, the Japanese are to withdraw the last of the forces from Shantung tomorrow.)

Bandits are said to be in control of Tsing Tau, where they kidnaped the president of the chamber of commerce and a prominent official. Both are being held for ransom.

TRYING TO ORGANIZE A NEW INSTITUTION

Report Shows Bank Had Loans of $1,000,000 and $300,000 Worth of "Bad Paper"—Davis to Ask That Receiver Be Named.

OMAHA, Dec. 4.—The American State bank of Omaha, capitalized at $200,000, was closed today by J. E. Hart, secretary of the state department of trade and commerce. Mr. Hart issued a statement saying the bank's capital was "hopelessly dissipated and the directors and shareholders were unwilling and unable to make good the impairment.

The bank had deposits of $1,100,000, loans of $1,000,000 and $300,000 worth of "bad paper" acording to Mr. Hart, who said it had "operated at a loss for several months and all hope of effecting a reorganization was abandoned after several ineffectual efforts has been made to interest local capitalists."

Local financial interests, however, are attempting to organize a new bank and hope to be able to take over the closed bank's deposits and open for business within a short time. Depositors will be paid from the state guaranty fund as soon as their claims can be proved.

Mr. Hart said litigation to which the bank's management had to resort together with general financial depression made liquadition impossible.

E. A. Fricke and L. K. Moore, representing the department, have been in charge of the bank's daily operations the past three weeks in hope of being able to effect a reorganization.

Application for a receiver will be made during the day by Attorney General Clarence A. Davis and an ordinary liquidation will be pursued as rapidly as possible, it was stated.

TO GIVE CHARGES OF MALFEASANCE THOROUGH AIRING

House Committee Decides to Hold Open Hearings in the Daugherty Case.

Asks For Full Authority to Subpoena Witnesses and Documents.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The charges of unfitness and malfasance made against Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty will be given a thorough airin, the judiciary commmittee of the house of representatives decided today in agreeing to ask the house as a whole for authority to subpoenae witnesses and documents and conduct public hearings.

The decision of the judiciary committee to ask authority to proceed was hailed by Representative Oscar E. Keller, republican of Minnesota, and others associated with him in the inpeachment proceedings against the attorney general, as a victory as it is considered virtually certain the house will grant the authority asked, thus bringing the entire case into open committee hearings.

A tentative agreement was reached that the hearings would start on December 12, first on the charge that Daugherty has failed to prosecute trusts and corporations for violations of the Sherman law.

The committee's decision was reached shortly after noon today following a long argument over procedure in the case. Representative Keller, accompanied by Jackson Ralston, attorney for the American Federation of Labor, appeared before the committee, and asked a favorable report on Keller's resolutions. Keller had two resolutions before the committee, one for impeachment of the attorney general and the other empowering the committee to subpoenae witnesses, books and documents for a thorough hearing of his charges. After considerable argument the committee decided not to report either resolution but instead to report one of its own writing, asking the house for authority to proceed.

Ralston told the committee the first witnesses to be summoned would be Donald Richberg, a Chicago attorney, and a lawyer named Stevenson of Cleveland, whose first name he could not recall.

NORMAL BOARD IN PRIVATE SESSION

Said to Be Considering Budget Requests and Other Important Matters.

Peru School To Buy Instead of Manufacturing Its Own Power.

Members of the state normal board held a private, closed session Monday lasting for an hour and a half continuing through the noon hour, and discussed matters which they did not want the newspaper reporters or even the presidents of the four state normal schools to hear. The board has become very sensitive recently on account of the publicity which some of its proceedings received.

Secretary H. E. Reische of Chadron, who stepped outside for a moment to talk with the newspaper men, said he couldn't give out anything. It was known that the board was considering its budget requests for one thing. Another matter in which the board is concerned is whom Governor-elect Bryan will appoint to succeed the two outgoing members, E. H Gerhart of Newman Grove and Miss Eetta Young of Omaha. Some of those on the board are understood to be fearful that Bryan's appointees may have rather pronounced ideas on the subject of economy.

At its meeting a month or six weeks ago, the normal board smoothed over the complaints which had been presented by Peru People against the administration of A. L. Caviness as president of the normal school there. Mr. Reische asserted that this matter was not under discussion.

Twelve Weeks of School.

At a preceding open session, the normal board approved twelve weeks of summer school at each of the four institutions, instead of eight weeks. This was done to put them on the same basis as the teachers' college at the University of Nebraska. There will be two summer terms of six weeks each.

At Peru, a contract was approved for the purchase of electricity from the Nebraska City Water and Light Co., at 6½ cents per kilowatt for lighting, 5 cents for power, and [illegible] cents for cooking. Heretofore, the normal school has manufactured its own electricity and also supplied the village with current. It will keep its own plant for emergency use. President Caviness estimated a saving of $3,500 per year in cost of electricity by purchasing it.

Permission was asked by President R. I. Elliott of the Chadron school to begin the erection of a temporary grandstand or stadium on the athletic field there.

At present there are no seats for spectators of football games and other contests.

TO STAY UNTIL JOB COMPLETED

BOARD MEETS WITH ARCHITECT GOODHUE

A meeting of the state capitol commission, with Architect B. G. Goodhue of New York present and Governor-elect C. W. Bryan attending by invitation, was held Monday at the governor's office. Member W. H. Thompson, who is spending the winter in Los Angeles, was absent.

The commission was going over the progress of the work on the new capitol and some of the future plans. Governor McKelvie, in a verbal statement to newspaper men, indicated that the commission considered itself a permanent body and the old members would remain, except for the governor and state engineer, who will change with the new administration.

"Did Mr. Bryan express himself regarding the employment of George Johnson to act as paid secretary of the commission after January 1?" inquired one of the reporters.

"Mr. Bryan is present only as a guest at this meeting," responded the governor.

The law creating the capitol commission, enacted in 1919, fixes no definite terms for the three members whom Governor McKelvie appointed at that time. It has been suggested that they might present their resignations to Governor-elect Bryan, when he takes office, and thus give him a free hand in connection with his responsibility as chairman of the commission for the next three years. Some attorneys think that if the incoming governor desired to appoint a new commission he would have that power.

Angora Moslems Hunting Husbands For Sultan's Wives

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 4.—Rafet Pasha is trying to find husbands for 150 members of the former sultan's harem. The women range in age from 17 to 85 years. All of them are penniless.

Rafet also is anxious to solve the fate of the former monarch's numerous progeny as well as that of twenty princes and princesses of the royal blood. Since the sultan's flight, the nationalist government has been supporting these women in addition to 100 eunchs and many servants. The government now has decided that these people must shift for themselves. "It ought not to be difficult to find husbands or helpmates for these women," said a palace functionary todayl "They all were selected for their beauty, youth and figure. Most of them were gifts to the sultan from governors of the provinces. They have matchless complexions, dark eyes and long chestnut colored hair."

BUDGET SHOWS POSTAL BRANCH HAS SHORTAGE

THREE BILLION WILL BE AMOUNT REQUIRED

Chief Executive Asserts Figures Are 195 Million Less Than For 1923 and That No Further Slashes Will Be Tolerated By Him.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The budget for the United States for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923, providing for appropriations aggregating $3,799,910,353 for the operation of the federal government was transmitted to congress today by President Harding.

The total estimate is $195,298,359 less than the appropriations already made for the current fiscal year. This reduction was made possible, the president said in a message accompanying the budget by pursuing a policy emphasizing the "need of more rigid economy in the expenditure of public funds."

He took occasion at the same time, however, to warn congress that further slashes would not be approved by the administration.

"While it may be possible," Mr. Harding said, "to make a small reduction in an item here and there, any material reduction will necessitate a change in the administrative policy upon which estimates of appropriations for the fiscal year, 1924, are based."

Estimates Three Billion Needed.

The president gave the estimate of expenditures for the next fiscal year as $3,180,843,234, pointing out that the estimate of cash withdrawals is to be distinguished from the estimate of appropriations contained in the budget since withdrawals during the fiscal year will be made from previous appropriations as well as from appropriations in the budget.

The president called attention the reduction in the prospective deficit for the current fiscal year from $697,433,231 to $273,938,712 due to "continued pressure for economies and a revision of the expenditure program," and expressed hope that

FRENCH WANT TO BE KNOWN BETTER

Clemenceau Pleads That U. S. Make Greater Effort to Understand France.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4.—Georges Clemenceau, ex-premier of France, in an address before Maryland Historical society here today, pleaded earnestly that Americans make a greater effort to understand France and Frenchmen.

The French have their defects, he admitted, but declared they are essentially manly, and "they want to work for and with men."

"There is a statue in Paris of George Washington," the Tiger said. "He is mounted on his horse and he is pointing with his sword to the highest. Don't let any American go there and point that sword downwards!"

Clemenceau said most of the ideas of the declaration of independence were brought from Paris by Jefferson, but that the spirit of liberty was already here.

France today is imbued with a love of liberty, he said, and she is not willing to shirk her duty toward the peace and liberty of the world.

The Tiger again denied that his country was militaristic, declaring the unfairness of this charge was principally responsible for his coming to America.

"But before I had said a word in America," he declared, "Americans made me welcome and I knew there could be no very great misunderstanding between us. There may be some little difficulties, but time will cure those. The gratitude which America had for France and which we still feel for America is on such a solid foundation that it cannot be moved."

BUTLER CONFIRMATION OVER ON AN OBJECTION

Seate Approves 1,700 Appointments Including 1,500 Army Promotions and Demotions — Names Woman Secretary of Legation.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Congress closed its two weeks extra session and started its regular session today with an intervening period of only ten minutes.

By resolution the end of the special session which began November 20 was closed at 11:50 o'clock and the new and final session of the 67th congress began at noon.

Proceedings today were largely routine of winding up the old and beginning the new session which runs until March 3. The senate met at 10 o'clock and the house at 11. In its brief sitting the senate formally dropped the Dyer anti-lynching bill and confirmed about 1 700 nominations, but that of Pierce Butler of St. Paul to be an associate justice of the supreme court was blocked by objections from Senator LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin and Norris, republican, Nebraska.

Same Thing Over Again.

After the ten minute breathing spell between the old and new sessions, the senate and house again whent through the established motions of reconvening, adopting resolutions naming committees to notify the president and notify each other of their presence and rediness for business.

The principal business of the new session today was receipt of the annual budget.

Tomorrow President Harding is expected to deliver his message outlining the administration's program with the shipping bill, farm credit legislation and annual approviation bill as the major features in prospect.

Fails of Confirmation.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—The nomination of Pierce Butler, St. Paul attorney, to be an associate justice of the supreme court failed of confirmation by the senate today in the close of the extra session and a renomination in the regular session was made necessary. Senators LaFollette, republican, Wisconsin, and Norris, republican, Nebraska, objected to immediate confirmation and forced over the nomination.

A statement opposing Mr. Butler's confirmation, filed recently with the judiciary committee, was referred to by Senator LaFollette and he was Hobart on January 1, the incumbent's resignation taking effect at that time. The governor based his selection on a poll taken among the lawyers of the district, who were asked to express their first, second and third choice. Mr. Barron is a republican.

In announcing the appointment, Governor McKelvie said that he had allowed 50 points for each first choice vote, 35 points for each second choice, and 15 points for each third choice. The results on the three high candidates were stated by the governor as follows:

P. J. Barron, 885 points; James G Mothersead, Scottsbluff, 840; F. E. Williams, Bridgeport, 700.

Forty-nine attorneys out of fifty living in the judicial district took part in the poll, Mr. McKelvie said.

Judge Barron has a large circle of old friends in Lincoln who will be pleased over his appointment. He lived here about twenty years ago with his mother and brother. He married a Lincoln girl and moved to North Platte, where he was court reporter to the late Judge H. M. Grimes for several years. Afterward he became Judge Hobart's court reporter and went to Scottsbluff to life. Some years ago, he resigned and entered the practice of law at that place.

In Lincoln during his younger days, Mr. Barron achieved considerable distinction as a chess player. On one occasion when Phillsbury, the American chess champion, came to Lincoln and played at a local tournament, Mr. Barron was his antagonist in one game and defeated the champion.

GREEK PRINCE TO LIVE IN ENGLAND

Princess Alice Related to British Royal Family, Through Mountbattens.

(International News Service.)

ATHENS, Dec. 4.—Prince Andrew, who was banished from Greece for life by a military court, and his wife, Princess Alice, are enroute today for Corfu, their former home, where they will stop briefly to gather together their personal effects before continuing their journey to England.

They are traveling on a British warship. England will be their future home. The princess is related to the British royal family through the Mountbatten branch.

The Greek revolutionary committee, evidently influenced by the widespread protests throughout Europe over executions of former state and military officials, has modified its stern program.

General Pallis, General Dousmanis, General Exadactyles and General Valettas, who had been arrested on the charge of contributing to the Greek military defeat by the Turks in Asia Minor, have been released. Trials of accused state officials will continue, however. A group of statesmen headed by M. Stergiadis, former Greek high commissioner in Asia Minor, will be arraigned this week before a military tribunal.

A statement was issued by the Greek revolutionary committee today defending the recent executions and revealing for the first time that the condemned ministers had been offered exile abroad.

Fear For King George.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 4.—Despite the fact that the Greek revolutionary court martial spared the life of Prince Andrew, fears pervaded R[illegible]nian court circles today that King George was likely to meet an unhappy fate. Preparations are under way to give asylum here to the Greek queen who is a daughter of King Ferdinand, if her husband is condemned to death by the Greeks.

Deny George a Prisoner.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—By Radio)—Official denial has been issued by the Greek revolutionary committee at Athens that King George is a prisoner or that he intends to leave Greece, said a New Agency dispatch from Athens this afternoon.

SOUTH AMERICANS AT PEACE TABLE

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Under the firm and kindly guidance of the United States government the fice small powers that comprise Central America, gathered around a conference table in the history hall of the Americas here today to work out a program for permanent peace and tranquility in the area that has been the cockpit of so many little wars in the last century.

The conference that met today under the leadership of Secretary of State Charles E. Hughes is in fact a miniature replica of tre greater conference of world powers held here a year ago, which accomplished the reduction of the world's great navies, and gave assurance for peace on the Pacific and Far East for years to come.

The ends attained by the great Washington conference a year ago are the same sought by the little republics of Central America today —reduction of armament, assurance of perpetuating peace by treaty, establishment of tribunals to decide disputed questions without resort to force and finally the establishment based on a clear understanding and recognition of each others' problem. The countries that sent representatives here today were Guatemala, Hondruas, Salvador, Costa Rica and Nicaragua.

The interest of the United States government in today's meeting is largely benevolent. Inviting the small republics to bring their troubles to Washington, however, the United States government was actuated by a deeper purpose than the mere establishment of peace for its own sake in the region south of Mexico.

American administrations, past and present, have long realized that the continual petty warfares in Central America constituted a menace to the Monroe Doctrine. By ending these wars and establishing tranquility, the chief temptation for foreign nations to "butt in" in Central America is thus removed.

Turmoil Holds Full Sway at Tsing Tan; Bandits Rule City

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 4.—Bandits are creating a reign of terror on the Shantung peninsula. Business is paralyzed and foreigners are fleeing for their lives, according to advices received here today.

"Under an agreement between Tokio and Peking, the Japanese are to withdraw the last of the forces from Shantung tomorrow.)

Bandits are said to be in control of Tsing Tau, where they kidnaped the president of the chamber of commerce and a prominent official. Both are being held for ransom.

STATE CLOSES OMAHA BANK

Secretary Hart Says American State Bank's Capital 'Hopelessly Dissipated — Shareholders Unable to Make Good the Impairment.

TRYING TO ORGANIZE A NEW INSTITUTION

Report Shows Bank Had Loans of $1,000,000 and $300,000 Worth of "Bad Paper"—Davis to Ask That Receiver Be Named.

OMAHA, Dec. 4.—The American State bank of Omaha, capitalized at $200,000, was closed today by J. E Hart, secretary of the state department of trade and commerce. Mr. Hart issued a statement saying the bank's capital was "hopelessly dissipated and the directors and shareholders were unwilling and unable to make good the impairment.

The bank had deposits of $1,100,000, loans of $1,000,000 and $300,000 worth of "bad paper" acording to Mr. Hart, who said it had "operated at a loss for several months and all hope of effecting a reorganization was abandoned after several ineffectual efforts has been made to interest local capitalists."

Local financial interests, however, are attempting to organize a new bank and hope to be able to take over the closed bank's deposits and open for business within a short time. Depositors will be paid from the state guaranty fund as soon as their claims can be proved.

Mr. Hart said litigation to which the bank's management had to resort together with general financial depression made liquadition impossible.

E. A. Fricke and L. K. Moore, representing the department, have been in charge of the bank's daily operations the past three weeks in hope of being able to effect a reorganization.

Application for a receiver will be made during the day by Attorney General Clarence A. Davis and an ordinary liquidation will be pursued as rapidly as possible, it was stated.

TO GIVE CHARGES OF MALFEASANCE THOROUGH AIRING

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The charges of unfitness and malfasance made against Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty will be given a thorough airin, the judiciary commmittee of the house of representatives decided today in agreeing to ask the house as a whole for authority to subpoenae witnesses and documents and conduct public hearings.

The decision of the judiciary committee to ask authority to proceed was hailed by Representative Oscar E. Keller, republican of Minnesota, and others associated with him in the impeachment proceedings against the attorney general, as a victory as it is considered virtually certain the house will grant the authority asked, thus bringing the entire case into open committee hearings.

A tentative agreement was reached that the hearings would start on December 12, first on the charge that Daugherty has failed to prosecute trusts and corporations for violations of the Sherman law.

The committee's decision was reached shortly after noon today following a long argument over procedure in the case. Representative Keller, accompanied by Jackson Ralston, attorney for the American Federation of Labor, appeared before the committee, and asked a favorable report on Keller's resolutions. Keller had two resolutions before the committee, one for impeachment of the attorney general and the other empowering the committee to subpoenae witnesses, books and documents for a thorough hearing of his charges. After considerable argument the committee decided not to report either resolution but instead to report one of its own writing, asking the house for authority to proceed.

Ralston told the committee the first witnesses to be summoned would be Donald Richberg, a Chicago attorney, and a lawyer named Stevenson of Cleveland, whose first name he could not recall.

NORMAL BOARD IN PRIVATE SESSION

Said to Be Considering Budget Requests and Other Important Matters.

Peru School To Buy Instead of Manufacturing Its Own Power.

Members of the state normal board held a private, closed session Monday lasting for an hour and a half continuing through the noon hour, and discussed matters which they did not want the newspaper reporters or even the presidents of the four state normal schools to hear. The board has become very sensitive recently on account of the publicity which some of its proceedings received.

Secretary H. E. Reische of Chadron, who stepped outside for a moment to talk with the newspaper men, said he couldn't give out anything. It was known that the board was considering its budget requests for one thing. Another matter in which the board is concerned is whom Governor-elect Bryan will appoint to succeed the two outgoing members, E. H Gerhart of Newman Grove and Miss Eetta Young of Omaha. Some of those on the board are understood to be fearful that Bryan's appointees may have rather pronounced ideas on the subject of economy.

At its meeting a month or six weeks ago, the normal board smoothed over the complaints which had been presented by Peru People against the administration of A. L. Caviness as president of the normal school there. Mr. Reische asserted that this matter was not under discussion.

Twelve Weeks of School.

At a preceding open session, the normal board approved twelve weeks of summer school at each of the four institutions, instead of eight weeks. This was done to put them on the same basis as the teachers' college at the University of Nebraska. There will be two summer terms of six weeks each.

At Peru, a contract was approved for the purchase of electricity from the Nebraska City Water and Light Co., at 6½ cents per kilowatt for lighting, 5 cents for power, and 4 cents for cooking. Heretofore, the normal school has manufactured its own electricity and also supplied the village with current. It will keep its own plant for emergency use. President Caviness estimated a saving of $3,500 per year in cost of electricity by purchasing it.

Permission was asked by President R. I. Elliott of the Chadron school to begin the erection of a temporary grandstand or stadium on the athletic field there.

At present there are no seats for spectators of football games and other contests.

TO STAY UNTIL JOB COMPLETED

BOARD MEETS WITH ARCHITECT GOODHUE

A meeting of the state capitol commission, with Architect B. G. Goodhue of New York present and Governor-elect C. W. Bryan attending by invitation, was held Monday at the governor's office. Member W. H. Thompson, who is spending the winter in Los Angeles, was absent.

The commission was going over the progress of the work on the new capitol and some of the future plans. Governor McKelvie, in a verbal statement to newspaper men, indicated that the commission considered itself a permanent body and the old members would remain, except for the governor and state engineer, who will change with the new administration.

"Did Mr. Bryan express himself regarding the employment of George Johnson to act as paid secretary of the commission after January 1?" inquired one of the reporters.

"Mr. Bryan is present only as a guest at this meeting," responded the governor.

The law creating the capitol commission, enacted in 1919, fixes no definite terms for the three members whom Governor McKelvie appointed at that time. It has been suggested that they might present their resignations to Governor-elect Bryan, when he takes office, and thus give him a free hand in connection with his responsibility as chairman of the commission for the next three years. Some attorneys think that if the incoming governor desired to appoint a new commission he would have that power.

Angora Moslems Hunting Husbands For Sultan's Wives

CONSTANTINOPLE, Dec. 4.—Rafet Pasha is trying to find husbands for 150 members of the former sultan's harem. The women range in age from 17 to 35 years. All of them are penniless.

Since the sultan's flight, the nationalist government has been supporting these women in addition to 100 eunchs and many servants. The government now has decided that these people must shift for themselves. "It ought not to be difficult to find husbands or helpmates for these women," said a palace functionary todayl "They all were selected for their beauty, youth and figure. Most of them were gifts to the sultan from governors of the provinces. They have matchless complexions, dark eyes and long chestnut colored hair."

BUDGET SHOWS POSTAL BRANCH HAS SHORTAGE

THREE BILLION WILL BE AMOUNT REQUIRED

Chief Executive Asserts Figures Are 195 Million Less Than For 1923 and That No Further Slashes Will Be Tolerated By Him.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—The budget for the United States for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923, providing for appropriations aggregating $3,799,940,353 for the operation of the federal government was transmitted to congress today by President Harding.

The total estimate is $195,298,359 less than the appropriations already made for the current fiscal year. This reduction was made possible, the president said in a message accompanying the budget by pursuing a policy emphasizing the "need of more rigid economy in the expenditure of public funds."

He took occasion at the same time, however, to warn congress that further slashes would not be approved by the administration.

"While it may be possible," Mr. Harding said, "to make a small reduction in an item here and there, any material reduction will necessitate a change in the administrative policy upon which estimates of appropriations for the fiscal year, 1924, are based."

Estimates Three Billion Needed.

The president gave the estimate of expenditures for the next fiscal year as $3,180,843,234, pointing out that the estimate of cash withdrawals is to be distinguished from the estimate of appropriations contained in the budget since withdrawals during the fiscal year will be made from previous appropriations as well as from appropriations in the budget.

The president called attention the reduction in the prospective deficit for the current fiscal year from $697,433,231 to $273,938,712 due to "continued pressure for economies and a revision of the expenditure program," and expressed hope that

FRENCH WANT TO BE KNOWN BETTER

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4.—Georges Clemenceau, ex-premier of France, in an address before Maryland Historical society here today, pleaded earnestly that Americans make a greater effort to understand France and Frenchmen.

The French have their defects, he admitted, but declared they are essentially manly, and "they want to work for and with men."

"There is a statue in Paris of George Washington," the Tiger said. "He is mounted on his horse and he is pointing with his sword to the highest. Don't let any American go there and point that sword downward!"

Clemenceau said most of the ideas of the declaration of independence were brought from Paris by Jefferson, but that the spirit of liberty was already here.

France today is imbued with a love of liberty, he said, and she is not willing to shirk her duty toward the peace and liberty of the world.

The Tiger again denied that his country was militaristic, declaring the unfairness of this charge was principally responsible for his coming to America.

"But before I had said a word in America," he declared, "Americans made me welcome and I knew there could be no very great misunderstanding between us. There may be some little difficulties, but time will cure those. The gratitude which America had for France and which we still feel for America is on such a solid foundation that it cannot be moved."

Says Laws of God Are Back of Man Made Legislation

"Back of the state is something more enduring than man made laws," said Governor Samuel R. McKelvie Sunday evening in addressing a large audience at the First Methodist church in University Place. The audience consisted largely of Wesleyan students who are members of the Epworth League. Prof. J. D. Barnhart presded. The speaker was introduced by Prof. W. G. Bishop who was formerly a teacher of the governor. Both reviewed their common experiences in the class room.

The governor said that some of his views had changed since being four years in the gubernatorial chair. Once he had though that the state alone could insure justice and equality. He had learned differently. The state could guarantee these qualities in the start but it could not insure the results. He said: "The laws of God are back of state and man made laws. We cannot always depend upon our human advisers. I am grateful to my parents for their teachings and belief in an almighty God. They, too, were led by their elders. The Pilgrims came for their faith to this land and sought to institute a government and church that would go hand in hand and yet be independent. No doubt it seemed strange to men 300 years ago that God and church was the basis of government and yet both stood apart. Today we understand. The church is back of all human problems. Whenever men have followed the teachings of Christ they have found happiness and content. Christianity will help us ultimately to do away with wars. There have been fewer wars since the days of Christianity than ever before. The last war has arounsed in us a desire to let Christianity have its way and finish all war.

The Christian age has increased the personal rights of man. Once a nation held in feudal possession all the wealth of the state. Even the objection that the number of those confined in penal institutions is increasing can be met. I believe in laws and law enforcement but man made laws, however severely enforced, will not do away with crime. Selfishness leads a man to grasp for all the wealth he can seize regardless of the rights of others. The state cannot produce happiness and contentment. Adherence to the laws of God can. Christianity is the basis and foundation of successful government. No laws are fit to be upon the statute books that do not seek to carry out the teachings and laws of Christ. As the people attend church and carry out the teachings they hear there we shall obtain the highest and most successful form of government.

Charges Growing Out of Shooting of Frye Dropped

The complaint against Rex Holden, Walter Holden and Cliff Hedge, charging them with assault with intent to murder Eugene Frye on October 28, was dismissed by the county attorney in Justice W. A. Hawes' court Monday morning. It was reported that Frye had left the state. All three defendants had been arraigned, pleading not guilty. Hedge and Walter Holden waived preliminary hearing and Rex Holden's case was set for Monday when it was dismissed. Rex Holden paid the total costs of the case, $13.

The charges grew out of the shooting of Frye on October 28, when he received a load of gun shot in his neck. There had been some slight differences among the men before the shooting which they maintained was accidental, according to the authorities.

KENYON TRIAL STARTS MONDAY

Former Officer Bankers Fire Company Faces Embezzlement Charge.

Selection of a jury in the trial of Houghton W. Kenyon, charged with embezzlement, was in progress before District Judge W. E. Stewart, Monday morning. Kenyon, a former officer of the Bankers Fire Insurance company, was indicted by the Lancaster county grand jury nearly a year ago. Deputy Attorney General Dort and Deputy County Attorney Towle are the prosecuting attorneys. Kenyon is being defended by Frank M. Tyrrell.

The indictment charges that on December 6, 1920, Kenyon embezzled property from Charles Maixner, a former officer of the Ceresco State bank, who is now serving a sentence in the Nebraska state penitentiary. The property involved is alleged to be shares of stock in the insurance company valued at $16,000 and which belonged to Otto H. Brockman.

Ulster Premier Says He is Loyal to English Flag

BELFAST, Dec. 4.— Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, in and address at Derry yesterday, said he would not be a party to any commission that would place his fellow countrymen and his fellow loyalists under a foreign flag and jurisdiction. He declared that his hearers were aware that those who had been advocating acceptance of the peace treaty with Great Britain at the same time had been suggesting it would mean an important step toward the establishment of an independent republic. Consequently, if he, as prime minister of Ulster, acquiesced in setting up a boundary commission he also would be acquiescing in handing over loyal descendants.

As a means of bridging the difficulty the premier suggested direct negotiations between the northern and southern governments which might adjust matters by an exchange of districts without a surrender of entire counties.

Selfishness leads a man to grasp for all the wealth he can seize regardless of the rights of others. The state cannot produce happiness and contentment. Adherence to the laws of God can. Christianity is the basis and foundation of successful government. No laws are fit to be upon the statute books that do not seek to carry out the teachings and laws of Christ. As the people attend church and carry out the teachings they hear there we shall obtain the highest and most successful form of government.

Charges Growing Out of Shooting of Frye Dropped

The complaint against Rex Holden, Walter Holden and Cliff Hedge, charging them with assault with intent to murder Eugene Frye on October 28, was dismissed by the county attorney in Justice W. A. Hawes' court Monday morning. It was reported that Frye had left the state. All three defendants had been arraigned, pleading not guilty. Hedge and Walter Holden waived preliminary hearing and Rex Holden's case was set for Monday when it was dismissed. Rex Holden paid the total costs of the case, $13.

The charges grew out of the shooting of Frye on October 28, when he received a load of gun shot in his neck. There had been some slight differences among the men before the shooting which they maintained was accidental, according to the authorities.

KENYON TRIAL STARTS MONDAY

Former Officer Bankers Fire Company Faces Embezzlement Charge.

Selection of a jury in the trial of Houghton W. Kenyon, charged with embezzlement, was in progress before District Judge W. E. Stewart, Monday morning. Kenyon, a former officer of the Bankers Fire Insurance company, was indicted by the Lancaster county grand jury nearly a year ago. Deputy Attorney General Dort and Deputy County Attorney Towle are the prosecuting attorneys. Kenyon is being defended by Frank M. Tyrrell.

The indictment charges that on December 6, 1920, Kenyon embezzled property from Charles Maixner, a former officer of the Ceresco State bank, who is now serving a sentence in the Nebraska state penitentiary. The property involved is alleged to be shares of stock in the insurance company valued at $16,000 and which belonged to Otto H. Brockman.

Ulster Premier Says He is Loyal to English Flag

BELFAST, Dec. 4.—Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, in and address at Derry yesterday, said he would not be a party to any commission that would place his fellow countrymen and his fellow loyalists under a foreign flag and jurisdiction. He declared that his hearers were aware that those who had been advocating acceptance of the peace treaty with Great Britain at the same time had been suggesting it would mean an important step toward the establishment of an independent republic. Consequently, if he, as prime minister of Ulster, acquiesced in setting up a boundary commission he also would be acquiescing in handing over loyal descendants.

As a means of bridging the difficulty the premier suggested direct negotiations between the northern and southern governments which might adjust matters by an exchange of districts without a surrender of entire counties.

ELKS MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD

Lincoln Lodge Honors Memory of Members Who Have Passed Away.

Past Exalted Ruler Ledwith Talks of Hope for Better Future Life.

Lincoln Elks Sunday afternoon held services in their lodge room in memory of the members of the order who have passed away, all lodges holding similar exercises on the same day each year. Exalted Ruler Homer R. Kelso presided, being assisted by Robert R. Reid as leading knight, Frank D. Williams as loyal knight, Leo J. Logan as lecturing knight, Oscar H. Clark as esquire and Frank H. Green, secretary.

The memorial address was delivered by John J. Ledwith, past exalted ruler, whose discourse was one of hope for a hereafter where happiness and contentment shall prevail. Without such hope life would be but a dreary existence, for too often it is found here that wickedness is materially rewarded, while virtue and righteousness are oppressed and suffer. Mankind is the only living creature that contemplates the past and looks to the future, not content with the present state, but ever looking for something better beyond. There is every reason to believe, therefore, that those who have gone have merely preceded those who now do honor to their memory and that they shall be reunited in that better future life.

The ritualistic service was of a most impressive character, and the reading of Thanatopsis by Fred S. Caldwell, past exalted ruler, was an eloquent rendition. The musical numbers were of the highest order, Reuben M. Wait singing "Open the Gates" and "No Night There" and the Elks string quartet under the direction of Arthur J. Babcock rendering three numbers. These were by Beethoven, Tschaikowski and Schumann. The members of the quartet are Mr. Babcock, A. L. Bomser, Charles B. Righter, jr. and Miss Alta Given.

The invocation and benediction were pronounced by the chaplain of the lodge, Rev. W. L. Wharton. The lodge room was attractively decorated with potted plants and cut flowers and the altar decorated with the order's emblems.

BODY OF MANN IN HOME CITY

Funeral Services Will Be Conducted Today at Presbyterian Church.

Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—The body of Representative James R. Mann, who died Thursday in Washington, today lay in state at a local undertaking establishment preceding the funeral services set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

At noon arrangements called for removal of the body to the Hyde Park Presbyterian church where services were to be conducted by Rev. Ralph Marshall Davis.

In addition to the two delegations from Washington, one representing the house and the other the senate, a number of public men were here to attend the services. Among them was Admiral W. A. Moffett, official representative of the navy.

The list of honorary pallbearers included Kenesaw M. Landis, former federal judge; Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago; F. O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois; Congressman "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and Ira C. Copley, former congressman.

DENY REVOLT REPORT.

ATHENS, Dec. 2.—A semi-official denial of reports of a counter revolutionary outbreak at Patras and Missolonghi, in western Greece and in the island of Corfu, has been issued.

"Matches Are Made in Heaven," Dr. Elmore Tells His Audience

"Matches are made in heaven," declared Rev. W. T. Elmore, of the First Baptist church Sunday evening, speaking on "The Fatal Choice —for Better or for Worse," the first of a series of sermons dealing with "The Making or Breaking of the Home." Rev. Elmore went on to explain, however, that though matches were undoubtedly made in heaven, they were made much the same way that green cornfields or brick blocks were made and that the man who sat down to wait for his love-match to be made in heaven for him ran little chance of making a mistake and marrying the wrong girl. In fact, according to Rev. Elmore, he ran little chance of ever marrying, but would probably decide that no match had been made for him.

The first choice should receive most careful consideration, because, asserted the speaker, no man who once marries and becomes divorced and is married again can receive the full benefit of either marriage, and for that reason should be very cautious in making his decision.

Speaking of the modern girl Rev. Elmore declared that the day of the swash-buckling, cigaret smoking, girl was short. The reason he assigned to this was that they would not be tolerated by the men.

Describing the ideal girl, the Baptist minister placed her family as the first consideration. He explained that by family he did not mean social position, or wealth, but rather that the girl have the right kind of parents, who would rear her in the best family life possible and proper atmosphere. Good looks came next. Nothing artificial would be tolerated and nothing mannish, but all "woman." She must be sensible, kind hearted and of a domestic nature because the day of the domestic servant in the average home has gone.

The "clinging vine" type of girl is more in evidence since the war than it was before, and instead of women's clothes becoming masculine they are even more feminine than ever.

Rev. Elmore drew many of his illustrations and composition from the biblical romance of Isaac and Rebekah.

In conclusion the speaker quoted Sam Jones as saying: "When I wanted to have a great time with a girl I took her to a dance. When I wanted to get married I went to prayer meeting."

WHEAT HAS MADE LITTLE GROWTH

Report Shows Bulk of Crop Extremely Late—Car Situation Improving.

Condition of winter wheat in Nebraska varies greatly and is generally reported unfavorable, according to the semi-monthly crop report issued Monday by the state and federal crop reporting service. Considerable winter wheat was sown after the November rains, the report says. Improvement in the available car situation is seen, however.

The full text of the report is as follows:

Most of the corn crop has been cribbed. The acreage of corn is slightly under the preliminary estimate, while the yield is slightly higher. As a result the final estimate of production will not differ much from the preliminary estimate.

In general the bulk of the winter wheat crop is extremely late and has made but little growth. Some of it has not come up. Considerable of the wheat was sown after the November rains in the southwest quarter of the state. A few cases of reseeding were reported. The most promising wheat will be found in early plowed fields in extreme eastern counties, and even here some of the reporters rank the condition with the most unfavorable seasons.

The car situation is improving, although some of the lines still are short of cars. Local feeders demand for corn is taking care of much of the surplus and possibly about two-thirds of the wheat crop has moved. The price of wheat is not satisfactory and the poor prospects of the present crop may check movement somewhat.

Prices of corn and hay have advanced considerably. Yields of hay are slightly lower than last year and in some counties the alfalfa crop was very light. Good feeder demand for corn and hay is partly responsible for the higher price. The first report on feeder cattle and sheep will soon be made. The department already has tabulated most of the movements for live stock by stations for the past three years and soon will be ready to render a real service in live stock reporting, the summary concludes.

Fine Artistic Hand of Hermine Seen in Wilhelm's Actions

DOORN, Dec. 4.—The hand of Princess Hermine continues to be felt in the activities of Doorn Castle and its chief occupant. The former emperor, at the insistence of his wife, is beginning to abandon his cloistered existence and to walk abroad among the villagers.

The townsfolk showed keen curiosity the first time Wilhelm was seen strolling through the streets accompanied by his dog.

The disarmament conference called in an endeavor to bring permanent peace to central and western Europe was formally opened Saturday with delegates present from the western and border states of Russia including Rumania which was represented by Poland.

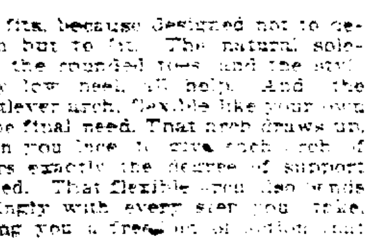
Shoes That Fit Don't Deform

Breathes there the woman who hasn't yearned to secure a true fit in fashionable shoes? When spindle heels and pointed toes were in fashion, that was, of course, impossible. Nature didn't make feet and time couldn't deform feet sufficiently to fit perfectly into shoes so fashioned. But now—in the Cantilever Shoe, women can secure fashionable footwear that fits.



It fits, because designed not to deform but to fit. The natural sole-line, the rounded toes and the stylishly low heel all help. And the Cantilever arch, flexible like your own is the final need. That arch draws up, when you lace, to give each arch of yours exactly the degree of support needed. That flexible arch also bends willingly with every step you take, giving you a freedom of action that holds off fatigue, and allows that strengthening exercise of muscles which corrects and prevents weak arches.

When you slip your feet into Cantilever Shoes, you secure your fit. What that will mean to you in the way of improved circulation, better color and better spirits you don't need to be told. Let us show you a pair on your feet.

ELKS MEMORIAL SERVICE HELD

Lincoln Lodge Honors Memory of Members Who Have Passed Away.

Past Exalted Ruler Ledwith Talks of Hope for Better Future Life.

Lincoln Elks Sunday afternoon held services in their lodge room in memory of the members of the order who have passed away, all lodges holding similar exercises on the same day each year. Exalted Ruler Homer R. Kelso presided, being assisted by Robin R. Reid as leading knight, Frank D. Williams as loyal knight, Leo J. Logan as lecturing knight, Oscar B. Clark as esquire and Frank E. Green, secretary.

The memorial address was delivered by John J. Ledwith, past exalted ruler, whose discourse was one of hope for a hereafter where happiness and contentment shall prevail. Without such hope life would be but a dreary existence, for too often it is found here that wickedness is materially rewarded, while virtue and righteousness are oppressed and suffer. Mankind is the only living creature that contemplates the past and looks to the future, not content with the present state, but ever looking for something better beyond. There is every reason to believe, therefore, that those who have gone have merely preceded those who now do honor to their memory and that they shall be reunited in that better future life.

The ritualistic service was of a most impressive character, and the reading of Thanatopsis by Fred G. Caldwell, past exalted ruler, was an eloquent rendition. The musical numbers were of the highest order, Reuben M. Walt singing "Open the Gates" and "No Night There" and the Elks string quartet under the direction of Arthur J. Babich, rendering three numbers. These were by Beethoven, Tschaikowski and Schumann. The members of the quartet are Mr. Babich, A. L. Bonner, Charles B. Righter, jr. and Miss Willa Given.

The invocation and benediction were pronounced by the chaplain of the lodge, Rev. F. L. Wharton. The lodge room was attractively decorated with potted plants and cut flowers and the altar decorated with the order's emblems.

BODY OF MANN IN HOME CITY

Funeral Services Will Be Conducted Today at Presbyterian Church.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—The body of Representative James R. Mann, who died Thursday in Washington, today lay in state at a local undertaking establishment preceding the funeral services set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

At noon arrangements called for removal of the body to the Hyde Park Presbyterian church, where services were to be conducted by Rev. Ralph Marshall Davis.

In addition to the two delegations from Washington one representing the house and the other the senate, a number of public men were here to attend the services. Among them was Admiral W. A. Moffet, official representative of the navy.

The list of honorary pallbearers included Kenesaw M. Landis, former federal judge; Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago; F. O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois; Congressman "Uncle Joe" Cannon, and Ira C. Copley, former congressman.

DENY REVOLT REPORT.

ATHENS, Dec. 3.—A semi-official denial of reports of a counter revolutionary outbreak in Patras and Missolonghi, in western Greece and on the island of Corfu, has been issued.

"Matches Are Made in Heaven," Dr. Elmore Tells His Audience

"Matches are made in heaven," declared Rev. W. T. Elmore, of the First Baptist church Sunday evening, speaking on "The Fatal Choice—for Better or for Worse," the first of a series of sermons dealing with "The Making or Breaking of the Home." Rev. Elmore went on to explain, however, that though matches were undoubtedly made in heaven, they were made much the same way that green cornfields or brick blocks were made and that the man who sat down to wait for his love-match to be made in heaven for him ran little chance of making a mistake and marrying the wrong girl. In fact, according to Rev. Elmore, he ran little chance of ever marrying, but would probably decide that no match had been made for him.

The first choice should receive most careful consideration, because, asserted the speaker, no man who once marries and becomes divorced and is married again can receive the full benefit of either marriage, and for that reason should be very cautious in making his decision.

Speaking of the modern girl Rev. Elmore declared that the day of the swash-buckling, cigaret smoking, girl was short. The reason he assigned to this was that they would not be tolerated by the men.

Describing the ideal girl, the Baptist minister placed her family as the first consideration. He explained that by family he did not mean social position, or wealth, but rather that the girl have the right kind of parents, who would rear her in the best family life possible and proper atmosphere. Good looks came next. Nothing artificial could be tolerated and nothing mannish, but all "woman." She must be sensible, kind hearted and of a domestic nature because the day of the domestic servant in the average home has gone.

The "clinging vine" type of girl is more in evidence since the war than it was before, and instead of women's clothes becoming masculine they are even more feminine than ever.

Rev. Elmore drew many of his illustrations and composition from the biblical romance of Isaac and Rebekah.

In conclusion the speaker quoted Sam Jones as saying: "When I wanted to have a great time with a girl I took her to a dance. When I wanted to get married I went to prayer meeting."

WHEAT HAS MADE LITTLE GROWTH

Report Shows Bulk of Crop Extremely Late—Car Situation Improving.

Condition of winter wheat in Nebraska varies greatly and is generally reported unfavorable, according to the semi-monthly crop report issued Monday by the state and federal crop reporting service. Considerable winter wheat was sown after the November rains, the report says. Improvement is the available car situation is seen, however.

The full text of the report is as follows:

Most of the corn crop has been cribbed. The acreage of corn is slightly under the preliminary estimate, while the yield is slightly higher. As a result, the final estimate of production will not differ much from the preliminary estimate.

In general, the bulk of the winter wheat crop is extremely late and has made but little growth. Some of it has not come up. Considerable of the wheat was sown after the November rains in the southwest quarter of the state. A few cases of reseeding were reported. The most promising wheat will be found in early plowed fields in extreme eastern counties, and even here, some of the reporters rank the condition with the most unfavorable seasons.

The car situation is improving, although some of the lines still are short of cars. Local feeders demand for corn is taking care of much of the surplus and possibly about two-thirds of the wheat crop has moved. The price of wheat is not satisfactory and the poor prospects of the present crop may check movement somewhat.

Prices of corn and hay have advanced considerably. Yields of hay are slightly lower than last year and in some counties, the alfalfa crop was very light. Good feeder demand for corn and hay is partly responsible for the higher price. The first report on feeder cattle and sheep will soon be made. The department already has tabulated most of the movements for live stock by stations for the past three years and soon will be ready to render a real service in live stock reporting, the summary concludes.

DOORN, Dec. 4.—The hand of Princess Hermine continues to be felt in the activities of Doorn Castle and its chief occupant. The former emperor, at the insistence of his wife, is beginning to abandon his cloistered existence and to walk abroad among the villagers.

The townsfolk showed keen curiosity the first time Wilhelm was seen strolling through the streets accompanied by his dog.

The disarmament conference called in an endeavor to bring permanent peace to central and western Europe was formally opened Saturday with delegates present from the western and border states of Russia excepting Rumania which was represented by Poland.

Shoes That Fit Don't Deform

Breathes there the woman who hasn't yearned to secure a true fit in fashionable shoes? When spindle heels and pointed toes were in fashion, that was, of course, impossible. Nature didn't make feet and time couldn't deform feet sufficiently to fit perfectly into shoes so fashioned. But now—in the Cantilever Shoe, women can secure fashionable footwear that fits.

It fits, because designed not to deform but to fit. The natural sole-line, the rounded toes and the stylishly low heel, all help. And the Cantilever arch, flexible like your own is the final need. That arch draws up, when you lace, to give each arch of yours exactly the degree of support needed. That flexible arch also bends willingly with every step you take, giving you a freedom of action that holds off fatigue, and allows that strengthening exercise of muscles which corrects and prevents weak arches.

When you slip your feet into Cantilever Shoes, you secure your fit. What that will mean to you in the way of improved circulation, higher color and better spirits you don't need to be told. Let us show you a pair on your feet.

Bryan Ordinance Would Make Thoroughfare From Capitol to Campus.

New Traffic Regulations Not Ready Monday—Coal Yard Report Filed.

An ordinance providing for the widening of Fourteenth street from R to K streets into one wide main thoroughfare of seventy foot paving was being prepared Monday noon for introduction by Commissioner Bryan at the regular council meeting Monday afternoon. Mr. Bryan had mentioned the proposal a week previous informally but the commission had not taken the matter seriously until it was understood that an ordinance was being prepared and that attempts are now being made to secure signatures of property owners favoring the improvements.

Roug estimates by the city engineer, George Bates, show that this widening would cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The present condition of Fourteenth street is said to be unsatisfactory, with a number of different widths in the seven blocks effected by the new plan. A seventy foot street from the corner of the new capitol to the corner of the University campus, would mean a broad sweep of street between the two big institutions without street car tracks except north of O street.

Complaints have been made that Fourteenth street between K and L is often impassable for two cars because of the parking at the churches there. When the capitol is completed, it is understood the state will cut down the terrace and lower the sidewalks to grade and at that time the wider street might be continued at least two blocks further south.

Fourteenth street, being a county line, it is Mr. Bryan's belief that in time it may become the city's principal through street and the widening project, it is thought, will lay the foundation for making Fourteenth one of the city's widest, most useful thoroughfares.

The traffic ordinance, long in preparation, was still in an unfinished state Monday and so was not ready for presentation for final consideration. Mayor Zehrung is urging its early completion but is giving careful consideration to the countless suggestions for changes and improvements he receives. Before it is offered for final passage it will be given to the individual commissioners for careful study.

The November report of the municipal coal yard explains that it has been possible to reduce the selling price of the city's coal and then shows the figures for the month just past. The city sold 1,147 tons and allowed for a shrinkage of 10 tons. It received a total of $12,544.63 and paid out a total of $9,329.07, leaving a net balance on December 1 of $3,521.59. This does not indicate that much profit, however, since not all the coal purchased by the city was paid for on the date of the report.

A petition for the creation of a paving district on N street, between Sixteenth and Nineteenth streets, was filed. Merrick and DeLay have asked for permission to install a filling station at the corner of Twenty-seventh and Starr streets. A second petition for a paving district was filed by residents living along along Twenty-second street between O and R streets.

Ordinances ready for third reading and passage included: water district 44; paving district 520 and paving district 499, establishing grades and plat lots 6 to 15 replat of Prospect place; and vacation of alley in Block 8. Sheridan Place addition.

Estate Waiting For Long Lost Brothers Believed to Be Here

If John or William Hartsook can be found a small estate is waiting for them at Tampeco, Ill., according to a letter received by Chief of Police Peter Johnstone from A. E. Bennett, administrator of the estate.

Mr. Bennett writes that the lost men's brother, Jacob Hartsook, died at Tampico, leaving a small estate, but that no relatives have been found. The estate will be turned over to them if the brothers or a sister of the deceased can be found, it was stated.

A letter written from Lincoln by John Hartsook to his brother Jacob led the administrator to believe that possibly the writer might have settled here. John Hartsook was described as being about 65 years old now, and when the letter was written was unmarried.

Health Department Takes Precautions Against Small Pox

The city health department is taking precautionary measures to guard against an outbreak of small pox of a malignant form, which is now reported as epidemic in Denver. Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman, city health superintendent, states that the germs may have been brought to Lincoln by travelers or by attendants at the Notre Dame game last Thursday. He wrote Surgeon-General Cummings last week that points direct railroad communication with Denver should be protected, and a federal health officer has been placed on duty there Dr. Chapman believes that any danger of cases breaking out here will have passed inside of two weeks.

BIG SHORTAGE IN POSTAL DIVISION, BUDGET REVEALS

The total ordinary receipts for the fiscal year 1924, excluding postal revenues, was estimated at $3,361,812,359, which is $74,291,791 less than the actual receipts for 1922 and $68,050,600 less than the estimated receipts for 1923. The post-office department incurred large deficits in 1921, and 1922, but is expected during the coming fiscal year, President Harding said, to yield a surplus of more than $950,000.

Surplus In Sight.

"That we approach the commencement of the fiscal year 1921 with an estimated surplus for that year of $180,969,125 is certainly most encouraging," he continued. "While I am hopeful that there would be no deficit in the current fiscal year, 1923, if such deficit does occur, this surplus for 1924 will give a margin to take care of it.

The estimated appropriations for next year provide $103,070,886 for general administrative operations of the government; $1,256,715,939 for military functions, including pensions, world war allowances and the national defense; $953,599,096 for civil functions, which includes law enforcement, operation of the merchant marine, etc.; and $1,355,720,602 for non-functions, such as payment of interest on the public debt and other fixed charges.

The amounts recommended for the national defense are designed to provide for an army of 12,000 officers and 125,000 enlisted men, the force now authorized by congress, and a navy of 86,000 men.

Satisfied With Slashes.

President Harding declared the retrenchment policy of the government since the signing of the armistice had resulted in a most satisfactory reduction in the expenditure of public money and then put the question:

"Can there be a reasonable expectation for further considerable reduction in government expenditure in the near future?"

"This question is no doubt upon the lips of many,' he added. "The burden of taxation caused by the world war has borne heavily upon us all, and it has been the earnest desire of the government to cut this burden to the minimum consistent with a proper functioning of the federal services. We have seen, however, that approximately two-thirds of the taxes collected go to pay certain fixed charges over the expenditure of which there can be exercised little or no administrative control. The interest on the public debt, the chief of the fixed charges, must be paid. This will be $950,000,000 for the fiscal year 1924, constituting nearly one-third of the total expenditure of the government. Among these are also certain permanent and indefinite appropriations sanctioned by law and public opinion."

CONFIRMATION OF BUTLER GOES OVER

joined by Senator Norris in demanding that the persons making the statement be given a hearing. Under these circumstances the leaders decided to attempt no action today.

Alleges Rail Connections.

The statement related to Mr. Butler's alleged connection with railroads and other corporations and also with political leaders in his home city.

The senate confirmed about 1,700 other appointments, including 1,500 army officers. Among the latter were seven majors and eleven brigadier generals and about 600 officers of lower grades who would have been dropped from the army if the senate had not acted on their names before the adjournment of the special session. Most of these were demotions.

Among the nominations confirmed was that of Miss Lucile Atcherson of Columbus, O., to be secretary of legation. She is the first woman ever appointed to the diplomatic corps.

The senate also confirmed the nomination of Augustus T. Seymour of Columbus, O., to be assistant to the attorney general, vice Guy D. Goff, resigned.

Coal Commission Fails.

The federal coal commission also failed of confirmation and must be renominated. There was said to be no serious objections to its members, but that more time was desired for consideration. Other nominations which failed of confirmation included Alexander Lindsay to be associate justice of the Hawaiian supreme court.

AMMUNITION ON LUSITANIA

Big Liner Did Not Carry Guns Troops Nor Explosives When Torpedoed.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The Cunard liner Lusitania, sunk by a German submarine in 1915 off the Irish coast carried neither guns, trops nor explosives, but did carry 5,000 cases of ammunition, the official report of the vessel's cargo made public by Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port at the time, shows, according to a copyrighted story in the New York World

The cases of ammunition, the report stated were carried by specific permission under rulings of the department of commerce in force since 1911.

The Malone report, the newspaper says, was made to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. It was dated June 4, 1915, and was called for after the German reply of May 28 to President Wilson's first Lusitania note of May 13 had set up the contention the Lusitania had been armed and that her rapid sinking was due, not to torpedo, but to the explosion of ammunition. It was this report to which President Wilson in his second note of June 9 referred, when he said:

"Fortunately there are matters concerning which the government of the United States is in position to give the imperial German government official information."

Mr. Malone said he had determined to give out the text of the report because of still insistent appeals to him for information regarding its contents.

"These appeals," he explained, "come not only from the United States but also from abroad: for instance from such organizations as the central committee for establishing the causes of the war.

"When Senator Lafollette's attitude toward the war was under investigation, the treasury department was called on for the original of this report. I replied that it had been turned over to the state department. The state department held that the report had become a state paper and therefore secret.

OMAHA BANK IS CLOSED BY HART

The present failure involves a greater amount of deposits—$1,200,000 or more—than any other for which the guaranty fund has ever become liable. The fund now has a balance of $1,300,000 on hand, and it will require a special assessment of $900,000 the first of the year, together with the regular assessment of $118,000 due at that time, to bring it back to the legal requirement of 1 per cent. Further special assessments will be necessary later in 1923 to take care of the Omaha bank's depositors and those in other failed institutions for which no drafts have yet been made.

Assistant Attorney General J. B. Chase, who was at Omaha last week helping Attorney General Davis in the American State bank matter, says that plans had been considered to get some new capital into the bank or have someone buy it, but none of these negotiations were successful. It was reported that efforts had been made to interest Frank Sloan of Geneva, but Mr. Chase said he knew nothing of this.

Known Among Bankers.

The precarious condition of the Omaha bank has been known to bankers in Lincoln and other Nebraska cities for several months. Predictions of its failure were heard as long ago as last September, notwithstanding that its last regular statement filed with the state banking bureau, under date of September 30, showing excellent conditions on paper, with $1,328,000 of deposits, $852,000 of loans, and a cash reserve of $430,000, or about 30 per cent.

M. F. Shafer, the former president, and W. E. Shafer, former vice president, are under indictment at Omaha, the former for illegally lending funds of the bank to himself and both of them for embezzling funds which belonged to the American Bank Building Co. A considerable part of the bank's bad paper is due to deals made during the Shafer regime, said Mr. Chase. M. F. Shafer is now in a sanitarium, and his trial has been delayed partly on that account.

The institution was originally incorporated November 7, 1914, as the German-American State bank of Omaha, with $200,000 capital. Frank R. Baker of Cleveland, O., had $50,000 of its stock, Fred R. Baker of Omaha $50,000. B. F. Goerke of Burr, Neb., $20,000, and E. C. Goerke of Omaha $13,600.

Sold, but Later Re-established.

When the bank was only a year old, it sold its charter, stock and assets to the City National bank of Omaha and went out of business. There remained, however, a reserve of $8,000 for the state guaranty fund did not belong to the bank and could not be transferred by it. On July 19, 1916, M. F. and W. E. Shafer, L. M. Swindler, J. F. Hecox, A. L. Steinert and others, with Arthur F. Mullen as their attorney, appeared before the state banking board and showed that they had purchased the charter and stock of the state bank from the City National. They asked and obtained permission to reopen for business under the old charter, which carried with it the $8,000 guaranty fund reserve held by state authorities. The name was changed by dropping the word "German."

The bank operated under this new ownership for nearly four years, with the two Shafers as president and Swindler as cashier. In the early part of 1920 it was sold to the present owners. Five men at present own a majority of the stock. They are:

D. W. Geiselman, Omaha, president $68,700; D. C. Geiselman, Omaha, cashier, $20,500; C. Theo Krogh Omaha, $5,000; P. A. DeOgny, Milford, $5,000; E. M. Kern, Stanton, $5,000.

The vice president, C. V. Nelson of Omaha, is not a stockholder. H. M. Krogh of Omaha, assistant cashier, owns $200. Among other stockholders are: M. A. Hostetler Shelton, former member of the legislature, $500; John C. Griffin Columbus, $400.

CAPITALISTS MAY UNLOAD RAILROADS

Howell Sees Danger in Government Acquiring All Lines.

Says One Big System is Enough to Take Over as Starter.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 4. —R. B. Howell of Omaha, republican senator-elect Sunday made public a statement declaring the United States is in danger of public ownership of railroads 'on a wholesale scale through action of the railway capitalist" to which Mr. Howell is opposed.

If the government ever goes into the railroad business it should begin with one railroad line as an experiment, instead of taking over all the roads at one time, he declared.

"It would be a fatal mistake," said Mr. Howell's statement, "for the government to take over, bodily, the railroad systems of this country. We are not prepared for it. No man living would see the end of the readjustment period, and before that time, the public would be in revolt.

"Unfortunately the present situation threatens public ownership of the railroads on a wholesale scale. Not that it will come through the people—not that it will come through the labor unions. The real danger is the railway capitalist. When he concludes that he can no longer largely control railway legislation—when the game begins to go against him—the railroad capitalist is liable to throw weight in the scales for public ownership. . . . Whenever it will pay him better to have government bonds than his railway securities, no sentiment will prevent him from embracing public ownership and urging it with all his power and influence. . . . If the United States government is going into the railroad business, it should start at the bottom and not the top. Let's start with one great railway line and not with all the properties in this country."

"An experience with one great line might open the eyes of the people, might thoroughly clarify the situation. Of course this would not be what the railroad campitalist would want; at least, if I were a railroad capitalist I should want the government to take over all roads, if they took over any. But that would be the natural game of the railroad capitalist. It would be best for him but not for the people."

Much Merchandise Is Stolen From a Store at Reynolds

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., Dec. 4.—McCurdy Brothers' general merchandise store at Reynolds, Neb., was robbed some time Friday night of from $700 to $800 worth of merchandise, consisting of shoes, sweaters, silks and other goods. BANDITS IMPRISON THREE IN CLOSET

Carry Away Thousands of Dollars Worth of Loot in Omaha.

OMAHA, Dec. 4.—Three masked men who lay in wait in J. P. Cohn's apartment in the Frederick, 4824 Chicago street, with persuasive revolvers and gentle words forced Cohn, his wife and Mrs. A. Kuhn, of Chicago, a guest, into a clothes closet on their return from a theater at 1 a. m., Sunday ransacked the quarters of fine clothing, silver and jewelry worth moren than $8,000 and fled in a Ford touring car, according to Cohn's account to police who investigated.

Before entering the Cohn apartment the burglars cut every telephone wire leading into the building and Cohn after breaking the lock on the closet door lost several minutes in an effort to call police headquarters.

Cohn said that with his wife and Mrs. Kuhn he entered the apartment to find three large men, apparently young, sprawled on the floor of the living room, evidently patiently awaiting their return. They had entered by jimmying the transom of a rear door.

As Cohn closed the outer door the thieves deliberately rose, stretched, pulled revolvers from their pockets and leveled them at their victims,

"Into the closet there, please," said one in a soft drawl.

"Take all you want, but please don't get rough, my wife has a weak heart," Cohn said he told the spokesman.

Cohn and the two women obeyed. One of the trio locked the door. Then they swiftly looted the place, taking among other things a sealskin coat, all the family silver, a diamond pin and a pearl ring purchased a few days ago by Mrs. Kuhn for $2,500.

As soon as he heard the door slam, Cohn said he smashed the lock on the closet door and raced for the telephone. It was dead. So were the instruments in all the other apartments. He ran to a neighboring house and called police.

SHOWDOWN SOON IN TIERNAN HUNT

Ex-Professor is Still Missing and Chicago Sherlocks Continue Search.

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Call for Sherlock Holmes!

John P. Tiernan, the interstate husband, erroneously reported on Saturday as confined to the psychopathic ward, still is missing. He disappeared Friday night at half past nine and has not been seen since.

Today, however, deputy sheriffs were continuing their dizzy search, bent on serving a writ issued by Frank S. Righeimer, which would commit the professor to the hospital for examination.

The mystery of the professor's disappearance grows deeper hourly. The authorities are absolutely without a clew. A Chicago newspaper has come out with a startling story that one local newspaper is keeping John and his now-and-then wife "Gussie" in seclusion while a rival newspaper is holding Blanche, the preacher's daughter and wife No. 2. Both papers, it seems, have half a scoop.

Be that as it may the showdown is coming—and mighty soon. The professor's brother, Peter Tiernan, assistant corporation counsel of New York City, is enroute to Chicago to find out what it's all about. He is quoted as saying he and two brothers of the South Bend, Ind., pedagogue are ready to offer the professor any assistance financially in any litigation that may develop as a result of the acton of Tiernan's retermined sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Pulaski, in obtaining the order for the professor's sanity test.

But the main thing now is—find the professor.

It is intimated by those on "the inside" that the professor is in no need of a sanity test—that he is "crazy like a fox." You can imagine how he hates all this publicity, especially so in the view of the fact that he proposes to make an extensive lecture tour at which the admission will be so much per head.

The next meeting, January 7, was designated home coming day for musicians. Local officers will be installed and an address given by Mr. Weaver, an executive committeemen of the national organization, from Des Moines.

Tiger Not Ardent Advocate of League Prefers an Alliance

ENROUTE WITH CLEMENCEAU TO BALTIMORE, Dec. 4.—Georges Clemenceau sought Sunday to clarify his position on the League of nations as he sped east to Baltimore from St. Louis where Saturday he delivered the fifth of his addresses in an effort to arouse sentiment for the return of the United States to participation in Europa affairs.

Concerned because some newspapers he saw interpreted his St. Louis address as a plea to America to enter the League of nations, he declared he had not intended to advocate such a step.

It is well known at least in France, he told correspondents, that he was not an advocate of the League and he said he would not urge the United States to enter it.

He indicated that what he really would prefer was an agreement of the United States and Great Britain to guarantee France against aggression.

ENGLAND HAS A "YELLOW ALLY"

Speaker at Chicago Warns Against Being Unprepared in Event of War.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Standing on the historic site of old Fort Dearborn Brig. Gen. G. V. H. Moseley, commander of the Sixth Crop area, drew a dramatic lesson from the massacre by Indians of its garrison during the war of 1812, while speaking Sunday at the dedication of the new building of the London Guarantee and Accident Co.

Declaring that the "yellow race" which captured and wiped out the little garrison of the fort, was "in league with our enemy of that day, but our worthy and noble ally of today," he said that the general defense of the country must rest not on fortifications, but on men and steel.

"Commercial rivalry and political and diplomatic intrigue of which there is still much in the world today," he said, "may again involve us in war and if this should be with the same enemy of Fort Dearborn days has that nation still a yellow ally whom it could call to its assistance?

"Yes, it has such a yellow ally in the Pacific. It is ture that this yellow race is not at this exact moment recorded before the world as his ally, but, it is my firm opinion, it is an ally just the same, for the treaty between the two, although not active today, is only dormant. Let us then prepare our manpower lest our columns, marching east to meet any enemy whomsoever, on the Atlantic seaboard, meet a foe from the west."

The cornerstone of the building which will be twenty-one stories in height was laid by W. R. Wood of Omaha, Neb., a great grandson of Captain John Whistler who built Fort Dearborn.

COUNCIL ASKED TO WIDEN 14TH

New Traffic Regulations Not Ready Monday—Coal Yard Report Filed.

An ordinance providing for the widening of Fourteenth street from R to K streets into one wide main thoroughfare of seventy foot paving was being prepared Monday noon for introduction by Commissioner Bryan at the regular council meeting Monday afternoon. Mr. Bryan had mentioned the proposal a week previous informally but the commission had not taken the matter seriously until it was understood that an ordinance was being prepared and that attempts are now being made to secure signatures of property owners favoring the improvements.

Roug estimates by the city engineer, George Bates, show that this widening would cost in the neighborhood of $25,000. The present condition of Fourteenth street is said to be unsatisfactory, with a number of different widths in the seven blocks effected by the new plan. A seventy foot street from the corner of the new capitol to the corner of the University campus, would mean a broad sweep of street between the two big institutions without street car tracks except north of O street.

Complaints have been made that Fourteenth street between K and L is often impassable for two cars because of the parking at the churches there. When the capitol is completed, it is understood the state will cut down the terrace and lower the sidewalks to grade and at that time the wider street might be continued at least two blocks further south.

Fourteenth street, being a county line, it is Mr. Bryan's belief that in time it may become the city's principal through street and the widening project, it is thought, will lay the foundation for making Fourteenth one of the city's widest, most useful thoroughfares.

The traffic ordinance, long in preparation, was still in an unfinished state Monday and so was not ready for presentation for final consideration. Mayor Zehrung is urging its early completion but is giving careful consideration to the countless suggestions for changes and improvements he receives. Before it is offered for final passage it will be given to the individual commissioners for careful study.

The November report of the municipal coal yard explains that it has been possible to reduce the selling price of the city's coal and then shows the figures for the month just past. The city sold 1,147 tons and allowed for a shrinkage of 10 tons. It received a total of $12,544.63 and paid out a total of $9,329.07, leaving a net balance on December 1 of $3,521.59. This does not indicate that much profit, however, since not all the coal purchased by the city was paid for on the date of the report.

A petition for the creation of a paving district on N street, between Sixteenth and Nineteenth streets, was filed. Merrick and DeLay have asked for permission to install a filling station at the corner of Twenty-seventh and Starr streets. A second petition for a paving district was filed by residents living along along Twenty-second street between O and R streets.

Ordinances ready for third reading and passage included: water district 44; paving district 520 and paving district 499, establishing grades and plat lots 6 to 15 replat of Prospect place; and vacation of alley in Block 8, Sheridan Place addition.

Estate Waiting For Long Lost Brothers Believed to Be Here

If John or William Hartsook can be found a small estate is waiting for them at Tampeco, Ill., according to a letter received by Chief of Police Peter Johnstone from A. E. Bennett, administrator of the estate.

Mr. Bennett writes that the lost men's brother, Jacob Hartsook, died at Tampico, leaving a small estate, but that no relatives have been found. The estate will be turned over to them if the brothers or a sister of the deceased can be found, it was stated.

A letter written from Lincoln by John Hartsook to his brother Jacob led the administrator to believe that possibly the writer might have settled here. John Hartsook was described as being about 65 years old now, and when the letter was written was unmarried.

Health Department Takes Precautions Against Small Pox

The city health department is taking precautionary measures to guard against an outbreak of small pox of a malignant form, which is now reported as epidemic in Denver. Dr. Chauncey F. Chapman, city health superintendent, states that the germs may have been brought to Lincoln by travelers or by attendants at the Notre Dame game last Thursday. He wrote Surgeon-General Cummings last week that points direct railroad communication with Denver should be protected, and a federal health officer has been placed on duty there. Dr. Chapman believes that any danger of cases breaking out here will have passed inside of two weeks.

BIG SHORTAGE IN POSTAL DIVISION, BUDGET REVEALS

The total ordinary receipts for the fiscal year 1924, excluding postal revenues, was estimated at $3,361,812,359, which is $74,291,791 less than the actual receipts for 1922 and $68,050,600 less than the estimated receipts for 1923. The post-office department incurred large deficits in 1921, and 1922, but is expected during the coming fiscal year, President Harding said, to yield a surplus of more than $950,000.

Surplus In Sight.

"That we approach the commencement of the fiscal year 1924 with an estimated surplus for that year of $180,969,125 is certainly most encouraging," he continued. 'While I am hopeful that there would be no deficit in the current fiscal year, 1923, if such deficit does occur, this surplus for 1924 will give a margin to take care of it.

The estimated appropriations for next year provide $103,070,886 for general administrative operations of the government; $1,256,715,939 for military functions, including pensons, world war allowances and the national defense; $953,599,096 for civil functions, which includes law enforcement, operation of the merchant marine, etc.; and $1,355,720, 602 for non-functions, such as payment of interest on the public debt and other fixed charges.

The amounts recommended for the national defense are designed to provide for an army of 12,000 officers and 125,000 enlisted men, the force now authorized by congress, and a navy of 86,000 men.

Satisfied With Slashes.

President Harding declared the retrenchment policy of the government since the signing of the armistice had resulted in a most satisfactory reduction in the expenditure of public money and then put the question:

"Can there be a reasonable expectation for further considerable reduction in government expenditure in the near future?"

"This question is no doubt upon the lips of many,' he added. "The burden of taxation caused by the world war has borne heavily upon us all, and it has been the earnest desire of the government to cut this burden to the minimum consistent with a proper functioning of the federal services. We have seen, however, that approximately two-thirds of the taxes collected go to pay certain fixed charges over the expenditure of which there can be exercised little or no administrative control. The interest on the public debt, the chief of the fixed charges, must be paid. This will be $950,000,000 for the fiscal year 1924, constituting nearly one-third of the total expenditure of the government. Among these are also certain permanent and indefinite appropriations sanctioned by law and public opinion."

CONFIRMATION OF BUTLER GOES OVER

joined by Senator Norris in demanding that the persons making the statement be given a hearing. Under these circumstances the leaders decided to attempt no action today.

Alleges Rail Connections.

The statement related to Mr. Butler's alleged connection with railroads and other corporations and also with political leaders in his home city.

The senate confirmed about 1,700 other appointments, including 1,500 army officers. Among the latter were seven majors and eleven brigadier generals and about 600 officers of lower grades who would have been dropped from the army if the senate had not acted on their names before the adjournment of the special session. Most of these were demotions.

Among the nominations confirmed was that of Miss Lucile Atcherson of Columbus, O., to be secretary of legation. She is the first woman ever appointed to the diplomatic corps.

The senate also confirmed the nomination of Augustus T. Seymour of Columbus, O., to be assistant to the attorney general, vice Guy D. Goff, resigned.

Coal Commission Fails.

The federal coal commission also failed of confirmation and must be renominated. There was said to be no serious objections to its members, but that more time was desired for consideration. Other nominations which failed of cinfirmation included Alexander Lindsay to be associate justice of the Hawaiian supreme court.

AMMUNITION ON LUSITANIA

Big Liner Did Not Carry Guns Troops Nor Explosives When Torpedoed.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The Cunard liner Lusitania, sunk by a German submarine in 1915 off the Irish coast carried neither guns, trops nor explosives, but did carry 5,000 cases of ammunition, the official report of the vessel's cargo made public by Dudley Field Malone, collector of the port at the time, shows, according to a copyrighted story in the New York World.

The cases of ammunition, the report stated were carried by specific permission under rulings of the department of commerce in force since 1911.

The Malone report, the newspaper says, was made to Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. It was dated June 4, 1915, and was called for after the German reply of May 28 to President Wilson's first Lusitania note of May 13 had set up the contention the Lusitania had been armed and that her rapid sinking was due, not to torpedo, but to the explosion of ammunition. It was this report to which President Wilson in his second note of June 9 referred, when he said:

"Fortunately there are matters concerning which the government of the United States is in position to give the imperial German government official information."

Mr. Malone said he had determined to give out the text of the report because of still insistent appeals to him for information regarding its contents.

"These appeals," he explained, "come not only from the United States but also from abroad; for instance from such organizations as the central committee for establishing the causes of the war.

"When Senator Lafollette's attitude toward the war was under investigation, the treasury department was called on for the original of this report. I replied that it had been turned over to the state department. The state department held that the report had become a state paper and therefore secret.

OMAHA BANK IS CLOSED BY HART

The present failure involves a greater amount of deposits—$1,200,000 or more—than any other for which the guaranty fund has ever become liable. The fund now has a balance of $1,300,000 on hand, and it will require a special assessment of $900,000 the first of the year, together with the regular assessment of $118,000 due at that time, to bring it back to the legal requirement of 1 per cent. Further special assessments will be necessary later in 1923 to take care of the Omaha bank's depositors and those in other failed institutions for which no drafts have yet been made.

Assistant Attorney General J. B. Chase, who was at Omaha last week helping Attorney General Davis in the American State bank matter, says that plans had been considered to get some new capital into the bank or have someone buy it, but none of these negotiations were successful. It was reported that efforts had been made to interest Frank Sloan of Geneva, but Mr. Chase said he knew nothing of this.

Known Among Bankers.

The precarious condition of the Omaha bank has been known to bankers in Lincoln and other Nebraska cities for several months. Predictions of its failure were heard as long ago as last September, nothwithstanding that its last regular statement filed with the state banking bureau, under date of September 30, showing excellent conditions on paper, with $1,328,000 of deposits, $852,000 of loans, and a cash reserve of $430,000, or about 30 per cent.

M. F. Shafer, the former president, and W. E. Shafer, former vice president, are under indictment at Omaha, the former for illegally lending funds of the bank to himself and both of them for embezzling funds which belonged to the American Bank Building Co. A considerable part of the bank's bad paper is due to deals made during the Shafer regime, said Mr. Chase. M. F. Shafer is now in a sanitarium, and his trial has been delayed partly on that account.

The institution was originally incorporated November 7, 1914, as the German-American State bank of Omaha, with $200,000 capital. Frank R. Baker of Cleveland, O., had $50,000 of its stock, Fred R. Baker of Omaha $50,000, B. F. Goerke of Burr, Neb., $20,000, and E. C. Goerke of Omaha $13,600.

Sold, but Later Re-established.

When the bank was only a year old, it sold its charter, stock and assets to the City National bank of Omaha and went out of business. There remained, however, a reserve of $8,000 for the state guaranty fund did not belong to the bank and could not be transferred by it. On July 19, 1916, M. F. and W. E. Shafer, L. M. Swindler, J. F. Hecox, A. L. Steinert and others, with Arthur F. Mullen as their attorney, appeared before the state banking board and showed that they had purchased the charter and stock of the state bank from the City National. They asked and obtained permission to reopen for business under the old charter, which carried with it the $8,000 guaranty fund reserve held by state authorities. The name was changed by dropping the word "German."

The bank operated under this new ownership for nearly four years, with the two Shafers as president and Swindler as cashier. In the early part of 1920 it was sold to the present owners. Five men at present own a majority of the stock. They are:

D. W. Geiselman, Omaha, president $68,700; D. C. Geiselman, Omaha, cashier, $20,500; C. Theo Krogh Omaha, $5,000; P. A. DeOgny, Milford, $5,000; E. M. Kern, Stanton, $5,000.

The vice president, C. V. Nelson of Omaha, is not a stockholder. H. M. Krogh of Omaha, assistant cashier, owns $200. Among other stockholders are: M. A. Hostetler Shelton, former member of the legislature, $500; John C. Griffin Columbus, $400.

CAPITALISTS MAY UNLOAD RAILROADS

Howell Sees Danger in Government Acquiring All Lines.

Says One Big System is Enough to Take Over as Starter.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 4. —R. B. Howell of Omaha, republican senator-elect, Sunday made public a statement declaring the United States is in danger of public ownership of railroads 'on a wholesale scale through action of the railway capitalist" to which Mr. Howell is opposed.

If the government ever goes into the railroad business it should begin with one railroad line as an experiment, instead of taking over all the roads at one time, he declared.

"It would be a fatal mistake," said Mr. Howell's statement, "for the government to take over, bodily, the railroad systems of this country. We are not prepared for it. No man living would see the end of the readjustment period, and before that time, the public would be in revolt.

"Unfortunately the present situation threatens public ownership of the railroads on a wholesale scale. Not that it will come through the people—not that it will come through the labor unions. The real danger is the railway capitalist. When he concludes that he can no longer largely control railway legislation—when the game begins to go against him—the railroad capitalist is liable to throw weight in the scales for public ownership. . . . Whenever it will pay him better to have government bonds than his railway securities, no sentiment will prevent him from embracing public ownership and urging it with all his power and influence. . . . If the United States government is going into the railroad business, it should start at the bottom and not the top. Let's start with one great railway line and not with all the properties in this country."

"An experience with one great line might open the eyes of the people, might thoroughly clarify the situation. Of course this would not be what the railroad campitalist would want; at least, if I were a railroad capitalist I should want the government to take over all roads, if they took over any. But that would be the natural game of the railroad capitalist. It would be best for him but not for the people."

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., Dec. 4.—McCurdy Brothers' general merchandise store at Reynolds, Neb., was robbed some time Friday night of from $700 to $800 worth of merchandise, consisting of shoes, sweaters, silks and other goods. Entrance was forced through the back door and the goods laded in an automobile or truck, it is believed, from the fact that the tracks showed that the vehicle had been backed up to the door. The track was followed out in the road, where it was lost.

The sheriff was called but as yet no trace has been found of the goods or the thief. Reynolds is a village in the southwest part of Jefferson county on the Burlington railroad.

BANDITS IMPRISON THREE IN CLOSET

Carry Away Thousands of Dollars Worth of Loot in Omaha.

OMAHA, Dec. 4.—Three masked men who lay in wait in J. P. Cohn's apartment in the Frederick, 4824 Chicago street, with persuasive revolvers and gentle words forced Cohn, his wife and Mrs. A. Kuhn, of Chicago, a guest, into a clothes closet on their return from a theater at 1 a. m., Sunday ransacked the quarters of fine clothing, silver and jewelry worth moren than $8,000 and fled in a Ford touring car, according to Cohn's account to police who investigated.

Before entering the Cohn apartment the burglars cut every telephone wire leading into the building and Cohn after breaking the lock on the closet door lost several minutes in an effort to call police headquarters.

Cohn said that with his wife and Mrs. Kuhn he entered the apartment to find three large men, apparently young, sprawled on the floor of the living room, evidently patiently awaiting their return. They had entered by jimmying the transom of a rear door.

As Cohn closed the outer door the thieves deliberately rose, stretched, pulled revolvers from their pockets and leveled them at their victims.

"Into the closet there, please," said one in a soft drawl.

"Take all you want, but please don't get rough, my wife has a weak heart," Cohn said he told the spokesman.

Cohn and the two women obeyed. One of the trio locked the door. Then they swiftly looted the place, taking among other things a sealskin coat, all the family silver, a diamond pin and a pearl ring purchased a few days ago by Mrs. Kuhn for $2,500.

As soon as he heard the door slam, Cohn said he smashed the lock on the closet door and raced for the telephone. It was dead. So were the instruments in all the other apartments. He ran to a neighboring house and called police.

SHOWDOWN SOON IN TIERNAN HUNT

Ex-Professor is Still Missing and Chicago Sherlocks Continue Search.

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Call for Sherlock Holmes!

John P. Tiernan, the interstate husband, erroneously reported on Saturday as confined to the psychopathic ward, still is missing. He disappeared Friday night at half past nine and has not been seen since.

Today, however, deputy sheriffs were continuing their dizzy search, bent on serving a writ issued by Frank S. Righeimer, which would commit the professor to the hospital for examination.

The mystery of the professor's disappearance grows deeper hourly. The authorities are absolutely without a clew. A Chicago newspaper has come out with a startling story that one local newspaper is keeping John and his now-and-then wife "Gussie" in seclusion while a rival newspaper is holding Blanche, the preacher's daughter and wife No. 2. Both papers, it seems, have half a scoop.

Be that as it may the showdown is coming—and mighty soon. The professor's brother, Peter Tiernan, assistant corporation counsel of New York City, is enroute to Chicago to find out what it's all about. He is quoted as saying he and two brothers of the South Bend, Ind., pedagogue are ready to offer the professor any assistance financially in any litigation that may develop as a result of the acton of Tiernan's retermined sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Pulaski, in obtaining the order for the professor's sanity test.

But the main thing now is—find the professor.

It is intimated by those on "the inside" that the professor is in no need of a sanity test—that he is "crazy like a fox." You can imagine how he hates all this publicity, especially so in the view of the fact that he proposes to make an extensive lecture tour at which the admission will be so much per head.

Tiger Not Ardent Advocate of League Prefers an Alliance

ENROUTE WITH CLEMENCEAU TO BALTIMORE, Dec. 4.—Georges Clemenceau sought Sunday to clarify his position on the League of nations as he sped east to Baltimore from St. Louis where Saturday he delivered the fifth of his addresses in an effort to arouse sentiment for the return of the United States to participation in Europa affairs.

Concerned because some newspapers he saw interpreted his St. Louis address as a plea to America to enter the League of nations, he declared he had not intended to advocate such a step.

It is well known at least in France, he told correspondents, that he was not an advocate of the League and he said he would not urge the United States to enter it.

He indicated that what he really would prefer was an agreement of the United States and Great Britain to guarantee France against aggression.

Speaker at Chicago Warns Against Being Unprepared in Event of War.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—Standing on the historic site of old Fort Dearborn Brig. Gen. G. V. H. Moseley, commander of the Sixth Crop area, drew a dramatic lesson from the massacre by Indians of its garrison during the war of 1812, while speaking Sunday at the dedication of the new building of the London Guarantee and Accident Co.

Declaring that the "yellow race" which captured and wiped out the little garrison of the fort, was "in league with our enemy of that day, but our worthy and noble ally of today," he said that the general defense of the country must rest not on fortifications, but on men and steel.

"Commercial rivalry and political and diplomatic intrigue of which there is still much in the world today," he said, "may again involve us in war and if this should be with the same enemy of Fort Dearborn days has that nation still a yellow ally whom it could call to its assistance?

"Yes, it has such a yellow ally in the Pacific. It is ture that this yellow race is not at this exact moment recorded before the world as his ally, but, it is my firm opinion, it is an ally just the same, for the treaty between the two, although not active today, is only dormant. Let us then prepare our manpower lest our columns, marching east to meet any enemy whomsoever, on the Atlantic seaboard, meet a foe from the west."

The cornerstone of the building which will be twenty-one stories in height was laid by W. R. Wood of Omaha, Neb., a great grandson of Captain John Whistler who built Fort Dearborn.

Americans on Rhine Treat German "Kids"

COBLENZ, Dec. 4.—The American doughboys in the Rhineland are making up a purse of many millions of marks with which to give to German youngsters a real Christmas. The Rhineland post of Veterans of Foreign Wars, started the purse with 300,000 marks and every soldier in the American forces is giving at least the equivalent of one dollar which is more than 8,000 marks. Top sergeants are entrusted with the task of seeing that none of the soldiers forget to contribute. Relief work already has begun among the German poor.

THE GREATER LOVE

Kenneth Lang Makes Up His Mind to Get His Mother Away From Southold As Soon as He Can.

CHAPTER XXXV.

Kenneth Lang followed his physician's advice and "turned in." But he did not sleep early. Consequently he was wide awake when Dr. Smith drove into the Grant gate with his young companion.

Lang's room was at the side of the house, so he could not see the automobile standing at the foot of the front steps while the owner told Ruth good night. The invalid muttered impatiently to himself as the long minutes passed. Surely Smith had spent enough time with Ruth Grant to allow her to come into the house and get some sleep after her strenuous day at the church!

"Thank goodness!" the irate listener exclaimed when, at last, the engine began to purr. In imagination he saw the owner of the spruce little car bending toward Ruth for a final good night. Could it be that she cared for this dapper little doctor?

Surely she was too sensible a girl to lose her heart to such a man! Yet the physician had a good future ahead of him. He would step into Samuel Grant's shoes—would become the leading physician in Southold, would, perhaps, have his office in this very house—perhaps marry the daughter of his friend and colleague!

Lang ground his teeth. If it had been Mr. Hamilton, with his gentle manner, his kindly face, it would be a different matter.

Would it? The question almost asked itself. Would Kenneth Lang be any more pleased at the prospect of Ruth Grant's marrying the clergyman than the physician?

He was too honest to lie to himself. While he liked Hamilton better than Smith he knew that the idea of either man as the accepted lover of Dr. Grant's daughter was intolerable.

It was [illegible] Kenneth Lang loved her himself, loved her so much that all other women in the world including his mother and Victoria Walsh faded into insignificance.

He held his breath as he heard her light step pass his door then go on upstairs.

It was evident that she had already begun her occupancy of the little room on the third floor. Her own room had been made ready for tomorrow's guest. She would not run the risk of disturbing its orderly condition by sleeping there tonight.

She was doing all this for his mother—a woman whom she had never met—a woman who was bound to dislike her.

While Lang could not conceive of anyone's not liking Ruth, his mother's [illegible] he lose his heart to a country girl was enough to prejudice her against the object of his affection.

He would be several hours alone with Ruth tomorrow. With a childish fear that the weather might interfere with the proposed drive he got out of bed and looked out of the window.

Not a cloud in the moonlit sky. There was no sign of rain for several days to come. In spite of the intense heat the storm predicted this afternoon by Dr. Grant must be a long way off.

"But it's still as hot!" Lang sighed as he lay down again. "If it is sultry and close here what must it be in that little room on the third floor!"

He would try to tell Ruth tomorrow how much he appreciated the sacrifice she was making for his mother's comfort. He was stabbed by a certainty that the sacrifice was in vain—that his mother would not be content in the room that Ruth had resigned to her.

"If only she were not coming!" Kenneth mused. "She is spoiling everything. But she shall not stay! I will get her away day after tomorrow if possible. It will be hard to leave Ruth—but easier than to remain to hear her criticised.

"And, before I go I shall, please heaven, have Ruth's consent to come back soon. Perhaps I may even have a talk with Dr. Grant that will give me the right to return often to dear little old Southold. Strange how fond I have grown of this little town. Yet it used to seem a regular dump to me!"

Then he smiled in self-ridicule. He was telling himself that he was fond of Southold when all he knew of it was this one home! He had been here for weeks but had never set foot on the street since that first day when he had had the happy accident that had landed him in a heap at the foot of the library steps.

"The railroad station, the [illegible], the library and this house are the only spots in town I have ever entered," he mused. "Yet I am thinking of it as a fine little burg. If any other man were as much in love as I am, I suppose I would consider him an idiot. But"—with a smile from which the selfridicule was gone, "being in love with Ruth is different from being in love with any other woman in the world."

Russ Demand Closing of the Straits to All Warships Save Turkish.

(Associated Press.)

LAUSANNE, Dec. 4—The closing of the Dardanelles to all warships except those of Turkey and giving Turkey the right to fortify the straits were advocated by Foreign Minister Tchitcherin of Russia at today's meeting of the conference called to discuss the straits.

Ismet Pasha, leading Turkish delegate, asked for absolute Turkish control of the straits without demilitarization.

The preliminary exposition of the question by the representatives of the great powers had not been completed when the meeting was adjourned.

Tchitcherin insisted that Turkish sovereignty could be guaranteed only by the presence of Turkish warships in the straits while the warships of other powers should be prohibited from entering them. He contended also that Turkey should have authority to fortify the straits as a means of safeguarding her independence and particularly for the protection of her capital Constantinople.

His speech caused such a commotion in the ranks of the allies that Lord Curzon arose and remarked ironically that the conference intended to observe the Russians who came to Lausanne representing three countries and were now acting as the mouthpiece for a fourth, namely Turkey. In this he referred to Russia as representing Georgia and the Ukraine as well as Russia herself.

17 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Christmas Suggestions

For the Giving Time---Happiest Month of the Year

Did you ever stop to think that it was not the receiving of gifts that makes us so happy on Christmas Day.

The REAL Joy comes from GIVING—

To see the faces of the little folks brighten. To see the look of surprise and appreciation on the face of the friend to whom the present is given—

THAT is what makes us all so eager to buy gifts and to be sure that the RIGHT gift for each is selected: so that there will be no disappointment to cloud the face of the recipient.

And that is what makes it so helpful to Buy Christmas Gifts Early!

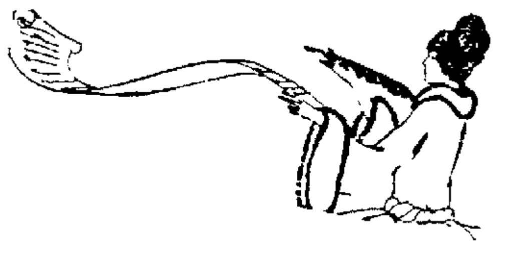
While our assortments are so complete—while everything is so new and fresh—while our salespeople have so much more time to give best service. Before the crowds make it less easy to see things and make decisions—and before the late days of rush and hurry make it almost impossible to find the RIGHT GIFT even in this bright roomy store.

Everything here is at its fullest and best right now. COME AND SEE. Only a few of the many thousands of suggestions can be mentioned here.

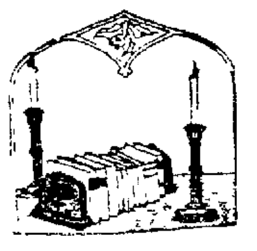
One of the most popular and the busiest person in the store is your personal shopper—Vera Mills who'll shop with you or for you for Christmas Gifts.



Each name added to your Christmas Gift List makes it longer—each day that slips by makes the time until Christmas shorter. Start that gift list today! Get your gift lists filled at Rudge & Guenzel's, the Christmas Store of Lincoln at once!

SHOP EARLY

Shop early, before it's too late. It's never too early to start — but it may be too late to purchase all the necessary Christmas items. Remember—not quite three full shopping weeks until Christmas. Make Rudge & Guenzel's your Christmas store this Christmas.



Father, as head of the family should probably come first on your list. He's the hardest one, too—but we know that he would appreciate a pair of book racks, a pair of those masculine ones, you know, with statuettes of strength. Art Dept., Floor 3.

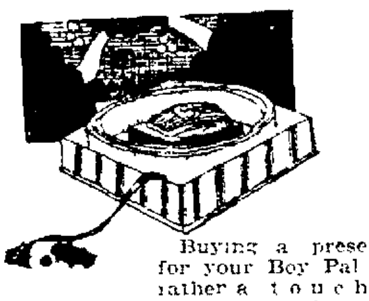
And Mother—she will not "want a thing," of course, but just get her an Eppo Petticoat with the side opening, and watch her eyes sparkle and just notice the way she "feels" the quality of the silk. Floor Two.

Do you remember last Christmas how Cousin Ella's eyes danced when she found a pretty hair ornament on the tree for her? We know, then, that she likes hair ornaments. This year give her a pretty silver wreath for her hair. They're beauties! Street Floor

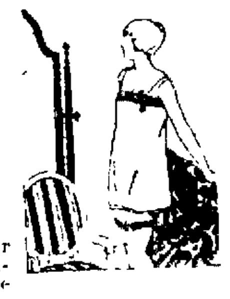
Aunt Flo even if she is 35 years old has the prettiest ankles and doesn't lose an opportunity to display them when she has good looking silk hose for an excuse. A pair of Rudge & Guenzel pure silk Gotham Gold Stripe Hose is the only thing for her Christmas present.

Aunt Stella is exactly opposite from Aunt Flo—not that her ankles are not pretty—but she is so modest! Handkerchiefs are really about the only thing you could give her. A half dozen pure linen ones from Rudge & Guenzel assortments will make a lovely present for her.

"This pocketbook's about worn out. Wish someone would give me a new one." Quite unknowingly — your best girl chum has given you the "Cue" as to what she wants for Christmas. A large assortment of bags is ready in our centre aisle. Come in—you will find one that will suit your roommate to a "T."



Buying a present for your Boy Pal is rather a touchy proposition. But you may be sure that he would like mighty well to have a new belt buckle and a new belt. Real leather belts with sterling silver buckles are on display here in our store for men.



Big Sister is the member of the family who requires something a little bit more fussy. Perhaps a pair of radium silk Teddies is exactly what she wants—and she surely needs them, for one can't have too many pretty silk undergarments. Floor Two.

A big, blue eyed Doll with blonde curly hair will cause little sister to jump up and down, giving emphatic squeals of delight. And if the Doll says "Mama," which a lot of them do—there'll be lots of fun early Christmas morning.

Toyland on Floor Three.

Big Brother goes to college and will be home at Christmas time. He'll breeze in—sling his books on the table for Mother to pick up. Get him a Brief case this Christmas. He'll have some place to keep his things, then, and he won't throw a brief case around, either. He'll be too proud of it. Centre Aisle.

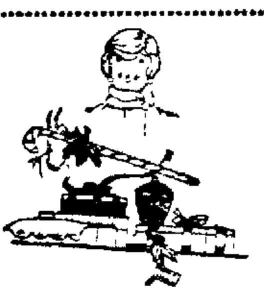
We wonder what little Baby Sister will think of Christmas?

What a time she will have when brightly colored blocks roll out of her package from Rudge & Guenzel's Big Toy land.

There is many a young miss on Christmas Gift lists who will be delighted with our becoming wool scarfs sets. Street Floor and Millinery Dept.

Cousin Billy needs a pair of new gloves for Christmas. Get them from Rudge & Guenzel Co. Boys' Corner.

"They lived happily ever after" and one of the things that made them live happily ever after was the consideration with which friends and relatives chose their Christmas presents. Never was there a piece of Rudge & Guenzel China given to the "Newlyweds" which did not bring more than a note of thanks for their friends' useful Christmas gift.



"C" stands for Christmas Candy! Fresh — tasty — delicious and spicy! Christmas Candy for both young and old can be had from Rudge & Guenzel Co. (Vera Mills will send a box to any address in the world for you.)

Give Uncle George Handkerchiefs! He has most everything.

Grandfather and Grandmother, in their little home in the country, really need some new article of furniture. They won't buy it—for they think it isn't necessary. But it will increase the pleasure of their old age to see a spick and span new piece of furniture in their "love nest."

Christmas has gone—and you are thinking of all the other Christmases which have come and gone. You're thinking of your friends' thoughtful gifts. Be prepared to write them a note of thanks on good stationery! Get the stationery in Center Aisle—Street Floor.

Dame Custom says that on Christmas Day there should be a big family meal. Some of everything which everyone likes should be on the table. Make out your Grocery list—bring it down to our Downstairs Self Grocery and choose your Christmas Dinner personally.

During the last week before Christmas come to our Hairdressing Shop on Floor Two and get "freshened up" for Christmas Day. Have a facial, a shampoo, a marcel and manicure.

17 SHOPPING DAYS TO CHRISTMAS

Christmas Suggestions

For the Giving Time---Happiest Month of the Year

Did you ever stop to think that it was not the receiving of gifts that makes us so happy on Christmas Day.

The REAL Joy comes from GIVING—

To see the faces of the little folks brighten. To see the look of surprise and appreciation on the face of the friend to whom the present is given—

THAT is what makes us all so eager to buy gifts and to be sure that the RIGHT gift for each is selected; so that there will be no disappointment to cloud the face of the recipient.

And that is what makes it so helpful to

Buy Christmas Gifts Early!

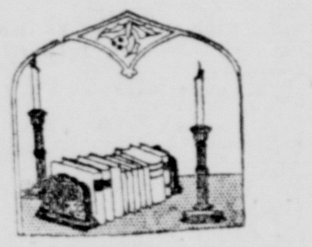
While our assortments are so complete—while everything is so new and fresh—while our salespeople have so much more time to give best service. Before the crowds make it less easy to see things and make decisions—and before the late days of rush and hurry make it almost impossible to find the RIGHT GIFT even in this bright roomy store.

Everything here is at its fullest and best right now. COME AND SEE. Only a few of the many thousands of suggestions can be mentioned here.

One of the most popular and the busiest person in the store is your personal shopper—Vera Mills who'll shop with you or for you for Christmas Gifts.

Each name added to your Christmas Gift List makes it longer—each day that slips by makes the time until Christmas shorter. Start that gift list today! Get your gift lists filled at Rudge & Guenzel's, the Christmas Store of Lincoln at once!

Shop early, before it's too late. It's never too early to start — but it may be too late to purchase all the necessary Christmas items. Remember—not quite three full shopping weeks until Christmas. Make Rudge & Guenzel's your Christmas store this Christmas.



Father, as head of the family should probably come first on your list. He's the hardest one, too—but we know that he would appreciate a pair of book racks, a pair of those masculine ones, you know, with statuettes of strength. Art Dept., Floor 3.

And Mother—she will not "want a thing," of course, but just get her an Eppo Petticoat with the side opening, and watch her eyes sparkle and just notice the way she "feels" the quality of the silk. Floor Two.

Do you remember last Christmas how Cousin Ella's eyes danced when she found a pretty hair ornament on the tree for her? We know, then, that she likes hair ornaments. This year give her a pretty silver wreath for her hair. They're beauties! Street Floor.

Aunt Flo, even if she is 35 years old, has the prettiest ankles and doesn't lose an opportunity to display them when she has good looking silk hose for an excuse. A pair of Rudge & Guenzel pure silk Gotham Gold Stripe Hose is the only thing for her Christmas present.

Aunt Stella is exactly opposite from Aunt Flo—not that her ankles are not pretty—but she is so modest! Handkerchiefs are really about the only thing you could give her A half dozen pure linen ones from Rudge & Guenzel assortments will make a lovely present for her.

"This pocketbook's about worn out. Wish someone would give me a new one." Quite unknowingly — your best girl chum has given you the "Cue" as to what she wants for Christmas. A large assortment of bags is ready in our centre aisle. Come in—you will find one that will suit your roommate to a "T."

Buying a present for your Boy Pal is rather a touchy proposition. But you may be sure that he would like mighty well to have a new belt buckle and a new belt. Real leather belts with sterling silver buckles are on display here in our store for men.

Big Sister is the member of the family who requires something a little bit more fussy. Perhaps a pair of radium silk Teddies is exactly what she wants—and she surely needs them, for one can't have too many pretty silk undergarments. Floor Two.

A big, blue eyed Doll with blonde curly hair will cause little sister to jump up and down, giving emphatic squeals of delight. And if the Doll says "Mama," which a lot of them do—there'll be lots of fun early Christmas morning. Toyland on Floor Three.

Big Brother goes to college and will be home at Christmas time. He'll breeze in—sling his books on the table for Mother to pick up. Get him a Brief case this Christmas. He'll have some place to keep his things, then, and he won't throw a brief case around, either. He'll be too proud of it. Centre Aisle.

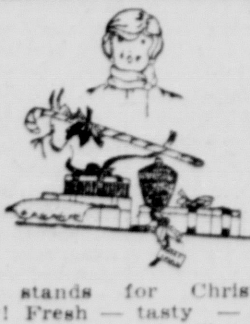
We wonder what little Baby Sister will think of Christmas?

What a time she will have when brightly colored blocks roll out of her package from Rudge & Guenzel's Big Toy land.

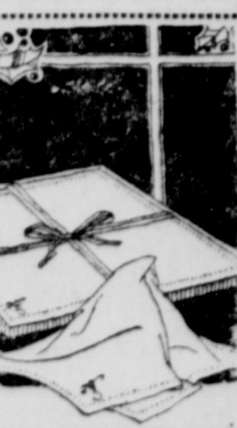
There is many a young miss on Christmas Gift lists who will be delighted with our becoming wool scarfs sets. Street Floor and Millinery Dept.

Cousin Billy needs a pair of new gloves for Christmas. Get them from Rudge & Guenzel Co. Boys' Corner.

"They lived happily ever after" and one of the things that made them live happily ever after was the consideration with which friends and relatives chose their Christmas presents. Never was there a piece of Rudge & Guenzel China given to the "Newlyweds" which did not bring more than a note of thanks for their friends' useful Christmas gift.



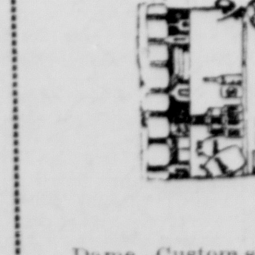
"C" stands for Christmas Candy! Fresh — tasty — delicious and spicy! Christmas Candy for both young and old can be had from Rudge & Guenzel Co. (Vera Mills will send a box to any address in the world for you.)



Give Uncle George Handkerchiefs! He has most everything.

Grandfather and Grandmother, in their little home in the country, really need some new article of furniture. They won't buy it—for they think it isn't necessary. But it will increase the pleasure of their old age to see a spick and span new piece of furniture in their "love nest."

Christmas has gone—and you are thinking of all the other Christmases which have come and gone. You're thinking of your friends' thoughtful gifts. Be prepared to write them a note of thanks on good stationery' Get the stationery in Center Aisle—Street Floor.



Dame Custom says that on Christmas Day there should be a big family meal. Some of everything which everyone likes should be on the table. Make out your Grocery list—bring it down to our Downstairs Self Grocery and choose your Christmas Dinner personally.

During the last week before Christmas come to our Hairdressing Shop on Floor Two and get "freshened up" for Christmas Day. Have a facial, a shampoo, a marcel and manicure.

ENJOINING TAX COLLECTIONS.

An unprecedented situation is reported to exist in a number of Nebraska counties as a result of the suit brought by the Northwestern railroad in 1921 to enjoin the collection of taxes in this state, and subsequent suits by the Burlington and Union Pacific to hold up the collection of 1922 taxes. Some of those counties are reported to be without funds to carry on the necessary activities and unless relief comes within a short time will have to take steps to meet the emergency created by the failure of the carriers to pay their taxes.

Holt county is cited as one instance where the treasury is very low because of the failure of the Northwestern to pay its 1921 taxes and the suit brought by the Burlington to enjoin collection of the 1922 levy. Sixty per cent of the personal taxes come from the carriers, it is said, but to add to the troubles of the already hard-pressed Nebraska counties, it is currently reported that banks will also refuse to pay their taxes until the supreme court passes on the validity of the new revenue law. In all it is said that between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 come from the railroads in Nebraska and another $750,000 from the banks.

On the face of it the attorney general's office would seem to blame for the situation. The Northwestern case of a year ago was filed in the federal court in Omaha in November of 1921. Either the attorney general failed to call the case for immediate trial or the legal representatives of the carriers were successful in securing continuances. Regardless of the cause for delay, it is certain that no more important case has arisen in the state in recent years. No litigation has affected the individual taxpayer more than the suits brought by the carriers. It is to be regretted that the attorney general has been unable to force an early hearing on the application for an injunction?

The suits outside of seriously impairing the finances of the counties raise an interesting legal question. The carriers had the right of appeal from the tax commissioner to the Nebraska supreme court. But instead of pursuing an appeal to the Nebraska supreme court, the railroads go into federal court with an application for an injunction against a state tax law and a state tax body. If the federal government is to assume jurisdiction over the taxing powers of the state, it will be the most drastic step taken towards the concentration of authority in the hands of federal office holders.

EDUCATIONAL WEEK.

Starting on December 3, all America is asked to join in observing "Educational week."

Educational week differs from most of the projects of its kind in that no special program is to be prepared but parents generally are invited to attend the schools in order to see how the work is handled. It is the desire of the educational authorities that parents will avail themselves of this opportunity to see just how work is now conducted in the school room.

Co-operating generally in the program for Educational week, the Parent-Teachers' organizations of Lincoln are anxious that parents make sure to visit the schools. Launched but a short time ago, the Parent-Teachers association has already demonstrated that it has a field for splendid service in the state in acquainting those whose children attend the schools with the real educational situation in Nebraska. So far the Parent-Teachers' association has given ample proof that it is the most effective agency in curbing dangerous tendencies in school life.

It will pay every mother and father who is interested in the schools to visit them sometime during the week. A great many of the misunderstandings will be cleared up if the appeal is observed.

More Truth than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

THE DREAMER.

He started as a homeless waif,
Found in a basket at a door:
"May Fate be kind, and keep him safe,"
That prayer was pinned—and nothing more—
Upon the little shirt he wore.

He struggled up through childhood's ills,
His name and parentage unknown;
His feet were bruised upon the hills
Where wearily he trudged alone.
He dreamed sometimes of stately halls
And high-born dames and maidens fair,
Of banners hung on castle walls,
And gallant men with powdered hair.

Vague memories he ofted had
Of splendid scenes in distant lands,
And sometimes, when his heart was sad,
He felt the touch of tender hands.
Or so it seemed, as, begging meals,
He found his way from town to town,
With bruises on his hurting heels,
His ragged trousers sagging down.

His youth departed; whiskers came,
And still he had his warlink dreams;
He claimed such hopes as they may claim
Who learn the songs of limpid streams.
Instinctively he seemed to know
That Fate would find him out some day,
That, somehow, from the long ago
Good Fortune would be sent his way.

He started nameless and alone,
With nothing but his trust in Fate;
Where walls are high and made of stone
He waits behind an iron gate—
But he has dreamed, at any rate.

PROSPECTS FOR POTATO GROWERS.

Many a farmer in Nebraska who raised a big crop of potatoes this year only to find that he could not sell them at a profit will throw up his hands, say "Oh, what's the use?" and refuse to plant any tubers next spring. Without taking the trouble to figure things out, he will conclude that it doesn't pay to raise potatoes and will put his land into other crops.

But the shrewd farmer who looks ahead and makes thoughtful calculations will be likely to conclude that next year, above all others, is the very time to grow potatoes. It will occur to him that very many who planted them this year will be discouraged and quit raising them. He will perceive that instead of being produced in great abundance the coming season, potatoes are probably going to be scarcer and in more demand.

So while other farmers are deserting the potato and going in for something else, the far-seeing ones will stick to it. They will start with a big advantage—plenty of good seed on hand for which no cash outlay is required. Their neighbors will be buying corn, wheat and oats to seed down former potato acreage, or perhaps still more expensive alfalfa seed.

The overproduction of potatoes this year was the result of an unusually large acreage, planted in anticipation of high prices, and an exceptionally large crop raised all over the country. For several years, potatoes had been on a high price level, and farmers thought they could make more money by raising them than other crops. But the raising of an unprecedented crop completely changed the situation, and the result was disappointment all around.

With the farmer as with everyone else, it is perhaps best not to put all of one's eggs in a single basket. The wise agriculturist diversifies his crops, raising some wheat, some corn, some oats, some alfalfa, and some potatoes, if he is in a potato-growing district. He will not abandon potatoes for the mere reason that prices have been below cost of production in one season. The same thing may happen to corn or wheat next year, or even to live stock.

The fellow who sticks and goes ahead in the face of adversities is the one who wins out in the end.

No more vigorous denunciation of a man in public life has ever been uttered than the scorching which Samuel Untermyer, New York City attorney, gave Attorney General Daugherty. Characterizing the attorney general as a political opportunist, Mr. Untermyer declared that President Harding might have stepped into any town in the United States and put his finger on a man of the legal attainment of Daugherty. His appointment constituted one of the gravest mistakes of the president, Mr. Untermyer said.

Mr. Grouch says that nowadays that there is entirely too much formality, a super abundance of implements, and an insufficient amount of food to make a meal one of pleasure.

Comment by the Press

"THE PRIVILEGE OF LIVING."

"I wish," complains a reader of these luminous columns, "that the World-Herald had given us a Thanksgiving editorial telling how grateful we should be just for the privilege of living."

The greatest American writers had the opposite point of view:

"Pity is for the living, envy is for the dead."

"All say, 'How hard it is that we have to die'—a strange complaint from the mouths of people who have had to live."

"Each person is born to one possession which outvalues all his others—his last breath."

Mark Twain's birthday fell on Thanksgiving day, this year, and the Kansas City Star recalls his bitter conclusion that life is vanity, its vicissitudes the sport of a malevolent providence. Says the Star:

"His revolt he embodied in his posthumous volume, 'The Mysterious Stranger.' The stranger makes a race for little clay figures, breathes into them the breath of life and sets them going. For his sport he maims and cripples some. When, with infinite pains, they have built a city, the stranger picks up a plank and slams it down, crushing them and their work. He has ceased to find them amusing. Such says Mark Twain, is life."

He had none of the consolations of religious belief, this sardonic tragedian whom men still acclaim as a humorist because he chose rather to scoff and laugh than to weep and go mad. He had little belief even in the dignity and worth of humanity. The world to him was filled with and governed by colossal and preposterous wrong. Its hopes were futile and its crown was absurdity. He picked a stupid race to bits and jeered at what he found in its insides. With it all he stormed at the injustice that was its cross, his anger tempered by a supreme contempt for the hypocrisy and the pretense that richly deserved punishment.

In his own experience Mark Twain knew the fullness of life. He was Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer; he was pioneer, plainsman and argonaut; his interests, like his travels and adventures, were as wide as the world; he had lived in the depths of life and on its lonely heights, alike at home with the lowly and the great; he experienced all that supreme achievement has to give. Then he lost his property, his daughters, his wife, his home, and there remained to him only his sterile honors, his bleak philosophy, and life was ashes in his mouth.

And yet who that has read him can doubt that he, too, knew the joy of life? If only in his savage philippics against human frailties and foibles, in his audacious challenging of the Power that rules and disposes, one can find in that rugged, tender, burning heart the evidences of keenest delight. Whatever befell him, however somber the shadow in which his own philosophy immersed him, his were still the same rare gifts that are the gifts of all and he had made splendid use of them.

He had eyes to see and ears to hear. He had a heart and a mind. He was alive and tingling with sensation and knew the rapture of hard and honest thinking. He enjoyed his glorious faculties of insight and understanding and sympathy. He knew how to love and how to hate. Humor, anger, pity, curiosity, thirsts and hungers of the spirit and the flesh, all the qualities and attributes that go to make a man were his, and he used them prodigally. There was no part of him that went to waste, nothing that atrophied. The work he left behind him is the immortal evidence that he found life and the universe ever fresh and novel and crammed with interest.

His life and his work are the conclusive answer to his own twisted pessimism. And the suffering that he endured counted richly to make him the man he was, and as it does for each one of us. Without it no life would be worth while and no character admirable.

For Mark Twain never to have lived would have been a sad loss to the world, but not nearly so great, to speak fantastically, as the loss to himself. Life, to everyone, is worth while. Living is a privilege to be grateful for. That we prize it, even in dire misfortune, is attested by the tenacity with which we hang on to it. The parable of the gamster, who next to playing poker and winning would rather play and lose, tells the story of human life.—Omaha World-Herald.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

CONSULT YOUR FAMILY BEFORE MAKING PLANS

You feel at time there is something the matter with your home life—that for some reason it is not just what it should be.

When you have such thoughts you seldom blame yourself, nor do you consider that you are in any way to blame.

But what effort do you make to amuse, entertain or even interest the members of your household?

Again, is it not true that you think solely of your own comfort and what you yourself want to do, and because it is not a crime, you do not consider that the family should object if you do entertain yourself.

In fact you make your plans without consulting your family and then you expect the family to coincide with them.

Strictly speaking you may do your duty as a father or a mother in the way of performing your part of the work or in furnishing the money to keep the home running but that is not all there is to home making.

You should not allow your desires to dominate the whole household.

You should not expect that such domination should be accepted without a word of complaint.

Perhaps your home life is not what it should be because you have not done or you are not what you should be.

The Educational Problem,

STAMFORD, Neb., Dec. 4.—

To the Editor Lincoln Daily Star:

The call for national education week should bring a response, in some manner, from all who are interested in the welfare of children. In order to rightly solve this most vital problem we must first ask two questions. The first is, "What is Education?" The second question is, "Why do we educate children?"

I should answer the first question by saying that Education is such a composite knowledge of practical work, cultural education and scientific facts as shall enable us to develop the best in our lives, mentally, morally, physically and financially.

In answer to the second question I would say: We must educate our children so that work, play and learning must be balanced in every human life and this education must be progressive, from the cradle to the grave.

Life is a constant series of varying adjustments, from the time the little tot first leaves the shelter of home and goes to school or kindergarten, until the time when the old man or the old woman, bereft of their life-long companion, faces the problem of finishing life alone, or in the household of their children.

Such composite knowledge as we need in order to rightly solve the problems that we face all through our lives can never be obtained in the so-called "halls of learning." It would be just as logical to think that we could feed our bodies liberally for a few years and then get along with haphazard eating and very little of that, as to think that we can feed our minds, cram them furiously for the growing years of a child's life, and then at "commencement" time consider them "educated" for all life to come.

The human mind must be fed, and it must be fed as continuously and with as much care and planning as our bodies must be fed. For the mind must rule the body or we become merely dangerous animals.

So in considering the question of education let us not overlook or neglect the continuation or part time school. The principle underlying this phase of school work was a vital element in the success of our early schools, because they made book learning supplemmentary to practical work.

As the years passed by this vital need was overlooked by short sighted and overzealous educators, who tried to reduce everything to an exhaustive and complicated "system" borrowed from autocratic Europe. In proportion as they have developed this "system" they have tried to make practical work supplementary to book learning which is simply another illustration of getting the cart before the horse.

After propelling the educational cart in this awkward manner for many years educators as well as all others are asking, "Why?"

There is an old and very true true statement to the effect that the success of a self governing nation depends on the characer and intelligence of its common people. So, far sighted educators have been trying to solve the riddle and provide more education for the common people while they worked.

There has never been anything in our modern educational system which had as great an influence on on the lives of the common people as the old fashioned literary, the singing school, the spelling, the ciphering and the writing schools, which were the continuation or part time schools of an earlier generation and which were the spontaneous expression of the people's desire for education and recreation while they worked.

In closing let me quote from an article by an unremembered author in the old Sheldon's Fifth reader. We were not required to "memorize" things then, but these glowing words burned themselves into my childish mind so that they have been a vital element in my life.

"For the fires of our minds are like the fires which the Persians burn on the mountains. They are immortal and not to be quenched. On something they must be fed, either on the pure spirit of knowledge, or the foul dregs of polluting passions. Were it not for education I would consider the life of the meanest hedger and ditcher preferable to that of the greatest and richest man alive."

Yours for better schools and a higher standard in education.

Stamford, Nebraska.

Some of those counties are reported to be without funds to carry on the necessary activities and unless relief comes within a short time will have to take steps to meet the emergency created by the failure of the carriers to pay their taxes.

Holt county is cited as one instance where the treasury is very low because of the failure of the Northwestern to pay its 1921 taxes and the suit brought by the Burlington to enjoin collection of the 1922 levy. Sixty per cent of the personal taxes come from the carriers, it is said, but to add to the troubles of the already hard-pressed Nebraska counties, it is currently reported that banks will also refuse to pay their taxes until the supreme court passes on the validity of the new revenue law. In all it is said that between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 come from the railroads in Nebraska and another $750,000 from the banks.

On the face of it the attorney general's office would seem to blame for the situation. The Northwestern case of a year ago was filed in the federal court in Omaha in November of 1921. Either the attorney general failed to call the case for immediate trial or the legal representatives of the carriers were successful in securing continuances. Regardless of the cause for delay, it is certain that no more important case has arisen in the state in recent years. No litigation has affected the individual taxpayer more than the suits brought by the carriers. It is to be regretted that the attorney general has been unable to force an early hearing on the application for an injunction?

The suits outside of seriously impairing the finances of the counties raise an interesting legal question. The carriers had the right of appeal from the tax commissioner to the Nebraska supreme court. But instead of pursuing an appeal to the Nebraska supreme court, the railroads go into federal court with an application for an injunction against a state tax law and a state tax body. If the federal government is to assume jurisdiction over the taxing powers of the state, it will be the most drastic step taken towards the concentration of authority in the hands of federal office holders.

EDUCATIONAL WEEK.

Starting on December 3, all America is asked to join in observing "Educational week."

Educational week differs from most of the projects of its kind in that no special program is to be prepared but parents generally are invited to attend the schools in order to see how the work is handled. It is the desire of the educational authorities that parents will avail themselves of this opportunity to see just how work is now conducted in the school room.

Co-operating generally in the program for Educational week, the Parent-Teachers' organizations of Lincoln are anxious that parents make sure to visit the schools. Launched but a short time ago, the Parent-Teachers association has already demonstrated that it has a field for splendid service in the state in acquainting those whose children attend the schools with the real educational situation in Nebraska. So far the Parent-Teachers' association has given ample proof that it is the most effective agency in curbing dangerous tendencies in school life.

It will pay every mother and father who is interested in the schools to visit them sometime during the week. A great many of the misunderstandings will be cleared up if the appeal is observed.

More Truth than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

THE DREAMER.

He started as a homeless waif,
Found in a basket at a door:
"May Fate be kind, and keep him safe,"
That prayer was pinned—and nothing more—
Upon the little shirt he wore.

He struggled up through childhood's ills,
His name and parentage unknown;
His feet were bruised upon the hills
Where wearily he trudged alone.
He dreamed sometimes of stately halls
And high-born dames and maidens fair,
Of banners hung on castle walls,
And gallant men with powdered hair.

Vague memories he ofted had
Of splendid scenes in distant lands,
And sometimes, when his heart was sad,
He felt the touch of tender hands,
Or so it seemed, as, begging meals,
He found his way from town to town,
Wih bruises on his huring heels,
His ragged trousers sagging down.

His youth departed; whiskers came,
And still he had his warlink dreams;
He claimed such hopes as they may claim
Who learn the songs of limpid streams.
Instinctively he seemed to know
That Fate would find him out some day,
That, somehow, from the long ago
Good Fortune would be sent his way.

He started nameless and alone,
With nothing but his trust in Fate;
Where walls are high and made of stone
He waits behind an iron gate—
But he has dreamed, at any rate.

PROSPECTS FOR POTATO GROWERS.

Many a farmer in Nebraska who raised a big crop of potatoes this year only to find that he could not sell them at a profit will throw up his hands, say "Oh, what's the use?" and refuse to plant any tubers next spring. Without taking the trouble to figure things out, he will conclude that it doesn't pay to raise potatoes and will put his land into other crops.

But the shrewd farmer who looks ahead and makes thoughtful calculations will be likely to conclude that next year, above all others, is the very time to grow potatoes. It will occur to him that very many who planted them this year will be discouraged and quit raising them. He will perceive that instead of being produced in great abundance the coming season, potatoes are probably going to be scarcer and in more demand.

So while other farmers are deserting the potato and going in for something else, the far-seeing ones will stick to it. They will start with a big advantage—plenty of good seed on hand for which no cash outlay is required. Their neighbors will be buying corn, wheat and oats to seed down former potato acreage, or perhaps still more expensive alfalfa seed.

The overproduction of potatoes this year was the result of an unusually large acreage, planted in anticipation of high prices, and an exceptionally large crop raised all over the country. For several years, potatoes had been on a high price level, and farmers thought they could make more money by raising them than other crops. But the raising of an unprecedented crop completely changed the situation, and the result was disappointment all around.

With the farmer as with everyone else, it is perhaps best not to put all of one's eggs in a single basket. The wise agriculturist diversifies his crops, raising some wheat, some corn, some oats, some alfalfa, and some potatoes, if he is in a potato-growing district. He will not abandon potatoes for the mere reason that prices have been below cost of production in one season. The same thing may happen to corn or wheat next year, or even to live stock.

The fellow who sticks and goes ahead in the face of adversities is the one who wins out in the end.

No more vigorous denunciation of a man in public life has ever been uttered than the scorching which Samuel Untermyer, New York City attorney, gave Attorney General Daugherty. Characterizing the attorney general as a political opportunist, Mr. Untermyer declared that President Harding might have stepped into any town in the United States and put his finger on a man of the legal attainment of Daugherty. His appointment constituted one of the gravest mistakes of the president, Mr. Untermyer said.

Mr. Grouch says that nowadays that there is entirely too much formality, a super abundance of implements, and an insufficient amount of food to make a meal one of pleasure.

Comment by the Press

"THE PRIVILEGE OF LIVING."

"I wish," complains a reader of these luminous columns, "that the World-Herald had given us a Thanksgiving editorial telling how grateful we should be just for the privilege of living."

The greatest American writers had the opposite point of view:

"Pity is for the living, envy is for the dead."

"All say, 'How hard it is that we have to die'—a strange complaint from the mouths of people who have had to live."

"Each person is born to one possession which outvalues all his others—his last breath."

Mark Twain's birthday fell, on Thanksgiving day, this year, and the Kansas City Star recalls his bitter conclusion that life is vanity, its vicissitudes the sport of a malevolent providence. Says the Star:

"His revolt he embodied in his posthumous volume, 'The Mysterious Stranger.' The stranger makes a race for little clay figures, breathes into them the breath of life and sets them going. For his sport he maims and cripples some. When, with infinite pains, they have built a city, the stranger picks up a plank and slams it down, crushing them and their work. He has ceased to find them amusing. Such says Mark Twain, is life."

He had none of the consolations of religious belief, this sardonic tragedian whom men still acclaim as a humorist because he chose rather to scoff and laugh than to weep and go mad. He had little belief even in the dignity and worth of humanity. The world to him was filled with and governed by colossal and preposterous wrong. It hopes were futile and its crown was absurdity. He picked a stupid race to bits and jeered at what he found in its insides. With it all he stormed at the injustice that was its cross, his anger tempered by a supreme contempt for the hypocrisy and the pretense that richly deserved punishment.

In his own experience Mark Twain knew the fullness of life. He was Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer; he was pioneer, plainsman and argonaut; his interests, like his travels and adventures, were as wide as the world; he had lived in the depths of life and on its lonely heights, alike at home with the lowly and the great; he experienced all that supreme achievement has to give. Then he lost his property, his daughters, his wife, his home, and there remained to him only his sterile honors, his bleak philosophy, and life was ashes in his mouth.

And yet who that has read him can doubt that he, too, knew the joy of life? If only in his savage philippics against human frailties and foibles, in his audacious challenging of the Power that rules and disposes, one can find in that rugged, tender, burning heart the evidences of keenest delight. Whatever befell him, however somber the shadow in which his own philosophy immersed him, his were still the same rare gifts that are the gifts of all and he had made splendid use of them.

He had eyes to see and ears to hear. He had a heart and a mind. He was alive and tingling with sensation and knew the rapture of hard and honest thinking. He enjoyed his glorious faculties of insight and understanding and sympathy. He knew how to love and how to hate. Humor, anger, pity, curiosity, thirsts and hungers of the spirit and the flesh, all the qualities and attributes that go to make a man were his, and he used them prodigally. There was no part of him that went to waste, nothing that atrophied. The work he left behind him is the immortal evidence that he found life and the universe ever fresh and novel and crammed with interest.

His life and his work are the conclusive answer to his own twisted pessimism. And the suffering that he endured counted richly to make him the man he was, and as it does for each one of us. Without it no life would be worth while and no character admirable.

For Mark Twain never to have lived would have been a sad loss to the world, but not nearly so great, to speak fantastically, as the loss to himself. Life, to everyone, is worth while. Living is a privilege to be grateful for. That we prize it, even in dire misfortune, is attested by the tenacity with which we hang on to it. The parable of the gamster, who next to playing poker and winning would rather play and lose, tells the story of human life.—Omaha World-Herald.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

CONSULT YOUR FAMILY BEFORE MAKING PLANS

You feel at time there is something the matter with your home life—that for some reason it is not just what it should be.

When you have such thoughts you seldom blame yourself, nor do you consider that you are in any way to blame.

But what effort do you make to amuse, entertain or even interest the members of your household?

Again, is it not true that you think solely of your own comfort and what you yourself want to do, and because it is not a crime, you do not consider that the family should object if you do entertain yourself.

In fact you make your plans without consulting your family and then you expect the family to coincide with them.

Strictly speaking you may do your duty as a father or a mother in the way of performing your part of the work or in furnishing the money to keep the home running, but that is not all there is to home making.

You should not allow your desires to dominate the whole household.

You should not expect that such domination should be accepted without a word of complaint.

Perhaps your home life is not what it should be because you have not done or you are not what you should be.

The Educational Problem,

STAMFORD, Neb., Dec. 4.—

To the Editor Lincoln Daily Star: The call for national education week should bring a response, in some manner, from all who are interested in the welfare of children. In order to rightly solve this most vital problem we must first ask two questions. The first is, "What is Education?" The second question is, "Why do we educate children?"

I should answer the first question by saying that Education is such a composite knowledge of practical work, cultural education and scientific facts as shall enable us to develop the best in our lives, mentally, morally, physically and financially.

In answer to the second question I would say: We must educate our children so that work, play and learning must be balanced in every human life and this education must be progressive, from the cradle to the grave.

Life is a constant series of varying adjustments, from the time the little tot first leaves the shelter of home and goes to school or kindergarten, until the time when the old man or the old woman, bereft of their life-long companion, faces the problem of finishing life alone, or in the household of their children.

Such composite knowledge as we need in order to rightly solve the problems that we face all through our lives can never be obtained in the so-called "halls of learning." It would be just as logical to think that we could feed our bodies liberally for a few years and then get along with haphazard eating and very little of that, as to think that we can feed our minds, cram them furiously for the growing years of a child's life, and then at "commencement" time consider them "educated" for all life to come.

The human mind must be fed, and it must be fed as continuously and with as much care and planning as our bodies must be fed. For the mind must rule the body or we become merely dangerous animals.

So in considering the question of education let us not overlook or neglect the continuation or part time school. The principle underlying this phase of school work was a vital element in the success of our early schools, because they made book learning supplemmentary to practical work.

As the years passed by this vital need was overlooked by short sighted and overzealous educators, who tried to reduce everything to an exhaustive and complicated "system" borrowed from autocratic Europe. In proportion as they have developed this "system" they have tried to make practical work supplementary to book learning which is simply another illustration of getting the cart before the horse.

After propelling the educational cart in this awkward manner for many years educators as well as all others are asking, "Why?"

There is an old and very true true statement to the effect that the success of a self governing nation depends on the characer and intelligence of its common people. So, far sighted educators have been trying to solve the riddle and provide more education for the common people while they worked.

There has never been anything in our modern educational system which had as great an influence on on the lives of the common people as the old fashioned literary, the singing school, the spelling, the ciphering and the writing schools, which were the continuation or part time schools of an earlier generation and which were the spontaneous expression of the people's desire for education and recreation while they worked.

In closing let me quote from an article by an unremembered author in the old Sheldon's Fifth reader. We were not required to "memorize" things then, but these glowing words burned themselves into my childish mind so that they have been a vtal element in my life.

"For the fires of our minds are like the fires which the Persians burn on the mountains. They are immortal and not to be quenched. On something they must be fed, either on the pure spirit of knowledge, or the foul dregs of polluting passions. Were it not for education I would consider the life of the meanest hedger and ditcher preferable to that of the greatest and richest man alive."

Yours for better schools and a higher standard in education.

FUNERAL DELAYED BY COURT ACTION

Compromise Reached and Interment Made After Nine Months.

OMAHA, Dec. 4.—After having lain at Aurora, Neb., from August, 1921, to June, 1922, at which time it was buried in the potters' field, the body of Patrick J. King, is to be exhumed and given a decent burial with proper services in a Catholic cemetery there, following a compromise effected in a suit over King's insurance in Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough's court Saturday.

Patrick J. King was a construction worker who made his home, in the winter months, with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walker of Council Bluffs. He is said to have become quite a member of the family while living there, and to have made Mrs. Stella Walker, the wife of his landlord, the beneficiary of his $2,000 life policy.

In June, 1921, he went to work on a construction job at Aurora and received injuries that resulted in his death. His body was taken in charge by B. A. Munson, undertaker, of that city.

Mr. Munson heard that King had insurance and so hesitated to bury him in a potters' field. Claim was made upon the policy for the necessary fee.

Mrs. Stella Walker was supposed to be the beneficiary but one I. E. Hunt of Council Bluffs, is alleged to have intervened to the effect that he had met King on the street one day, and that King gave him his life insurance policy, with the understanding that he should be the beneficiary.

A special master in the case held for Munson, the undertaker, in his claim upon the estate. Judge Woodrough set aside the master's findins as to facts, and announced that he would turn the whole case over to a jury. Settlement in court was then made.

By the terms thereof, the body of King must be exhumed and properly buried in a Catholic cemetery by Munson, who will be paid the usual fee for such service.

Mrs. Walker is also to receive a part of the insurance money, and the case was concluded as far as the federal court is concerned.

There was much litigation during the nine months that King's body was in the perservative at Aurora, the undertaker not knowing what to do with it.

Nuckolls Official Suggests Changes In Hail Insurance

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 4.—The state hail insurance law should be changed at the coming session of the state legislature to permit payments of insurance soon after loss instead of the present system of paying losses after Nov. 1 of each year. W. C. Hall, Nuckolls county clerk, of Nelson, told delegates attending the annual meeting of county clerks and registers of deeds, here today.

As a result of this policy of slow payments by the state, old line insurance companies dealing in hail indemnity, are getting the major portion of the business, according to Mr. Hall. He said that under the present working of the state hail insurance law, the state is obliged to wait a long period of time before paying claims. This is so, according to the speaker because the state does not require cash in advance of issuing hail policies to farmers if taken out before June 1. County treasurers who receive the premiums remit only 10 per cent per month to the state until Nov. 1 when the balance is sent in. Consequently, Mr. Hall said, the state has little money to pay losses with until after Nov. 1.

After studying the law for two years, Mr. Hall said he was of the opinion that it should be modified so as to provide for the employment of an adjuster in each county with power to settle claims as they arise. Applications for insurance should be kept on file in the office of the county clerk for the information of the adjuster and policies should be paid for in cash when the applicant files it. Again, Mr. Hall would seek an amendment which would require that all moneys derived from hail insurance premiums, should be sent into the state treasurer when paid by the applicant. This, he says would provide the moneys with which to pay claims promptly.

Out of the $16,000, each township will receive $1,000 for its road work. The budget does not include money for the state roads which are the D. L. D. and the state road from north to south across the county, maintained by the state from auto license money.

CORNER STONE FOR A NEW CATHEDRAL

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 4.—Laying of the corner stone of St. Mark's new cathedral will call clergymen from all over the Episcopal district of western Nebraska here for the service Tuesday afternoon at 4:30.

The Rt. Rev. George A. Beecher, bishop of the district, will officiate, assisted by Dean C. R. Tyner and the visiting rectors.

The new cathedral is being erected on the same site as the old church which was built in 1880 at a cost of $3,500 including the purchase price of the three lots. This building is now being used as a temporary parish house and has been moved to the back of the church property. A banquet will be served there after the laying of the corner stone.

St. Mark's Cathedral will cost between $85,000 and $95,000 and will be a beautiful structure of white Bedford stone.

The contents of the old cornerstone will be replaced in the copper box to be cemented in the new and they represent an interesting set of papers.

They show that the first rector of the old church, the Rev. John Greenwood, received a salary of $600 and a note in the church minutes states that on April 17, 1880, "the sum of $10.23 collected at the morning service was paid the rector on account."

He also had charge of St. Stephen's church in Grand Island and the parishes at Harvard and Juniata. Hastings boasted a membership of twenty-six in 1880.

The market quotations for Hastings on July 8, 1880 were: Wheat, 50 to 60c; corn, shelled, 16c; flour, $3.20, hogs, $2.75 to $3.00.

Skin Ablaze with Eczema

Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red-blood-cells! S. S. S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red-blood cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, eczema with all its fiery, skin-digging torture and its soul-tearing, unreachable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting-giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1826! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body-builders known to us mortals! When you put these facts together,—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mrs. Arthur N. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes:

"My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and is well now. I thank you very much. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot talk too much about it, for I know it is O. K."

Here is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

Varsity Derby Gelta Breaks Production of Four-Year-Olds

Varsity Derby Gelta, a Holstein cow owned by the University of Nebraska agricultural college, recently broke the Nebraska four-year-old production record by producing 25,010.3 pounds of milk, 836.11 pounds of butterfat, or 1,045.11 ponunds of 80 per cent butter in 365 days, according to records kept at the university farm.

This record is an average of 68.5 pounds of milk or eight gallons for each day in the year. Inasmuch as she weighed about 1,500 pounds she has produced more than sixteen times her own weight in milk during the year and more than two-thirds of her weight in butter, according to her keepers. The total weight of edible milk solids produced was equal to 3,000 pounds or a ton and a half. These included milk sugar, casin and albumin.

Gelta, in making this record displaced Creamelle Korn, owned by Woodlawn Dairy of Lincoln, a Holstein whose record was 23,472.4 pounds of milk, 765.92 pounds of butterfat or 957.40 pounds of eighty per cent butter.

FUNERAL DELAYED BY COURT ACTION

Compromise Reached and Interment Made After Nine Months.

OMAHA, Dec. 4.—After having lain at Aurora, Neb., from August, 1921, to June, 1922, at which time it was buried in the potters' field, the body of Patrick J. King, is to be exhumed and given a decent burial with proper services in a Catholic cemetery there, following a compromise effected in a suit over King's insurance in Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough's court Saturday.

Patrick J. King was a construction worker who made his home, in the winter months, with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walker of Council Bluffs. He is said to have become quite a member of the family while living there, and to have made Mrs. Stella Walker, the wife of his landlord, the beneficiary of his $2,000 life policy.

In June, 1921, he went to work on a construction job at Aurora and received injuries that resulted in his death. His body was taken in charge by B. A. Munson, undertaker, of that city.

Mr. Munson heard that King had insurance and so hesitated to bury him in a potters' field. Claim was made upon the policy for the necessary fee.

Mrs. Stella Walker was supposed to be the beneficiary but one I. E. Hunt of Council Bluffs, is alleged to have intervened to the effect that he had met King on the street one day, and that King gave him his life insurance policy, with the understanding that he should be the beneficiary.

A special master in the case held for Munson, the undertaker, in his claim upon the estate. Judge Woodrough set aside the master's findins as to facts, and announced that he would turn the whole case over to a jury. Settlement in court was then made.

By the terms thereof, the body of King must be exhumed and properly buried in a Catholic cemetery by Munson, who will be paid the usual fee for such service.

Mrs. Walker is also to receive a part of the insurance money, and the case was concluded as far as the federal court is concerned.

There was much litigation during the nine months that King's body was in the perservative at Aurora, the undertaker not knowing what to do with it.

Vandals Mutilate Communion Service

Nuckolls Official Suggests Changes In Hail Insurance

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 4.—The state hail insurance law should be changed at the coming session of the state legislature to permit payments of insurance soon after loss instead of the present system of paying losses after Nov. 1 of each year, W. C. Hall, Nuckolls county clerk, of Nelson, told delegates attending the annual meeting of county clerks and registers of deeds, here today.

As a result of this policy of slow payments by the state, old line insurance companies dealing in hail indemnity, are getting the major portion of the business, according to Mr. Hall. He said that under the present working of the state hail insurance law, the state is obliged to wait a long period of time before paying claims. This is so, according to the speaker, because the state does not require cash in advance of issuing hail policies to farmers if taken out before June 1. County treasurers who receive the premiums remit only 10 per cent per month to the state until Nov. 1, when the balance is sent in. Consequently, Mr. Hall said, the state has little money to pay losses with until after Nov. 1.

After studying the law for two years, Mr. Hall said he was of the opinion that it should be modified so as to provide for the employment of an adjuster in each county with power to settle claims as they arise. Applications for insurance should be kept on file in the office of the county clerk for the information of the adjuster and policies should be paid for in cash when the applicant files it. Again, Mr Hall would seek an amendment which would require that all moneys derived from hail insurance premiums, should be sent into the state treasurer when paid by the applicant. This, he says would provide the moneys with which to pay claims promptly.

CORNER STONE FOR A NEW CATHEDRAL

(Special to The Star.)

HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 4.—Laying of the corner stone of St. Mark's new cathedral will call clergymen from all over the Episcopal district of western Nebraska here for the service Tuesday afternoon at 4:30.

The Rt. Rev. George A. Beecher, bishop of the district, will officiate, assisted by Dean C. R. Tyner and the visiting rectors.

The new cathedral is being erected on the same site as the old church which was built in 1880 at a cost of $3,500 including the purchase price of the three lots. This building is now being used as a temporary parish house and has been moved to the back of the chruch property. A banquet will be served there after the laying of the corner stone.

St. Mark's Cathedral will cost between $85,000 and $95,000 and will be a beautiful structure of white Bedford stone.

The contents of the old cornerstone will be replaced in the copper box to be cemented in the new and they represent an interesting set of papers.

They show that the first rector of the old church, the Rev. John Greenwood, received a salary of $600 and a note in the church minutes states that on April 17, 1880, "the sum of $10.23 collected at the morning service was paid the rector on account."

He also had charge of St. Stephen's church in Grand Island and the parishes at Harvard and Juniata. Hastings boasted a membership of twenty-six in 1880.

The market quotations for Hastings on July 8, 1880 were: Wheat, 50 to 60c; corn, shelled, 16c; flour, $3.20; hogs, $2.75 to $3.00.

Skin Ablaze with Eczema

Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red-blood-cells! S. S. S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red-blood cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, eczema with all its fiery, skin-digging torture and its soul-tearing, unreachable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting-giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1826! S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body-builders known to us mortals! When you put these facts together,—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mrs. Arthur N. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes: "My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and is well now. I thank you very much. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot talk too much about it, for I know it is O. K."

Here is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

CONTROL BOARD MEETS TUESDAY

Place of Kearney - Lincoln Championship Game to Be Decided.

Hastings Offers Field For Game is Neutral Grid is Desired.

A meeting of the Nebraska interscholastic board of athletic control will be held in Lincoln Tuesday morning. Representatives of Lincoln and Kearney high schools will be present at the meeting and selection will be made of the scene of the state title combat.

Reports from Kearney indicate that the Buffalo county fans are making elaborate plans to stage the game in the event Kearney should win the toss. Additional bleachers will be erected to care for the crowd should Kearney be selected as the scene of the game.

In the event the game comes to Lincoln the two teams will meet on Nebraska Field. The University of Nebraska athletic management has delayed taking down the stands until the scene of the high school game has been selected.

Beatrice and Columbus bid for the game last week. Monday an offer was received from Supt. A. H. Staley of Hastings high school inviting the two elevens to play in the Adams county seat. A Hastings dispatch follows:

Hastings Issues Invitation.

HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 4.—Hastings has entered a bid for the Kearney-Lincoln state high championship game which is to be played next Friday. Superintendent A. H. Staley of Hastings high school has telegraphed both Principal H. P. Shepherd of Lincoln high and Superintendent O. A. Wirsig of Kearney, inviting the teams to play here on neutral ground.

The points in favor of Hastings over other cities that might bid for the game are that it is centrally located, has good railroad connections between both Kearney and Lincoln, and use of the Hastings college gridiron has already been assured.

Kearney is known to have a preference for the Hastings field if it cannot arrange to play on their own.

FOUR VETERANS AT COLUMBUS HI

Coach James Rich Will Bring Team to Lincoln For Two Games.

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., Dec. 4.—Coach James L. Rich of Columbus high school expects to have a good basketball team this year. He will have four letter men in the squad. The veterans to return are Oehlrich and Luchsinger, forwards, and Posek and Jones, guards. The new material is also of good quality.

Murphy First to Wire in Thrilling Speedway Finish

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 4.—Jimmy Murphy won the 250-mile champion automobile race Sunday at the Beverly Hills speedway, completing 200 laps of 1 1-4 oval in two hours, ten minutes and fifty-three and three-tenths seconds. Earl Cooper took second place and Harry Hartz finished third.

Murphy averaged 114.6 miles an hour, or 3.4 miles faster than the record he set on a 1 1-4 mile oval at San Francisco last year, when he completed 250 miles at an average speed of 111.2 miles an hour. Murphy won by less than a car length, with three other drivers within twenty feet of him at the finish.

Harry Hartz cheated death but was himself cheated out of second place when, in a desperate effort to nose ahead of Cooper in the final sweep past the stand, his car skidded, spun around and crashed into the wall along the grandstand, bouncing back into the course and across the line just behind Cooper.

TACKLES TASK OF NAMING ALL STARS

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—There is just one set formula to be followed in selecting an all-star team of any kind, and it is quite brief and to the point, towit:

Disregard your sense of humor, if any.

It is the only serious joke in this fitful existence.

As we write this, we have at hand the first all-eastern selections to appear in print. They make absolutely not the slightest mention of Gouinlock of Cornell, who looked like the best end of eastern campaign in the Penn game last week. It only serves to emphasize the point that this selection business is a catch-as-catch-can enterprise at best.

Wherein the Critics Blunder.

That was an honest difference of opinion. It is not always so, however. It may be noted, as time goes on, that few players from the Navy, Penn State, Lafayette, Pittsburgh and W. & J. will appear on the teams named. Do not be affronted. It is only a part of the system that calls for critics to follow the obvious in selecting only players in winning teams. Apparently a man, however accomplished, cannot hope to play good football for a loser.

In extenuation of any breach of good eyesight, we may have seemed to commit in setting forth our various choices, we will say that nine of them are the result of personal observation and two others purely hearsay.

Picks On Two on Hearsay.

We have been informed by many experts, however, that Gulian of Brown, is the best tackle and Hewitt of Pittsburgh the best line cracker in eastern football. Therefore, they are named as a concession to the conventions.

Others might also be added, but we have no intention of qualifying as sight-unseen expert. Therefore, it is with regret that not a single member of the undefeated team from West Virginia is mentioned.

The selection of Gray of Princeton at end, Gross of Yale at guard; Garbisch of Army at center, and Owen of Harvard and Kaw of Cornell in the back field was pre-ordained.

Racer's Mechanic Victim of Skull Fracture; May Die

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Physicians today were watching closely the condition of Herschel McKee, racer, and Hugh Curley, his mechanician, the only victims yestreday of the automobile race at the Los Angeles speedway which was won by Jimmy Murphy. McKee and Curley, it was said, were more seriously injured than was at first thought.

The accident to McKee and Curley came before the actual start of the race and when McKee and Joe Thomas, another racer, were tuning up their cars for the contest. McKee's car chashed into the other in some unexplained manner and McKee and Curley were carried off the speedway seriously injured. McKee injuries were not believed to be serious enough to prove fatal, physicians said, but Curley was thought to have suffered a basal fracture of the skull and internal inpuries.

Murphy completed the 250 miles in 2:10:53.1, or an average speed of 114.6 miles an hour. By this speed he broke his own previous record made at the San Carlos track, where he completed the same distance at an average speed of 112.2 miles.

Annual Nuisance Again Intrudes

The annual nuisance is loose—the picker of mythical all-star football teams. Despite the fact that the Nebraska Cornhuskers decisively demonstrated they are the "class" of the Missouri Valley conference, the self-appointed "experts" are handing out individual laurels to players on other elevens who could not "make" the varsity at Nebraska.

E. W. Cochrane of the Kansas City Journal-Post bobs up with the first all-Valley selection. He nominates only four Nebraskans—Weller, Peterson, Hartley and Noble—for his first-all-Valley lineup, putting Scherer, Wenke and Preston on his second team. Such sterling Cornhusker players as Schoeppel, Berquist, Bassett, Lewellen, Herb Dewitz and Russell are ignored.

Kicking the ball right over the crossbar, the hard-boiled facts of the Valley conference situation are that the first all-Valley team rightfully comprises every member of the team which indisputably establishes itself as the conference champion. That team, of course, is the Nebraska team. Any other verdict is plain bunk.

LEXINGTON FANS SHOW OPTIMISM

Lose Only Four Veterans; Plan to Cop Bunting Next Season.

LEXINGTON, Neb., Dec. 4.—Win the 1923 Nebraska high school football championship, is the cry at Lexington. Having placed a strong team in the field this year, Lexington will lose only four of its veterans next season.

Lexington high won all but two games the past season, Aurora and Kearney being the only elevens to lift the locals' scalp. The North Platte game was forfeited. Lexington wound up the season by defeating Gothenburg, 3 to 0. In this game Lexington made much more yardage than Gothenburg and twice carried the ball to the Gothenburg 3-yard line only to lose it on a fumble.

"Ruddy" Richards, quarterback, "Chuck" Sampson, halfback, and "Dutch" Engler, fullback, are the leading players on the Lexmgton team this season.

Head of Western Claims Sioux City Given Raw Deal

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 4.—Minor league managers started their invasion of Louisville, last night to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, opening here Tuesday. Jack Lelivelt, manager of the pennant winning Tulsa, Okla., club of the western league, Clarence Rowland, former manager of the Columbus club, and a host of others were arrivals in the city.

President Tearney of the Western league, together with several club owners, will leave Monday night. Denied an appeal from Commissioner Landis' in the award of Eugene Elsh, outfielder of the Sioux City club, whom Landis awarded to the Chicago Americans, President Tearney announced last night that he had sent letters to the baseball advisory council asking whether the major-minor league agreement does not provide for an appeal from Commissioner Landis' rulings. Commissioner Landis said the by-laws did not provide for an appeal.

Elsh, who has been sold to the Pittsburgh Nationals for $10,000, was later awarded to the White Sox for $2,500, on the basis of a "second pick" contract made with Sioux City. The Sioux City club, Commissioner Landis said, failed to produce proof that any club had been given first pick.

Branded Student Admits Frameup

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 4.—William Sykes, ex-service man and federal board student of the University of California, southern branch, who became the center of a heated dispute between students of that institution and thos of the University of Southern California, when he was found bound and gagged, with the letters, "U. S. C." branded on his forehead with iodine, has confessed that the branding was a "frame up against the University of Southern California," according to a story printed today in the Los Angeles Times.

Sykes' reported confession, addressed to the student body of the University of California, states that its purpose is to, "as far as possible repair and rectify the irreparable injury done your institution by reason of being held responsible by the public for the branding of my face on October 22, 1922," and to "inform you that the branding was a frameup against the University of Southern California, Southern branch."

MYSTERY FIGHTER BETTER THAN JACK

Al Spink Declares Cricago Abode of Unknown Able to Defeat Dempsey.

BY AL SPINK.

In the last year or two I have seen nearly all the great fighters perform, light and heavies and all that, and long ago I concluded that not one of them was able to class with Jack Dempsey when it comes to all-round fighting.

I refer, of course, to the professional boxers. But outside of the professional ranks there is an amateur boxer and athlete that I know who I believe could whip all of the big professionals, including Dempsey, if he would only try.

The man I refer to does not weigh quite as much as Dempsey, but in the biceps and forearm, the tools that count most in a prize ring, he outmeasures the champion.

But, besides the measurements, which count much, there are other reasons why I believe this man a better man than the champion.

Unknown Lives in Chicago.

Why do I say this?

Well, because I have a very high opinion of the amateur I am talking about, and he lives in Chicago now to boot. He had not reached his majority when, several pears ago, he boxed a series of performances with Bob Fitzsimmons, and Fitz even then declared him the toughest customer he had ever tackled during the whole course of his long professional life.

It was in St. Louis one night a few years ago that the lanky Australian paid me a visit.

"Say now," said Bob, "I'm come to awsk a bit of a favor of you, old man I've arranged to give a series of exhibitions at the Avenue theater across the pond. They call it East St. Looey, I'm told, but, my word, it's a heap different lookin' to this other end of the town. Over here they'll let you knock a man's bliedin' 'ed off, they tell me, while 'ere they won't let you spar a round, even with the pillows.

"I 'adn't made hany arrangements to sparr over there, don't you understand? I expected to do nothing but go on with Julia and do our regular bit, but when I gets there the bleedin' boss of the harrangements tells me my contract calls for a sparrin' hexlibition and that they 'ave to 'ave it.

Bob Wants Sparring Partner.

"Now, I 'ave no sparrin' partner with me. Julia wouldn't let me 'ave one if I wanted to. But I've got to get some one to go on with me, or walk back to Chicago, for I forget to buy me round trips. Now say, old man, cawn't you tip me off to a sparrin' partner? I don't care 'ow bad he is, just so he can punch a little bit and keep at me. I won't muss even a 'air of 'is 'ed."

I told Bob there was only one man in St. Louis at that time fit and able to make any sort of an exhibition with him. But the gentleman I referred to was an amateur in the strict sense of the word. Then, too, he came from one of the oldest and best families in St. Louis, and they would be awfully shocked at the idea of him boxing with a man of the reputation of the Cornishman.

"But, old man, they'll never get next to what we're pullin' off across the pond," came back Ruby Robert. "They don't go to such places, my word, and we don't let 'em hin if they do.

Promised to Go Easy.

"Just give me a hintroduction to your amateur friend. My word, I can harrange it with 'im nicely and readily."

An so I introduced Bob to my friend, and the two went on at the Avenue, and, oh, boy, how the fur flew.

It was the third of fourth night of the Fitzsimmons-Julia Gifford engagement in the East St. Louis theater that Bob put in an appearance at the newspaper office.

"I say, old man," says Bob this time. "I've often heard as you were a spoofer, but I didn't think you'd do anything like that to an old friend like your truly. My word, I didn't I say, now, no kiddin' or larkin' who is he? My word, tell me the truth now. It's not Darcy, just in from the hold country, is it? I've 'eard of 'im. Lor', but he's a tough bird!

"I couldn't sleep after the first night I went on with 'im. Say, 'e 'it me 'arder than big Jeff 'it me. I'm sore all over from 'is 'ard knocks. Another night or two and I'll be in the 'ospital or in me grave, I say, old man, cawn't you get me another sparrin' partner?"

I told Bob I'd try, but I didn't. But some time afterward I met him again And he said:

"'Ows your young friend? My word, but what a foighter 'e is! I honestly thoink 'e could put away Jeff, Johnson and me in a single night if 's would honly try. As for my part of it—my word for it—he shawn't do any trying with me. I'm lucky to be 'ere to tell as 'ow 'e did it.

"An amachure, eh? My word, I don't believe it."

REDS SHOW UP AS FLAG CONTENDERS

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

(Copyright 1922, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.).

Pat Moran believes in beating the rest of the boys to it. Hit 'em first and explain afterward, is his motto. Pat is claiming the National league pennant for 1923. He says his Reds will either beat the field in the National league or know why. That's getting a running start on the rest of them by about six months.

Seven other managers in the league won't have anything to say about the 1923 race until along about next February. Pat has it won already.

Pitching and a fast, young, hustling team will bring the Reds down in front, according to his idea.

"I've got them now," says Pat, referring to the pitchers, "but they are just coming along. By next year, Couch, Keck and Gillespie will be standing the league on its head. The rest of the staff will be Donahue, Rixey and Luque and if that bunch can't win, then I don't know anything about this pastime.

Three Stars in Infield.

"The rest of the team shapes up with the best of them right now. My three young infielders, Pinelli, Caveney and Fonseca were just good enough last summer to keep a couple of likely lads like Bohne and Kimmick sitting around on the bench. Daubert may be getting old, but he was playing better ball last summer than he ever did. But if Jake should slip badly, I'll stick Fonseca on first and Bohne on second. Let's see you beat that infield. You can't do it with a horsewhip.

"My outfield is Roush, Burns and Duncan and I wouldn't trade it for all the outfielders in the league. Hargrave is a first-class catcher. I don't see why I should worry. I've got enough gray hair now."

Right or wrong on his predictions, the old boy certainly has something to talk about when he starts in on that Red outfit. No greater tribute can be given his managerial ability than that to be found in the standing of the clubs today.

Old Reds Spoiled by Success.

The Cincinnati Reds were one of the worst looking bets in baseball when they started the 1921 campaign. They had won the pennant and worlds' title under Moran in 1919, had gotten out of hand the following year and were no good to anyone, least of all themselves, and between seasons the infield was dismantled by trades which sent Groh and Kopf elsewhere and the outfield almost wrecked by Roush's failure to come to terms.

All that remained of the championship machine was Daubert, Duncan, Neale, Luque, Bressler and Wingo, and of these, only Duncan, Daubert and Luque were regulars.

Moran was being read out of the league last spring when the team dropped something like twelve out of tis first thirteen games. It wasn't his fault, they said, that the team was sold from under him but Pat was getting too old to work with patience on a crowd of youngsters such as the Reds had lined up.

Then Came the Miracle.

Then the miracle. Pinelli and Caveney suddenly found themselves; so did Couch and the rest of the young pitchers. George Burns, off to an indifferent start, began to hit something like his normal stride and the Reds started to win. It is a matter of history that they finished second.

Even Roush, the best outfielder in the National league, was not seriously missed. When Ed and the club finally got together, the outfielder was allowed to sit on the bench so that he could condition himself gradually. He wasn't especially needed.

A good chance next year for the Reds? Sure. None better.

Siki Suspension May Lead to Suits In French Courts

(Associated Press.)

PARIS, Dec. 4.—"The affaire Siki" surrounding the big Senegalese prize fighter who won the light heavyweight championship of the world by defeating Georges Carpentier, but recently was deprived of the title by the boxing federation and also was denied the right to engage in pugilistic contests for nine months, is to threshed out before the courts.

Complete investigation of the circumstances surrounding the Carpentier-Siki fight, which the Senegalese deputy, Diagne, characterized in the chamber of deputies last week in open debate as "an open frameup," is to be made by a civil tribunal

The boxing federation has called a special meeting for Monday afternoon to discuss accusations made against it by Deputy Diagne and announces that it will take legal procedure for damages against the deputy. On the other hand, Diagne himself has engaged counsel to sue the federation to obtain the rehabilitation of Siki and to prevent the federation from placing the Senegalese fighter in the position of being unable to earn a living.

DIAMOND SPORT HEALTH BUILDER

Every Member of Chicago Team of 1875 in Land of the Living.

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—At the meeting of the Old Timers' Baseball association, held in the Great Northern hotel in Chicago the other night, a most remarkable incident took place.

It happened when the secretary called the roll of the Chicago Blue Stockings team of 1875, and every man of that nine that played baseball on the Chicago prairies in the year named, forty-seven years ago, responded to the call.

The incident showed what baseball is in the way of building up sturdy and long-lived men.

Everyone Answered Roll Call.

The men who answered the roll call and who played on the Blues that long ago, and who are now going to the ball games steadily are such well-known business men of Chicago as James Forrest, in the interior decorating business, catcher; John S. Burke, president of the Aldine Printing company, pitcher; Edward Scanlon, leading confectioner of Chicago, first base; H. Gillespie, prominent butcher, whose home is at Riverside, Ill., second base; M. Turner, city official, third base; James Rankin, merchant of Chicago, shortstop; Frank Scanlon, for many years general traffic manager for the Goodrich line; left field, Frank McOsker, center field and W. Turner, right field.

Blues Issue Challenge.

The Blue Stocking team challenges any other nine, playing in Chicago in 1875, or before then, to present a personnel today that will compare with the above.

Soon after the roll call of the Blues of 1875, John S. Burke, who was the crack pitcher of the nine in the long ago, presented the following line-up as the greatest "All-Time Club" in batting ever in professional baseball at any period of the game and he sure present a wonderful combination:

All-Time Club—Batting.

Name	Team	Year	Games	Ave.
Ferguson, p.	Phila.	1887	61	.412
White, c.,	Boston	1873	60	.401
Anson, 1b,	Chicago	1887	122	.421
Lajoie, 2b,	Cleveland	1901	131	.422
McGraw, 3b,	Baltimore	1899	112	.390
Jennings, ss	Baltimore	1986	129	.391
Burkett, lf,	Cleveland	1895	132	.423
Duffy, cf,	Boston	1894	124	.438
Keeler, rf,	Baltimore	1897	128	.432

"I challenge any one," said Mr. Burke, to present a team to match the above when it comes to hitting.

"First of all, cast your eyes on the battery. Ferguson of the Phillies, who died while in his prime, besides being a wonderful pitcher, the leading flinger of the National league in 1887, was also a terrific left-handed batsman. He was perhaps the greatest pitcher that ever lived. He could throw a ball with terrific speed and he had absolute control at all times.

Neither Mask Nor Glove.

"Jim White, who I have selected as the greatest batting catcher, played without mask or glove for the Forest Citys Cleveland in the '60s," continued Mr. Burke," and he then handled the speediest pitching origade without using mask or glove.

"Twenty years later he was still catching and in the National league, equipped with the modern protective devices. With the great batsmen of the latter period he was easily holding his own for he was a terrific left-handed batsman. White still alive, and living at Aurora, is coming down from there to attend the Old-Timers' banquet at the Great Northern hotel, Chicago, on Oct. 18.

Anson a Great Batter.

"You all know the kind of a batsman Anson was. He was the leading batsman of the National, in fact for twenty years.

CONTROL BOARD MEETS TUESDAY

Hastings Offers Field For Game is Neutral Grid is Desired.

A meeting of the Nebraska interscholastic board of athletic control will be held in Lincoln Tuesday morning. Representatives of Lincoln and Kearney high schools will be present at the meeting and selection will be made of the scene of the state title combat.

Reports from Kearney indicate that the Buffalo county fans are making elaborate plans to stage the game in the event Kearney should win the toss. Additional bleachers will be erected to care for the crowd should Kearney be selected as the scene of the game.

In the event the game comes to Lincoln the two teams will meet on Nebraska Field. The University of Nebraska athletic management has delayed taking down the stands until the scene of the high school game has been selected.

Beatrice and Columbus bid for the game last week. Monday an offer was received from Supt. A. H. Staley of Hastings high school inviting the two elevens to play in the Adams county seat. A Hastings dispatch follows:

Hastings Issues Invitation.

HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 4.—Hastings has entered a bid for the Kearney-Lincoln state high championship game which is to be played next Friday. Superintendent A. H. Staley of Hastings high school has telegraphed both Principal H. P. Shepherd of Lincoln high and Superintendent O. A. Wirsig of Kearney, inviting the teams to play here on neutral ground.

The points in favor of Hastings over other cities that might bid for the game are that it is centrally located, has good railroad connections between both Kearney and Lincoln, and use of the Hastings college gridiron has already been assured.

Kearney is known to have a preference for the Hastings field if it cannot arrange to play on their own.

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 4.—Jimmy Murphy won the 250-mile champion automobile race Sunday at the Beverly Hills speedway, completing 200 laps of 1 1-4 oval in two hours, ten minutes and fifty-three and three-tenths seconds. Earl Cooper took second place and Harry Hartz finished third.

Murphy averaged 114.6 miles an hour, or 3.4 miles faster than the record he set on a 1 1-4 mile oval at San Francisco last year, when he completed 250 miles at an average speed of 111.2 miles an hour. Murphy won by less than a car length, with three other drivers within twenty feet of him at the finish.

Harry Hartz cheated death but was himself cheated out of second place when, in a desperate effort to nose ahead of Cooper in the final sweep past the stand, his car skidded, spun around and crashed into the wall along the grandstand, bouncing back into the course and across the line just behind Cooper.

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—There is just one set formula to be followed in selecting an all-star team of any kind, and it is quite brief and to the point, towit:

Disregard your sense of humor, if any.

As we write this, we have at hand the first all-eastern selections to appear in print. They make absolutely not the slightest mention of Gouinlock of Cornell, who looked like the best end of eastern campaign in the Penn game last week. It only serves to emphasize the point that this selection business is a catch-as-catch-can enterprise at best.

Wherein the Critics Blunder.

That was an honest difference of opinion. It is not always so, however. It may be noted, as time goes on, that few players from the Navy, Penn State, Lafayette, Pittsburgh and W. & J. will appear on the teams named. Do not be affronted. It is only a part of the system that calls for critics to follow the obvious in selecting only players in winning teams. Apparently a man, however accomplished, cannot hope to play good football for a loser.

In extenuation of any breach of good eyesight, we may have seemed to commit in setting forth our various choices, we will say that nine of them are the result of personal observation and two others purely hearsay.

Picks On Two on Hearsay.

We have been informed by many experts, however, that Gulian of Brown, is the best tackle and Hewitt of Pittsburgh the best line cracker in eastern football. Therefore, they are named as a concession to the conventions.

Others might also be added, but we have no intention of qualifying as sight-unseen expert. Therefore, it is with regret that not a single member of the undefeated team from West Virginia is mentioned.

The selection of Gray of Princeton at end, Gross of Yale at guard; Garbisch of Army at center, and Owen of Harvard and Kaw of Cornell in the back field was pre-ordained.

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Physicians today were watching closely the condition of Herschel McKee, racer, and Hugh Curley, his mechanician, the only victims yestreday of the automobile race at the Los Angeles speedway which was won by Jimmy Murphy. McKee and Curley, it was said, were more seriously injured than was at first thought.

The accident to McKee and Curley came before the actual start of the race and when McKee and Joe Thomas, another racer, were tuning up their cars for the contest. McKee's car chashed into the other in some unexplained manner and McKee and Curley were carried off the speedway seriously injured. McKee injuries were not believed to be serious enough to prove fatal, physicians said, but Curley was thought to have suffered a basal fracture of the skull and internal inpuries.

Murphy completed the 250 miles in 2:10:53.1, or an average speed of 114.6 miles an hour. By this speed he broke his own previous record made at the San Carlos track, where he completed the same distance at an average speed of 112.2 miles.

Annual Nuisance Again Intrudes

The annual nuisance is loose—the picker of mythical all-star football teams. Despite the fact that the Nebraska Cornhuskers decisively demonstrated they are the "class" of the Missouri Valley conference, the self-appointed "experts" are handing out individual laurels to players on other elevens who could not "make" the varsity at Nebraska.

E. W. Cochrane of the Kansas City Journal-Post bobs up with the first all-Valley selection. He nominates only four Nebraskans—Weller, Peterson, Hartley and Noble—for his first-all-Valley lineup, putting Scherer, Wenke and Preston on his second team. Such sterling Cornhusker players as Schoeppel, Berquist, Bassett, Lewellen, Herb Dewitz and Russell are ignored.

Kicking the ball right over the crossbar, the hard-boiled facts of the Valley conference situation are that the first all-Valley team rightfully comprises every member of the team which indisputably establishes itself as the conference champion. That team, of course, is the Nebraska team. Any other verdict is plain bunk.

LEXINGTON FANS SHOW OPTIMISM

Lose Only Four Veterans; Plan to Cop Bunting Next Season.

LEXINGTON, Neb., Dec. 4.—Win the 1923 Nebraska high school football championship, is the cry at Lexington. Having placed a strong team in the field this year, Lexington will lose only four of its veterans next season.

Lexington high won all but two games the past season, Aurora and Kearney being the only elevens to lift the locals' scalp. The North Platte game was forfeited. Lexington wound up the season by defeating Gothenburg, 3 to 0. In this game Lexington made much more yardage than Gothenburg and twice carried the ball to the Gothenburg 3-yard line only to lose it on a fumble.

"Ruddy" Richards, quarterback, "Chick" Sampson, halfback, and "Dutch" Engler, fullback, are the leading players on the Lexington team this season.

(Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 4.—Minor league managers started their invasion of Louisville, last night to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, opening here Tuesday. Jack Lelivelt, manager of the pennant winning Tulsa, Okla., club of the western league, Clarence Rowland, former manager of the Columbus club, and a host of others were arrivals in the city.

President Tearney of the Western league, together with several club owners, will leave Monday night. Denied an appeal from Commisioner Landis' in the award of Eugene Elsh, outfielder of the Sioux City club, whom Landis awarded to the Chicago Americans, President Tearney announced last night that he had sent letters to the baseball advisory council asking whether the major-minor league agreement does not provide for an appeal from Commissioner Landis' rulings. Commissioner Landis said the by-laws did not provide for an appeal.

Elsh, who has been sold to the Pittsburgh Nationals for $10,000, was later awarded to the White Sox for $2,500, on the basis of a "second pick" contract made with Sioux City. The Sioux City club, Commissioner Landis said, failed to produce proof that any club had been given first pick.

Branded Student Admits Frameup

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 4.—William Sykes, ex-service man and federal board student of the University of California, southern branch, who became the center of a heated dispute between students of that institution and thos of the University of Southern California, when he was found bound and gagged, with the letters, "U. S. C." branded on his forehead with iodine, has confessed that the branding was a "frame up against the University of Southern California," according to a story printed today in the Los Angeles Times.

Sykes' reported confession, addressed to the student body of the University of California, states that its purpose is to, "as far as possible repair and rectify the irreparable injury done your institution by reason of being held responsible by the public for the branding of my face on October 22, 1922," and to "inform you that the branding was a frameup against the University of Southern California, Southern branch."

MYSTERY FIGHTER BETTER THAN JACK

BY AL SPINK.

In the last year or two I have seen nearly all the great fighters perform, light and heavies and all that, and long ago I concluded that not one of them was able to class with Jack Dempsey when it comes to all-round fighting.

I refer, of course, to the professional boxers. But outside of the professional ranks there is an amateur boxer and athlete that I know who I believe could whip all of the big professionals, including Dempsey, if he would only try.

The man I refer to does not weigh quite as much as Dempsey, but in the biceps and forearm, the tools that count most in a prize ring, he outmeasures the champion.

But, besides the measurements, which count much, there are other reasons why I believe this man a better man than the champion.

Unknown Lives in Chicago.

Why do I say this?

Well, because I have a very high opinion of the amateur I am talking about, and he lives in Chicago now to boot. He had not reached his majority when, several pears ago, he boxed a series of performances with Bob Fitzsimmons, and Fitz even then declared him the toughest customer he had ever tackled during the whole course of his long professional life.

It was in St. Louis one night a few years ago that the lanky Australian paid me a visit.

"Say now," said Bob, "I'm come to awsk a bit of a favor of you, old man I've arranged to give a series of exhibitions at the Avenue theater across the pond. They call it East St. Looey, I'm told, but, my word, it's a heap different lookin' to this other end of the town. Over here they'll let you knock a man's blledin' 'ed off, they tell me, while 'ere they won't let you spar a round, even with the pillows.

"I 'adn't made hany arrangements to sparr over there, don't you understand? I expected to do nothing but go on with Julia and do our regular bit, but when I gets there the bleedin' boss of the harrangements tells me my contract calls for a sparrin' hexlibition and that they 'ave to 'ave it.

Bob Wants Sparring Partner.

"Now, I 'ave no sparrin' partner with me. Julia wouldn't let me 'ave one if I wanted to. But I've got to get some one to go on with me, or walk back to Chicago, for I forget to buy me round trips. Now say, old man, cawn't you tip me off to a sparrin' partner? I don't care 'ow bad he is, just so he can punch a little bit and keep at me. I won't muss even a 'air of 'is 'ed."

I told Bob there was only one man in St. Louis at that time fit and able to make any sort of an exhibition with him. But the gentleman I referred to was an amateur in the strict sense of the word. Then, too, he came from one of the oldest and best families in St. Louis, and they would be awfully shocked at the idea of him boxing with a man of the reputation of the Cornishman.

"But, old man, they'll never get next to what we're pullin' off across the pond," came back Ruby Robert. "They don't go to such places, my word, and we don't let 'em hin if they do.

Promised to Go Easy.

"Just give me a hintroduction to your amateur friend. My word, I can harrange it with 'im nicely and readily."

An so I introduced Bob to my friend, and the two went on at the Avenue, and, oh, boy, how the fur flew.

It was the third of fourth night of the Fitzsimmons-Julia Gifford engagement in the East St. Louis theater that Bob put in an appearance at the newspaper office.

"I say, old man," says Bob this time. "I've often heard as you were a spoofer, but I didn't think you'd do anything like that to an old friend like your truly. My word, I didn't I say, now, no kiddin' or larkin' who is he? My word, tell me the truth now. It's not Darcy, just in from the hold country, is it? I've 'eard of 'im. Lor', but he's a tough bird!

"I couldn't sleep after the first night I went on with 'im. Say, 'e 'it me 'arder than big Jeff 'it me. I'm sore all over from 'is 'ard knocks. Another night or two and I'll be in the 'ospital or in me grave, I say, old man, cawn't you get me another sparrin' partner?"

I told Bob I'd try, but I didn't. But some time afterward I met him again And he said:

"'Ows your young friend? My word, but what a foighter 'e is! I honestly thoink 'e could put away Jeff, Johnson and me in a single night if 's would honly try. As for my part of it—my word for it—ne shawn't do any trying with me. I'm lucky to be 'ere to tell as 'ow 'e did it.

"An amachure, eh? My word, I don't believe it."

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

(Coppyright 1922, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Pat Moran believes in beating the rest of the boys to it. Hit 'em first and explain afterward, is his motto. Pat is claiming the National league pennant for 1923. He says his Reds will either beat the field in the National league or know why. That's getting a running start on the rest of them by about six months.

Seven other managers in the league won't have anything to say about the 1923 race until along about next February. Pat has it won already.

Pitching and a fast, young, hustling team will bring the Reds down in front, according to his idea.

"I've got them now," says Pat, referring to the pitchers, "but they are just coming along. By next year, Couch, Keck and Gillespie will be standing the league on its head. The rest of the staff will be Donahue, Rixey and Luque and if that bunch can't win, then I don't know anything about this pastime.

Three Stars in Infield.

"The rest of the team shapes up with the best of them right now. My three young infielders, Pinelli, Caveney and Fonseca were just good enough last summer to keep a couple of likely lads like Bohne and Kimmick sitting around on the bench. Daubert may be getting old, but he was playing better ball last summer than he ever did. But if Jake should slip badly, I'll stick Fonseca on first and Bohne on second. Let's see you beat that infield. You can't do it with a horsewhip.

"My outfield is Roush, Burns and Duncan and I wouldn't trade it for all the outfielders in the league. Hargrave is a first-class catcher. I don't see why I should worry. I've got enough gray hair now."

Right or wrong on his predictions, the old boy certainly has something to talk about when he starts in on that Red outfit. No greater tribute can be given his managerial ability than that to be found in the standing of the clubs today.

Old Reds Spoiled by Success.

The Cincinnati Reds were one of the worst looking bets in baseball when they started the 1921 campaign. They had won the pennant and worlds' title under Moran in 1919, had gotten out of hand the following year and were no good to anyone, least of all themselves, and between seasons the infield was dismantled by trades which sent Groh and Kopf elsewhere ,and the outfield almost wrecked by Roush's failure to come to terms.

All that remained of the championship machine was Daubert, Duncan, Neale, Luque, Bressler and Wingo, and ,of these, only Duncan, Daubert and Luque were regulars.

Moran was being read out of the league last spring when the team dropped something like twelve out of tis first thirteen games. It wasn't his fault, they said, that the team was sold from under him but Pat was getting too old to work with patience on a crowd of youngsters such as the Reds had lined up.

Then Came the Miracle.

Then the miracle. Pinelli and Caveney suddenly found themselves; so did Couch and the rest of the young pitchers. George Burns, off to an indifferent start, began to hit something like his normal stride and the Reds started to win. It is a matter of history that they finished second.

Even Roush ,the best outfielder in the National league, was not seriously missed. When Ed and the club finally got together, the outfielder was allowed to sit on the bench so that he could condition himself gradually. He wasn't especially needed.

Siki Suspension May Lead to Suits In French Courts

(Associated Press.)

PARIS, Dec. 4.—"The affaire Siki" surrounding the big Senegalese prize fighter who won the light heavyweight championship of the world by defeating Georges Carpentier, but recently was deprived of the title by the boxing federation and also was denied the right to engage in pugilistic contests for nine months, is to threshed out before the courts.

Complete investigation of the circumstances surrounding the Carpentier-Siki fight, which the Senegalese deputy, Diagne, characterized in the chamber of deputies last week in open debate as "an open frameup," is to be made by a civil tribunal.

The boxing federation has called a special meeting for Monday afternoon to discuss accusations made against it by Deputy Diagne and announces that it will take legal procedure for damages against the deputy. On the other hand, Diagne himself has engaged counsel to sue the federation to obtain the rehabilitation of Siki and to prevent the federation from placing the Senegalese fighter in the position of being unable to earn a living.

DIAMOND SPORT HEALTH BUILDER

CHICAGO, Dec. 4.—At the meeting of the Old Timers' Baseball association, held in the Great Northern hotel in Chicago the other night, a most remarkable incident took place.

It happened when the secretary called the roll of the Chicago Blue Stockings team of 1875, and every man of that nine that played baseball on the Chicago prairies in the year named, forty-seven years ago, responded to the call.

The incident showed what baseball is in the way of building up sturdy and long-lived men.

Everyone Answered Roll Call.

The men who answered the roll call and who played on the Blues that long ago, and who are now going to the ball games steadily are such well-known business men of Chicago as James Forrest, in the interior decorating business, catcher; John S. Burke, president of the Aldine Printing company, pitcher; Edward Scanlon, leading confectioner of Chicago, first base; H. Gillespie, prominent butcher, whose home is at Riverside, Ill., second base; M. Turner, city official, third base; James Rankin, merchant of Chicago, shortstop; Frank Scanlon, for many years general traffic manager for the Goodrich line; left field; Frank McOsker, center field and W. Turner, right field.

Blues Issue Challenge.

The Blue Stocking team challenges any other nine, playing in Chicago in 1875, or before then, to present a personnel today that will compare with the above.

Soon after the roll call of the Blues of 1875, John S. Burke, who was the crack pitcher of the nine in the long ago, presented the following line-up as the greatest "All-Time Club" in batting ever in professional baseball at any period of the game and he sure present a wonderful combination:

All-Time Club—Batting.

Name	Team	Year	Games	Ave
Ferguson, p.	Phila.	1887	61	.412
White, c.	Boston	1873	60	.401
Anson, 1b.	Chicago	1887	122	.421
Lajoie, 2b.	Cleveland	1901	131	.422
McGraw, 3b.	Baltimore	1899	112	.390
Jennings, ss.	Baltimore	1986	129	.391
Burkett, lf.	Cleveland	1895	132	.423
Duffy, cf.	Boston	1894	124	.438
Keeler, rf.	Baltimore	1897	128	.432

"I challenge any one," said Mr. Burke, to present a team to match the above when it comes to hitting.

"First of all, cast your eyes on the battery. Ferguson of the Phillies, who died while in his prime, besides being a wonderful pitcher, the leading flinger of the National league in 1887, was also a terrific left-handed batsman. He was perhaps the greatest pitcher that ever lived. He could throw a ball with terrific speed and he had absolute control at all times.

Neither Mask Nor Glove.

"Jim White, who I have selected as the greatest batting catcher, played without mask or glove for the Forest Citys Cleveland in the '60s," continued Mr. Burke," and he then handled the speediest pitching brigade without using mask or glove.

"Twenty years later he was still catching and in the National league, equipped with the modern protective devices. With the great batsmen of the latter period he was easily holding his own for he was a terrific left-handed batsman. White still alive, and living at Aurora, is coming down from there to attend the Old-Timers' banquet at the Great Northern hotel, Chicago, on Oct. 18.

Asson a Great Batter.

"You all know the kind of a batsman Anson was. He was the leading batsman of the National, in fact for twenty years.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.

Professional speculators for the decline succeeded in temporarily halting the upward movement of prices in today's stock market, the extent of the recent advance having left the market in a weakened technical position which invited short selling. While weakness spread over a large part of the list, a number of issues were bid up above Saturday's closing prices for special reasons. Sales approximated 800,000 shares.

Closing prices in today's stock market were decidedly irregular, food, motor and coal shares being moderately strong, while oil and shipping shares were under pressure. Corn Products and Manati Sugar, each up 1 point, led the advance in food shares, while Studebaker stood out in the motor group with a similar gain. Burns Brothers A was pushed up 3½ to a new high record for the year. Other strong stocks were Woolworth, Baldwin, DuPont, American Tobacco, California Petroleum and American Ice, all up 1 to 2 points. Losses of a point or more took place in Marland and Houston Oils, Pan-American A and General Asphalt common and preferred. International Harvester broke 3¼ points, or 15 points below its high level of last week. Marine preferred and Utah Copper dropped 1¼ and General Electric 1. Foreign exchanges opened irregular.

The apparently poor quality of the buying power led professional traders to try some [illegible] short selling toward the end of the first hour. These offerings were not easily absorbed, encouraging operations on the short side which were extended to most of the list. The decline in active issues ranged from 1 to 3 points. Oil shares proved particularly vulnerable to selling pressure, Standard Oil of New Jersey and [illegible] General Asphalt preferred extending their losses to 3 points or more and Standard Oil of California to [illegible] [illegible] a rebound [illegible] [illegible] points on a revival of rumors regarding a proposed resumption of [illegible] International Harvester dropped back 2½ points below Saturday's close and [illegible] were recorded by [illegible] United States [illegible] Electric, Sears Roebuck, Gulf States Steel and Marine preferred. One of the bright spots of the morning was a new high for [illegible] touched [illegible].

[illegible] substantial part of the outstanding short interest on the recent advance left the market in a vulnerable position for further attacks and prices continued to give way in the early afternoon. Tobacco Products was depressed 2 points, Gulf States Steel 2¼, Sears-Roebuck and Standard Oil of California 2¼ and Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Consolidated Gas, Famous Players, Coca Cola, Republic Steel, People's Gas, United States Rubber and American Car 1 to 1¼. Union Tank Car jumped 11 points to 121, a new high figure for the year, on expectation of a large extra dividend.

The closing was irregular. The market [illegible] was partly checked again in the final hour when further buying [illegible] in Studebaker, Maxwell Motors A and a few other popular issues, but the general list [illegible] under the influence of short covering operations.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 4.

WHEAT—Large world's shipments, together with a liberal increase of the amount of wheat on ocean passage and a decline in Liverpool quotations, had a bearish effect on wheat today during the early dealings here. Sellers, however, were cautious, being deterred by advices of further rains in Argentina. Some uneasiness over European political conditions tended also to check decline. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ¾c lower, with May $1.15¾@1.16 and July $1.07½@1.07¾, was followed by a slight rally and then by another sag.

York stock market led to considerable selling of wheat, but the effect was later offset as a result of buying on the part of houses with export connections. The close was unsettled, ¾ to 1c net lower with May, $1.15¾@1.15⅞ and July $1.07¼.

CORN—Corn and oats, although relatively firm, were influenced by the weakness of wheat. Western demand for corn was said to be less urgent. After opening unchanged to ¼c higher, May 69⅝@69¾c, the corn market underwent a little setback all around.

Rural holders showed no general disposition to sell. The close was steady at half cent net decline to a shade advance, with May 69½@⅝c to 69⅝c.

OATS—Oats started at ⅛c off to a shade advance, May 42⅜@42⅝c, and later showed slight losses.

PROVISIONS—Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

Auto Club Member Recovers Stolen Car at City Hall

Two factors figured in foiling the thief, or thieves, who stole R. B. Elwell's Dodge sedan from near the Grace M. E. church during services Sunday night. One was the quick work of the Lincoln Automobile club and the other was the thief's choice of a parking space—directly in front of the city hall and police headquarters at University Place.

When Mr. Elwell found his car gone he immediately notified the police and the Auto club vigilance committee. C. H. Roper of University Place was telephoned. Not being able to get the police by phone, he walked to the station, where he found the car locked and parked.

No traces of the thief was discovered.

CHIEF OF STAFF SOUNDS WARNING

Pershing Talks On Preparedness as it Effects Standing of Nations.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 4.—Sounding a warning against unpreparedness, General John J. Pershing, in an address here today declared that we must "either support an adequate policy by reasonable investment or by false and petty economy yield our position in the world."

"The foe of reasonable preparedness is dangerous," General Pershing said, pointing out that pacifist influence was ever trying to reduce the nation's standing army.

"Militarism is an impossibility in this republic of ours," the general declared. "No, my friends, militarism does not threaten us, but it is the foe of reasonable preparedness who is dangerous. Who among us are less warlike or more patriotic than the 4,000,000 men who served their country in the cause of humanity?"

Our regular army is dangerously near the numbers the allies determined as equivalent to complete disarmament, General Pershing said. He compared our defense troops to the larger armies of other nations and discredited the theory that "a million men could spring to arms over night."

"The world war was a rude awakening through which we have learned that we are not really inaccessible or immune to foreign influence and that we may no longer close our eyes to events on other continents," the general declared. "The question then squarely before us," he continued "is whether we shall support an adequate policy by reasonable investment or by false and petty economy yield our position in the world and like China, become the football of fortune subject to dictation from abroad and possible disruption from within."

SONG WRITER AND PIANIST IS DEAD

(International News Service.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Bohemian circles of San Francisco were being turned upside down by detectives today in an effort to secure information which would clear the mystery surrounding the death of Harry Baratti, song writer and professional pianist.

His pretty wife, Agnes Christiana Baratti, former model and typist, charged with his murder by the police, maintained the same sphynx-like silence regarding herself and the case today that she did when police rushed to their apartment following the firing of three shots Sunday night.

Except to maintain it was a case of suicide, Mrs. Baratti has refused to make any other statement. Investigating her, police learned she had been a prominent figure in Bohemian life of the city and years ago was noted as a model in art circles.

George Sterling, well known Bohemian poet, whose photograph was among a number found in the Baratti apartment, said he had known her several years and had heard last from her several months ago when she called him up to tell him of her marriage. She had done his typing work from time to time, he said. He said he understood she had lived in Shanghai, China, for some time and had been married several times.

Baratti was shot three times. Finger marks on the revolver found by his side may solve the mystery of his death, police said.

Mrs. Baratti was to be arraigned in police court today on a murder charge.

Mexico Rescues British Subject

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—Federal troops have rescued H. W. Wereker, superintendent of the Aguila Oil company's camp at Tlacolua, Vera Cruze, who was kidnaped last Thursday and held for 10,000 pesos ransom, according to a war office announcement. He is a British subject. Teofilo Meza, leader of the bandits, was found dead after a skirmish with the federal troops at a ranch near Minatitlan during which Mr. Wereker escaped.

OBERLIES CLASS DISCUSSES BOARD

School Management and Expenditures Vigorously Discussed Sunday.

N. Z. Snell led the discussion favoring the present program. Mrs. Meiers, who has been acting principal of McKinley school, spoke in defense of the board, especially emphasizing that the "frills" such as music, art and sewing are primarily for those who could not otherwise afford them, and declared that these things are essential in a well rounded training. Supt. M. C. Lefler and C. B. Newlon were in the audience but did not take an active part.

Dr. W. L. Curtis, employed for part time by the school board, sharply resented the charges by James R. Burleigh that tonsil and vaccination operations are unnecessary and often do more damage than good. Mr. Burleigh took occasion to take a sharp crack at the American Medical association. Joseph Burns urged upon the board a "happy medium" of expenditure, deploring the expensive clock system in the new high school along with other unusual expenditures. W. N. Wood declared that a common man could get no audience with the board and had no opportunity to protest. Mr. Snell flatly contradicted this statement.

Mr. Oberlies strongly favored the school program, and said that the schools are the people's and should be used as community centers. He said further that he believes in entering into the school life, its activities and program, and declared that with his family of children put through the city schools it would be indeed poor taste for him to complain of taxes.

Next Sunday the topic will be "Do People Crave the Risque and Borderline in Pictures and Entertainment?" Lindell hotel 9:45 sharp. Men all invited. Community singing.

Discuss Plans For Raising Lincoln's Quota For Colleges

Plans for raising Lincoln's quota of $10,000 for colleges in the Orient were discussed by representatives from various Lincoln churches at a luncheon given Monday noon at the home of Miss Eleanor Miller, 655 South Seventeenth street.

Mrs. W. T. Elmore, national representative for the cause, gave a short talk telling how badly the colleges for women were needed in the Orient, and of the difficulty there had been in collecting funds for them. Mrs. Elmore was a missionary in India for fifteen years, and told some pathetic incidents and circumstances that would prove the need of education among women in India, China and Japan.

China and India each have three colleges for women at the present time, and Japan has one. There are millions of people in these countries who know nothing of religion or education, according to Mrs. Elmore.

Lincoln has $3,100 toward the quota so far. This amount was raised during Dr. Ida Scudder's visit to Lincoln some time ago.

Definite arrangements for the raising of the fund have not been made as yet, but there are to be several meetings during the next two weeks when it is thought pledges for the remaining amount will be given.

Alleged Stolen Goods Found in Raid at Fairbury

Five Mexican men and one women were lodged in the Jefferson county jail, following a raid on the "Mexican colony" at Fairbury by Deputy State Sheriffs Karl Schmitt and O. D. Hedge, Federal Agent Tom Carroll and Deputy U. S. Marshal J. C. McClung, assisted by Sheriff Tippins of Fairbury, Sunday afternoon.

A considerable quantity of liquor was seized and about $25,000 worth of stolen goods, comprising silks, shoes, overcoats, overalls, and other clothing, which had evidently been stolen from stores in Nebraska and Kansas was found, according to the officers.

State Sheriff Gus Hyers will ask County Attorney Rein that a complaint be filed against the six, charging them with having stolen goods in their possession, in addition to the liquor charges.

A law enforcement department is now seeking information from the various stores that have been robbed during the past few weeks, in an effort to have the recovered goods identified.

Obenchain Trial May Be Delayed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4—The third trial of Mrs. Madelynne C. Obenchain, of Evanston, Ill., for the murder of her former sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy, was set to begin in the superior court here today, but it was believed a postponement would be ordered because her counsel was engaged in trying another case.

The setting of the fourth trial of Arthur C. Burch, also of Evanston, jointly indicted with Mrs. Obenchain for the murder of the young broker, is on tomorrow's calendar.

PRICES ON SPUDS LOWER THIS YEAR

Only About Forty Per Cent of Crop Has Thus Far Been Moved.

ALLIANCE, Neb., Dec. 4.—The market news station of the U. S. department of agriculture and the Nebraska department of agriculture, cooperating, which has been located at Alliance since the middle of September issuing daily market reports on potatoes during the heavy shipping season for the western Nebraska crop, was closed December 2. Total shipments from western Nebraska to that date were 1800 cars, and this figure, according to local estimates, represents about 40 per cent of the crop. The quantity which will actually move is a matter which will depend to a considerable extent upon prices during the rest of the season. Shipment figures for the last four seasons indicate that normally a little over 60 per cent of the crop of this district is shipped by the end of November. This year the heavy crop over the country generally has depressed prices and demand, and a shortage of railroad equipment restricted the movement during October and November from producing districts all over the country.

The commercial production in western Nebraska was estimated October 1 as between 4,800 and 5,600 cars. Such an estimate showed an increase of only 15 per cent over last year's 4,200 cars. The acreage represented an increase of more than 45 per cent over 1921, but the unusually hot, dry season produced a poor yield in all parts of the district. This estimate was reduced, later, because of freezes in the third week of October, which eliminated nearly 5 per cent of the crop, including, besides the actual damage to the stock in pits and that still in the ground, many fields which were not dug at all on account of poor yield and freezing injury. It now remains for market prices to decide whether western Nebraska shipments shall exceed or fall short of the total reached last season.

Prices Were Lower.

City and shipping point prices have ranged about $1 per 100 lbs. lower than for the same period last year. The market for table stock has shown very little life. Many of the large city firms who buy outright in most seasons have followed the policy of handling potatoes only on consignment this season, and this has not been favorable to a good demand. From September 15 to October 15 the markets were dull, and October 15 to November 15 was a period of weak feeling and declining prices. A slight rally was shown then, and shipments fell off and supplies on track were reduced, but the firm tone lasted only a few days, and now the tone is dull again.

At shipping points highest prices were paid early in digging time. During September growers in western Nebraska received around 50 cents per 100 lbs. for well-sorted No. 2 Early Ohios, bulk in wagon lots, and fro 75 cents to 80 cents for No. 1 table Triumphs in the irrigated division, sacked and f. o. b. cars. The market for table stock weakened, with heavier shipping and lower prices in the cities, to around 40 cents for No. 2 Ohios and 75 cents for No. 1 Triumphs, and has remained about steady at those prices up to this time.

Sales of seed stock have been unusually late this year. Southern buyers were slow to name a definite price, and producers and shippers hesitated to set the market. Until the middle of November there was very little actual trading, although a number of buyers had visited the producing territory to "look around." But with only about six weeks left within which seed for southern planting must be on wheels, there is now a definite demand for seed Triumphs and there has been quite a volume of sales within the last ten days. Prices on uncertified dry-land Triumphs in carlots, sacked, f. o. b. shipping point, ranged all the way from $1 to $1.40 per 100 lbs. for the very few sales made for October and November delivery. Most sales of common seed stock for December and January being made in a range of $1.40 to $1.60 per 100 lbs., but there are a few as low at $1.35 and as high as $1.75. Sales by growers are reported on about thirty-five cars of certified seed Triumphs for December delivery, ranging from $1.75 to $2.00 per 100 lbs.

As usual, about 50 per cent of the shipments of the table crop from western Nebraska have gone to cities and towns in the east end of the state, and the other important receivers have been Iowa, Missouri and Kansas. The growth of the potato industry in South Dakota has eliminated several markets in that state which formerly used Nebraska stock. And the demand for Nebraska potatoes in Iowa has been limited to some extent by an surplus production there this year. hTe earlier shipments of seed have gone mostly to Texas and Louisiana, but a little later there will be a number of shipments to Oklahama and Arkansas.

OMAHA, Neb., Dec. 4.

CATTLE—Receipts, 11,000. In both quantity and quality, Monday's receipts of cattle were practically the same as a week ago. Strictly good to choice corn-fed beeves were conspicuously scarce and in good demand at steady prices. The same was true as to the best cows and heifers. On the general run of warmed up and short fed cattle, as well as on the western grass beeves, the market was dull and weak to 15 to 25c lower. Demand for stockers and feeders was decidedly brisk, and anything at all useful in this line found a ready sale at prices 10 to 15c higher than the close of last week.

HOGS—Receipts, 9,700. Lower reports from other principal markets and moderately heavy receipts enabled buyers to lower prices, the bulk of hogs moving 15 to 25c lower. Light hogs and butchers sold largely at $7.75@7.95, with a top of $8.00. Mixed loads moved at $7.50@7.65 and packing grades mostly at $7.25@7.50; bulk of sales was $7.65@7.95.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.

Professional speculators for the decline succeeded in temporary halting the upward movement of prices in today's stock market, the etxent of the recent advance having left the market in a weakened technical position which invitd short selling. While weakness spread over a large part of the list, a number of issues were bid up above Saturday's closing prices for special reasons. Sales approximated 800,000 shares.

Opening prices in today's stock market were decidedly irregular, food, motor and coal shares being moderately strong, while oil and shipping shares were under pressure. Corn Products and Manati Sugar, each up 1 point, led the advance in food shares, while Studebaker stood out in the motor group with a similar gains. Burns Brothers A was pushed up ¾ to a new high record for the year. Other strong spots were Woolworth, Baldwin, DuPont, American Tobacco, California Petroleum and American Ice, all up 1 to 2 points. Losses of a point or more took place in Mariand and Houston Oils, Pan-American A and General Asphalt common and preferred. International Harvester broke 3½ points, or 15 points below its high level of last week. Marine preferred and Utah each dropped 1¼ and General Electric 1. Foreign exchanged opened irregular.

The apparently poor quality of the buying power led professional traders to try some experimental short selling toward the end of the first hour. These offerings were not easily absorbd, encouraging operations on the short side which were extended over most of the list. Th declins in active issues ranged from 1 to 3 points. Oil shares proved particularly vunerable to selling pressure. Standard Oil of New Jersey, Mariand and General Asphalt, preferred extending their losses to 3 points or more and Standard Oil of California to 2. California Petroleum was a notable exception, rising 3 points on a revival of rumors regarding a proposed resumption of dividends. International Harvester slipped back 5½ points below Saturday's close and losses of 2 to 3 points were recorded by Fisher Body, United Retail Stores, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Gulf States Steel and Marine, preferred. On of th bright spots of the morning was a new high for demand sterling, which touched 452 13-16.

Call money opened at 5 per cent.

The hasty elimination of a substantial part of the outstanding short interest on the recent advance left the market in a vulnerable position for further attacks and prices continued to give way in the early afternoon. Fisher Body was depressed 7 poipnts, Gulf States Steel 2½, Sears-Roebuck and Standard Oil of California 3¼ and Northern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Consolidated Gas, Famous Players, Coca Cola, Republic Steel, People's Gas, United States Rubber and American Car 2 to 2½. Union Tank Car jumped 12 points to 132, a new high figure for the year, on expectation of a large extra dividend.

The closing was irregular. The reactionary tendency was partly checked again in the final hour when better buying power developed in Studbaker, Maxwell Motors, A, and a fw other popular issues, the general list rallying modrately under the influence of short covring operations.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 4.

WHEAT—Large world's shipments, together with a liberal increase of the amount of wheat on ocean passage and a decline in Liverpool quotations, had a bearish effect on wheat today during the early dealings here. Sellers, however, were cautious, being deterred by advices of further rains in Argentina. Some uneasiness over European political conditions tended also to check decline. The opening, which varied from unchanged figures to ⅝c lower, with May $1.15¾@1.16 and July $1.07½@1.07⅝, was followed by a slight rally and then by another sag. York stock market led to considerable selling of wheat, but the effect was later offset as a result of buying on the part of houses with export connections. The close was unsettled, ⅛ to 1c net lower with May, $1.15⅝@1.15½ and July $1.07⅛.

CORN—Corn and oats, although relatively firm, were influenced by the weakness of wheat. Western demand for corn was said to be less urgent. After opening unchanged to ¼c higher, May 69⅝@69¾c, the corn market underwent a little setback all around.

Rural holders showed no general disposition to sell. The close was steady at half cent net decline to a shade advance, with May 69½@⅝ to 69⅝c.

OATS—Oats started at ¼c off to a shade advance, May 42½@42⅝c, and later showed slight losses.

PROVISIONS—Lower quotations on hogs weakened provisions.

Auto Club Member Recovers Stolen Car at City Hall

Two factors figured in foiling the thief, or thieves, who stole R. B. Elwell's Dodge sedan from near the Grace M. E. church during services Sunday night. One was the quick work of the Lincoln Automobile club and the other was the thief's choice of a parking space—directly in front of the city hall and police headquarters at University Place.

When Mr. Elwell found his car gone he immediately notified the police and the Auto club vigilance committee. C. H. Roper of University Place was telephoned. Not being able to get the police by phone, he walked to the station, where he found the car locked and parked.

No traces of the thief was discovered.

CHIEF OF STAFF SOUNDS WARNING

Pershing Talks On Preparedness as it Effects Standing of Nations.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 4.—Sounding a warning against unpreparedness, General John J. Pershing, in an address here today declared that we must "either support an adequate policy by reasonable investment by false and petty economy yield our position in the world."

"The foe of reasonable preparedness is dangerous," General Pershing said, pointing out that pacifist influence was ever trying to reduce the nation's standing army.

"Militarism is an impossibility in this republic of ours," the general declared. "No, my friends, militarism does not threaten us, but it is the foe of reasonable preparedness who is dangerous. Who among us are less warlike or more patriotic than the 4,000,000 men who served their country in the cause of humanity?"

Ourregular army is dangerously near the numbers the allies determined as equivalent to complete disarmament, General Pershing said. He compared our defense troops to the larger armies of other nations and discredited the theory that "a million men could spring to arms over night."

"The world war was a rude awakening through which we have learned that we are not really inaccessible or immune to foreign influence and that we may no longer close our eyes to events on other continents," the general declared. "The question then squarely before us," he continued "is whether we shall support an adequate policy by reasonable investment or by false and petty economy yield our position in the world and like China, become the football of fortune subject to dictation from abroad and possible disruption from within."

SONG WRITER AND PIANIST IS DEAD

(International News Service.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4.—Bohemian circles of San Francisco were being turned upside down by detectives today in an effort to secure information which would clear the mystery surrounding the death of Harry Baratti, song writer and professional pianist.

His pretty wife, Agnes Christiana Baratti, former model and typist, charged with his murder by the police, maintained the same sphynx-like silence regarding herself and the case today that she did when police rushed to their apartment following the firing of three shots Sunday night.

Except to maintain it was a case of suicide, Mrs. Baratti has refused to make any other statement. Investigating her, police learned she had been a prominent figure in Bohemian life of the city and years ago was noted as a model in art circles.

George Sterling, well known Bohemian poet, whose photograph was among a number found in the Baratti apartment, said he had known her several years and had heard last from her several months ago when she called him up to tell him of her marriage. She had done his typing work from time to time, he said. He said he understood she had lived in Shanghai, China, for some time and had been married several times.

Baratti was shot three times. Finger marks on the revolver found by his side may solve the mystery of his death, police said.

Mrs. Baratti was to be arraigned in police court today on a murder charge.

Mexico Rescues British Subject

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—Federal troops have rescued H. W. Wereker, superintendent of the Aguila Oil company's camp at Tlacolua, Vera Cruze, who was kidnaped last Thursday and held for 10,000 pesos ransom, according to a war office announcement. He is a British subject. Teofilo Meza, leader of the bandits, was found dead after a skirmish with the federal troops at a ranch near Minatitlan during which Mr. Wereker escaped.

OBERLIES CLASS DISCUSSES BOARD

School Management and Expenditures Vigorously Discussed Sunday.

N. Z. Snell led the discussion favoring the present program. Mrs. Meiers, who has been acting principal of McKinley school, spoke in defense of the board, especially emphasizing that the "frills" such as music, art and sewing are primarily for those who could not otherwise afford them, and declared that these things are essential in a well rounded training. Supt. M. C. Lefler and C. B. Newlon were in the audience but did not take an active part.

Dr. W. L. Curtis, employed for part time by the school board, sharply resented the charges by James R. Burleigh that tonsil and vaccination operations are unnecessary and often do more damage than good Mr. Burleigh took occasion to take a sharp crack at the American Medical association. Joseph Burns urged upon the board a "happy medium" of expenditure, deploring the expensive clock system in the new high school along with other unusual expenditures. W. N. Wood declared that a common man could get no audience with the board and had no opportunity to protest. Mr. Snell flatly contradicted this statement.

Mr. Oberlies strongly favored the school program, and said that the schools are the people's and should be used as community centers. He said further that he believes in entering into the school life, its activities and program and declared that with his family of children put through the city schools it would be indeed poor taste for him to complain of taxes.

Next Sunday the topic will be "Do People Crave the Risque and Borderline in Pictures and Entertainment?" Lindell hotel, 9:45 sharp. Men all invited. Community singing.

Discuss Plans For Raising Lincoln's Quota For Colleges

Plans for raising Lincoln's quota of $10,000 for colleges in the Orient were discussed by representatives from various Lincoln churches at a luncheon given Monday noon at the home of Miss Eleanor Miller, 658 South Seventeenth street.

Mrs. W. T. Elmore, national representative for the cause, gave a short talk telling how badly the colleges for women were needed in the Orient, and of the difficulty there had been in collecting funds for them. Mrs. Elmore was a missionary in India for fifteen years, and told some pathetic incidents and circumstances that would prove the need of education among women in India, China and Japan.

China and India each have three colleges for women at the present time, and Japan has one. There are millions of people in these countries who know nothing of religion or education, according to Mrs. Elmore.

Lincoln has $3,100 toward the quota so far. This amount was raised during Dr. Ida Scudder's visit to Lincoln some time ago.

Definite arrangements for the raising of the fund have not been made as yet, but there are to be several meetings during the next two weeks when it is thought pledges for the remaining amount will be given.

Alleged Stolen Goods Found in Raid at Fairbury

Five Mexican men and one women were lodged in the Jefferson county jail, following a raid on the "Mexican colony" at Fairbury by Deputy State Sheriffs Karl Schmitt and O. D. Hedge, Federal Agent Tom Carroll and Deputy U. S. Marshal J. C. McClung, assisted by Sheriff Tippins of Fairbury, Sunday afternoon.

A considerable quantity of liquor was seized and about $25,000 worth of stolen goods, comprising silks, shoes, overcoats, overalls, and other clothing, which had evidently been stolen from stores in Nebraska and Kansas was found, according to the officers.

State Sheriff Gus Hyers will ask County Attorney Rein that a complaint be filed against the six, charging them with having stolen goods in their possession, in addition to the liquor charges.

A law enforcement department is now seeking information from the various stores that have been robbed during the past few weeks, in an effort to have the recovered goods identified.

Obenchain Trial May Be Delayed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4—The third trial of Mrs. Madelynne C. Obenchain, of Evanston, Ill., for the murder of her former sweetheart, J. Belton Kennedy, was set to begin in the superior court here today, but it was believed a postponement would be ordered because her counsel was engaged in trying another case.

The setting of the fourth trial of Arthur C. Burch, also of Evanston, jointly indicted with Mrs. Obenchain for the murder of the young broker, is on tomorrow's calendar.

PRICES ON SPUDS LOWER THIS YEAR

Only About Forty Per Cent of Crop Has Thus Far Been Moved.

ALLIANCE, Neb., Dec. 4.—The market news station of the U. S. department of agriculture and the Nebraska department of agriculture, cooperating, which has been located at Alliance since the middle of September issuing daily market reports on potatoes during the heavy shipping season for the western Nebraska crop, was closed December 2. Total shipments from western Nebraska to that date were 1800 cars, and this figure, according to local estimates, represents about 40 per cent of the crop. The quantity which will actually move is a matter which will depend to a considerable extent upon prices during the rest of the season. Shipment figures for the last four seasons indicate that normally a little over 60 per cent of the crop of this district is shipped by the end of November. This year the heavy crop over the country generally has depressed prices and demand, and a shortage of railroad equipment restricted the movement during October and November from producing districts all over the country.

The commercial production in western Nebraska was estimated October 1 as between 4,800 and 5,000 cars. Such an estimate showed an increase of only 15 per cent over last year's 4,300 cars. The acreage represented an increase of more than 45 per cent over 1921, but the unusually hot, dry season produced a poor yield in all parts of the district. This estimate was reduced, later, because of freezes in the third week of October, which eliminated nearly 5 per cent of the crop, including, besides the actual damage to the stock in pits and that still in the ground, many fields which were not dug at all on account of poor yield and freezing injury. It now remains for market prices to decide whether western Nebraska shipments shall exceed or fall short of the total reached last season.

Prices Were Lower.

City and shipping point prices have ranged about $1 per 100 lbs. lower than for the same period last year. The market for table stock has shown very little life. Many of the large city firms who buy outright in most seasons have followed the policy of handling potatoes only on consignment this season, and this has not been favorable to a good demand. From September 15 to October 15 the markets were dull, and October 15 to November 15 was a period of weak feeling and declining prices. A slight rally was shown then, and shipments fell off and supplies on track were reduced, but the firm tone lasted only a few days, and now the tone is dull again.

At shipping points highest prices were paid early in digging time. During September growers in western Nebraska received around 50 cents per 100 lbs. for well-sorted No. 2 Early Ohios, bulk in wagon lots, and fro 75 cents to 80 cents for No. 1 table Triumphs in the irrigated division, sacked and f. o. b. cars. The market for table stock weakened, with heavier shipping and lower prices in the cities, to around 40 cents for No. 2 Ohios and 70 cents for No. 1 Triumphs, and has remained about steady at those prices up to this time.

Sales of seed stock have been unusually late this year. Southern buyers were slow to name a definite price, and producers and shippers hesitated to set the market. Until the middle of November there was very little actual trading, although a number of buyers had visited the producing territory to "look around." But with only about six weeks left within which seed for southern planting must be on wheels, there is now a definite demand for seed Triumphs and there has been quite a volume of sales within the last ten days. Prices on uncertified dryland Triumphs in carlots, sacked, f. o. b. shipping point, ranged all the way from $1 to $1.40 per 100 lbs. for the very few sales made for October and November delivery. Most sales of common seed stock for December and January being made in a range of $1.40 to $1.60 per 100 lbs., but there are a few as low at $1.35 and as high as $1.75 Sales by growers are reported on about thirty-five cars of certified seed Triumphs for December delivery, ranging from $1.77 to $2.00 per 100 lbs.

As usual, about 50 per cent of the shipments of the table crop from western Nebraska have gone to cities and towns in the east end of the state, and the other important receivers have been Iowa, Missouri and Kansas. The growth of the potato industry in South Dakota has eliminated several markets in that state which formerly used Nebraska stock. And the demand for Nebraska potatoes in Iowa has been limited to some extent by an surplus production there this year. hTe earlier shipments of seed have gone mostly to Texas and Louisiana, but a little later there will be a number of shipments to Oklahama and Arkansas.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING

The governing planet of this date is Jupiter. The governing sign is Sagittarius and the astral colors are red and green.

People of this sign have a tendency for music, as well as the occult. They see things entirely different from the rest of humanity. Belonging to the realm of prophecy, they are also naturally clairvoyant and clairaudient.

These people rarely make mistakes, for this reason, and they should always follow their own advice rather than that of their friends or relatives. They are enterprising, progressive, and far-seeing. An emergency to these folks is an inspiration. They are neat and orderly, and very careful in money matters.

If you want to invest money in real estate, why not consult She Star Want Ads first and they will be sure to guide you aright.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING

The governing planet of this date is Jupiter. The governing sign is Sagittarius and the astral colors are red and green.

People of this sign have a tendency for music, as well as the occult. They see things entirely different from the rest of humanity. Belonging to the realm of prophecy, they are also naturally clairvoyant and clairaudent.

These people rarely make mistakes, for this reason, and they should always follow their own advice rather than that of their friends or relatives. They are enterprising, progressive, and farseeing. An emergency to these folks is an inspiration. They are neat and orderly, and very careful in money matters.

If you want to invest money in real estate, why not consult She Star Want Ads first and they will be sure to guide you aright.

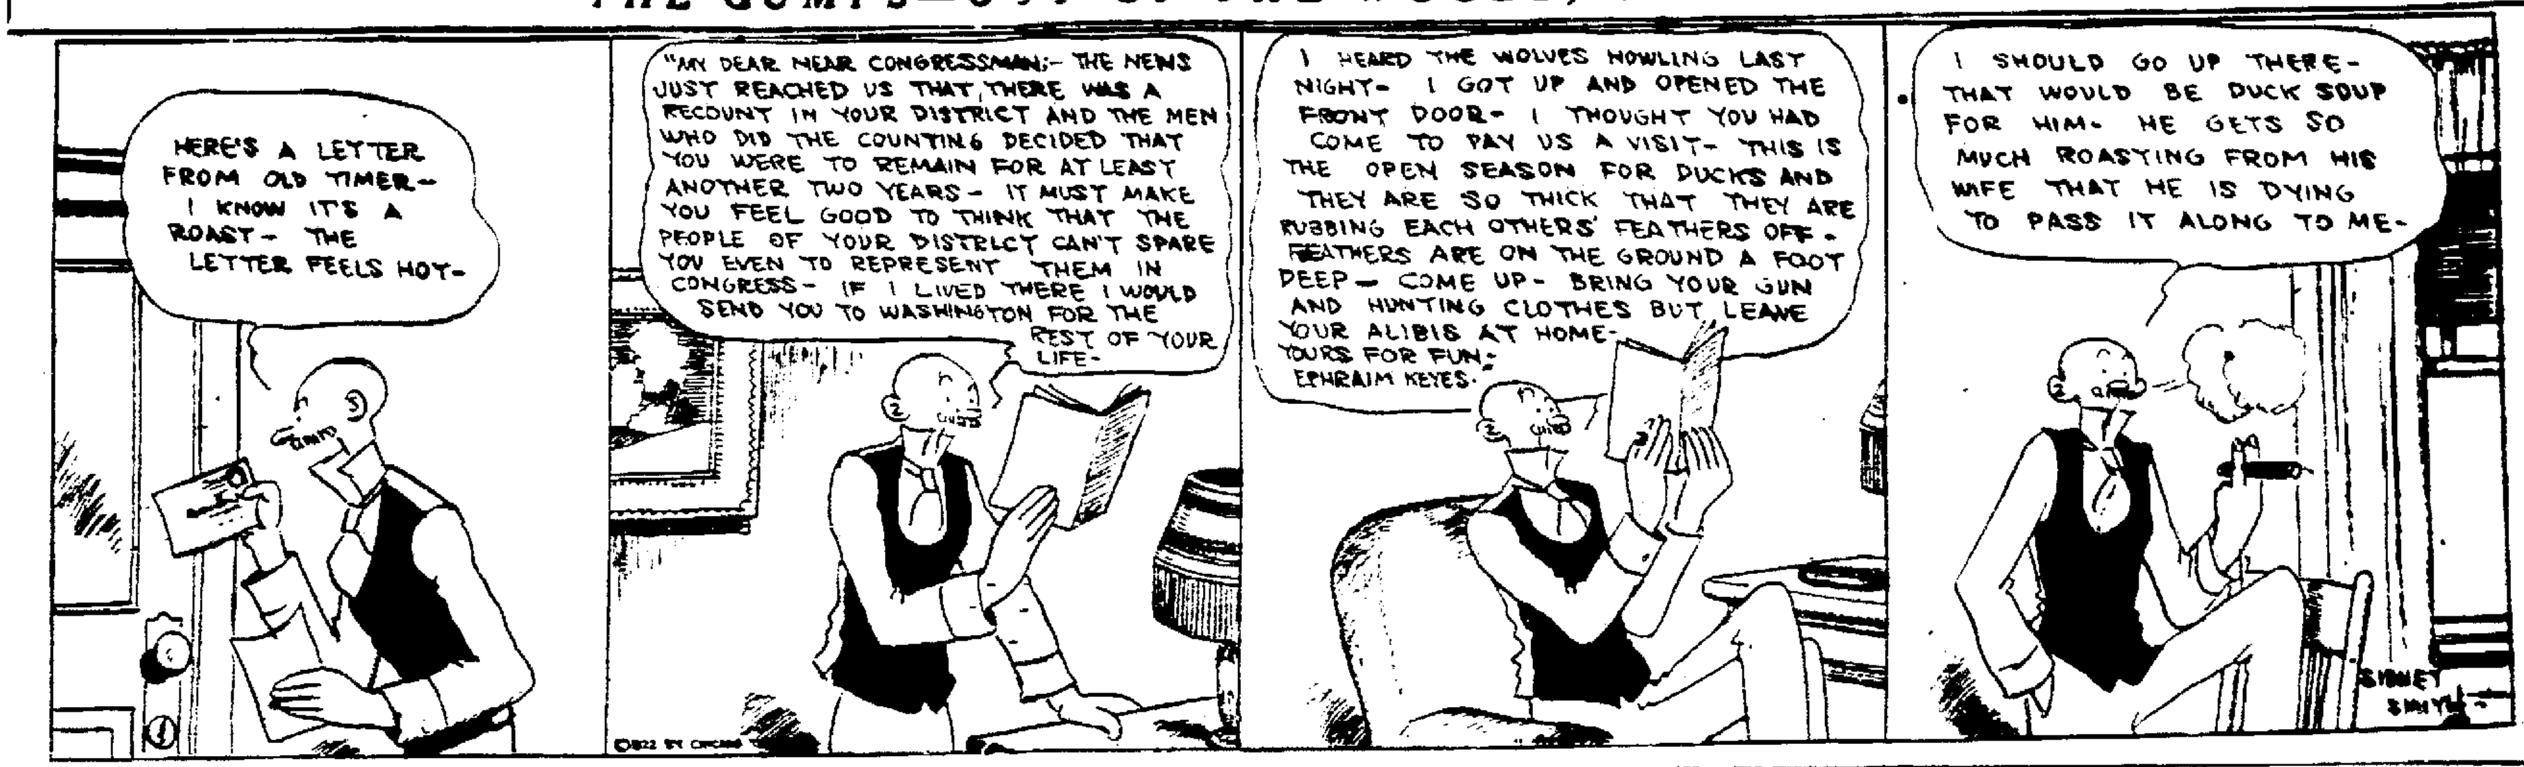
THE GUMPS—OUT OF THE WOODS, OLD TIMER



HERE'S A LETTER FROM OLD TIMER— I KNOW IT'S A ROAST— THE LETTER FEELS HOT—
"MY DEAR NEAR CONGRESSMAN:— THE NEWS JUST REACHED US THAT THERE WAS A RECOUNT IN YOUR DISTRICT AND THE MEN WHO DID THE COUNTING DECIDED THAT YOU WERE TO REMAIN FOR AT LEAST ANOTHER TWO YEARS— IT MUST MAKE YOU FEEL GOOD TO THINK THAT THE PEOPLE OF YOUR DISTRICT CAN'T SPARE YOU EVEN TO REPRESENT THEM IN CONGRESS— IF I LIVED THERE I WOULD SEND YOU TO WASHINGTON FOR THE REST OF YOUR LIFE—
I HEARD THE WOLVES HOWLING LAST NIGHT— I GOT UP AND OPENED THE FRONT DOOR— I THOUGHT YOU HAD COME TO PAY US A VISIT— THIS IS THE OPEN SEASON FOR DUCKS AND THEY ARE SO THICK THAT THEY ARE RUBBING EACH OTHERS' FEATHERS OFF— FEATHERS ARE ON THE GROUND A FOOT DEEP— COME UP— BRING YOUR GUN AND HUNTING CLOTHES BUT LEAVE YOUR ALIBIS AT HOME— YOURS FOR FUN; EPHRAIM KEYES."
I SHOULD GO UP THERE— THAT WOULD BE DUCK SOUP FOR HIM— HE GETS SO MUCH ROASTING FROM HIS WIFE THAT HE IS DYING TO PASS IT ALONG TO ME—

MINERVA'S MAIL
Take Your Troubles to Minerva

Wade Right In.

Dear Minerva: I enjoyed a good laugh tonight after reading in your Mail a letter from 'Mere Man" and your reply to same. Both were amusing to me. Now Mr. Mere Man I am afraid you have gotten your feet wet unexpectedly by mentioning what you deem Minerva's misfortune in being a woman. If you are not afraid, please come right in and explain for we are curious to know and the water is just fine. "ONE OF THE OLD STAND-BY's," M. M. S.

A Welcome Word.

Dear Minerva: Your column is certainly unique in attracting men readers. Most such departments are for women only and read by women only and pretty pallid in interest. As another man reader I certainly relish your spunk in printing Mere Man's letter and answering it as you did. Your column is of never-failing interest in our family, and we who have read it from its beginnings think it grows richer, riper and more worth while each year. Accept my heartiest congratulations and please publish them. I happen to knew you usually cut out the nice things that are said to you and if you publish the criticisms you had better even things up by printing some of the compliments. ANOTHER MAN.

A. I curtesy low with gratitude at your stanch support. Criticism may be good for the soul. But compliments are a lot jollier.

Acquired Another Interest.

Dear Minerva: I wrote to you before and your advice worked so well that I am coming again. I started going with a fellow about a month ago. He rushed me the first three weeks then just about a week ago he quit coming and began going with another girl. I see him quite often as he lives near me and he always speaks but never asks for a date. Once in a while he walks home with me if there is no one else going his way, but if there is he walks with them. I am wearing his ring and he mine and when he began acting this way I offered him his ring back, but he would not take it and still wanted me to wear it and when he wanted it he said he would ask for it. Now Minerva what do you think of him? It seems to me that he just goes with me when he has no place else to go or no one else to go with. Do you think this way? I think a great deal of him and value his friendship also, but the way he acts I don't know whether to still be friendly with him and put up with his indifference or not. What would you do? UNDECIDED.

A. The young man probably has acquired another interest or other interests that absorb him more than you do, and you should act accordingly. I favor your returning his ring and securing yours. I see no object in such a meaningless exchange. Treat the young man with friendliness, but not with any marked attentions. Ask him no questions. There is no particular reason why he should explain his lack of attentions to you. He would hesitate to say he preferred to see Mary or Rose or Jane, if such were the case. Doubtless the idea of your worry over him has not occurred to him. Nor do you want it to do so. Just accept his friendship as it is offered and do not expect more. Boys being as they are, and not perhaps as they should be.

An Unpleasant Breath.

Dear Minerva: I am inclined to have a bad breath much of the time although my teeth are in good condition. Can you tell me what to do for this? Does chewing gum help, or do any of the perfumed candies relieve this condition satisfactorily? MILDRED.

A. Don't resort to perfumed breath drops, for they at the best only conceal the unpleasant breath by outdoing it in strength, and the combination of odors is far from desirable. Your bad breath must come from catarrhal trouble, stomach disorder or tartar on the teeth.

Simple, easily digested foods will aid in overcoming any acidity from the stomach which may be a cause. Another aid is to drink a glass of cold water with five to fifteen drops of ammonia in it. If you eat food which may leave a strong odor chew a leaf of parsley or drink a glass of milk to take away the odor. Charcoal tablets aid in purifying the breath also.

A dentist told me to put a little tincture of myrrh into a glass of water enough to make a milky emulsion and rinse the mouth. This will dissolve and remove the tartar from the teeth.

The Man's Job.

Dear Minerva: I wish you would tell me how to win the affections of a young man I care a great deal for. We have gone together off and on for several years, but he seems to have no special liking for me, that is, any more than for other girls. At one time I thought he did, but that was a long time ago. I am afraid I will lose him though he is as nice to me as to any girl and I love him dearly. Please advise me. JANET.

A. Don't you know that you're reversing things, that it is the man's job to do the courting, not the girl's. Tuck this bit of knowledge in a convenient corner of your mind. It is the woman who keeps a man guessing who is adored. Nothing is more futile and pathetic than a girl clinging to an outworn friendship with a man. Just be a good sport and win this man's respect and liking if you can't have his love.

Questions Answered Briefly.

Broken-Hearted: Don't be a worm. Crush the love which is spurned, and seek interest in other young people.

Thank You: You children who were born in the United States are citizens.

Green Sweater: Write to the School of Agriculture, University of Nebraska and see if you could enter this school. If not, you could make up your credits by attending night school in Lincoln.

Broken-Hearted: Don't try to "win him back." Turn your interest to someone who appreciates it.

Eva: Your question is how to bake bananas. You may arrange bananas in shallow pan, cover and bake until the skins become very dark in color. Remove from skins and serve hot sprinkled with sugar.

Or remove skins from six bananas and cut in halves lengthwise. Put in a shallow granite pan or on an old platter. Mix two tablespoons melted butter, one-third cup sugar, and two tablespoons lemon juice. Baste bananas with one-half the mixture. Bake twenty minutes in a slow oven, basting during the baking with remaining mixture.

A Constant Reader: I referred your query to an eminent child specialist, who advised me that the daily nose-bleed and nightly prespiration of the child indicates weakness. It would be well for you to have him examined thoroughly for causes. It might be from undernourishment, or it might be from some other cause. Twelve hours' sleep is recommended for the child this age. He should weight 50 pounds.

Green Freshie: Ask the presidents of the other classes in your school, or the retiring president, what the duties consist of. Such duties vary in different schools. Inform yourself as to the customs of your school. Do not be afraid to ask questions.

Mrs. N. B.: I cannot very well teach you the game of Five Hundred through the Mail. Ask one of the club members to give you preliminary instructions, then you can pick up the game gradually through playing. Also send to one of the Lincoln stores for an official rule book since the local stores do not carry them.

H. G.: Sorry, but I cannot find you a place on a dairy farm through my Mail. I do not act as an employment bureau.

Student: The 8½x11 inch paper, double spaced is all right for the manuscript. Write your name and address on the upper right hand corner of each page. Enclose postage, not stamped envelop. Enclose a brief formal note to the editor, stating you are submitting the enclosed story for his approval. Visit the library for magazine addresses.

TIM HEALY FIRST GOV. GENERAL

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The appointment of Timothy Healy as the first governor general of the Irish Free State is regarded as a certainty. It is understood the post was offered to him some time ago and that its final allotment to the veteran champion of Irish autonomy depended only upon his acceptance.

This acceptance, according to several of the best informed correspondents in Dublin, has been given, and the consensus of opinion today was that the announcement "the king has been pleased to appoint," will immediately follow the declaration of his majesty's assent to the Irish bill which will pass its third and final reading in the house of lords tonight.

According to information received here, forty-three deaths have occurred among the refugees and 2,000 are seriously ill.

MAKES REPLY TO KELLER CHARGES

Daugherty Alleges Impeachment Action Move By Certain Radical Leaders.

Is Notice That Effort to Enforce Laws Means Ouster Proceedings.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Formal reply to the charges filed against him with the house judiciary committee by Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota, has been prepared by Attorney General Daugherty for presentation to the committee when it met today in legislative session to consider the Keller resolution demanding the attorney general's impeachmen.

Answering categorically the fourteen specifications submitted in the Keller charges, Mr. Daugherty's reply as summarized in a department of justice statement published today, declared, in reference particularly to Mr. Keller's demand for access to department documents, that it showed to be arrayed behind the move for his impeachment, "certain radical leaders seeking to serve notice upon every future attorney general that if he dares enforce the laws of the United States against such organizations, he does so under the penalty of attempted impeachment."

Joined in the move with these, he asserts, "were the profiteers, the grafters, the so-called war defenders," who sought "by unconscionable and unscrupulous means" to gain knowledge of "what those charged with bringing them to justice have secured as the result of the most painstaking, faithful and earnest efforts possible" on the part of the attorney general and those associated with him.

"Wherever consistent with protection of the government's interests and those of individuals who have reposed confidence in it, Mr. Daugherty said, the department of justice stands ready to meet Mr. Keller's demand for access to documents. To do so, "in certain important matters now in preparation for representation to the proper tribunals," he said "would be highly injurious to the interests of the people."

U. S. ISOLATION DUE TO POLITICS

Rev. Bolt Says Nation Should Join With Allies For Peace.

New wars precipitated by the present conditions in the Near East as an imminent possibility and the necessity of the United States abandoning its present policy of isolation to join with the Allies for peace was the theme of a sermon given Sunday evening by Rev. W. W. Bolt at the Plymouth Congregational church.

The policy of "no entangling alliances" was necessary in Washington's time as a means of self-protection, for a weak nation such as the United States was at that time could not mix in world affairs with any degree of safety. The Spanish-American war definitely ended this policy and made the United States a world power. The world war settled this beyond doubt, the pastor said.

This policy of isolation is the result of politics, Rev. Bolt said, and should be abandoned. The United States should lend its advice and moral support at least to the new nations of Europe that it had helped bring into existence. It should help these nations "win their way to quietness and peace."

West Coast Legion Post Makes Protest Against Mme. Gadski

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—Action of the Los Angeles county council of the American Legion in adopting a resolution against the appearance here of Mme. Johanna Gadski, on account of alleged pro-German activities during the war, was followed today by an announcement from Sherman Denby, the opera singer's local manager, that he would appear before a meeting of veterns Monday night and present Mme. Gadski's answer to the Legion's charges.

"Madame Gadski will positively appear here December 11, as announced," said Mr. Denby, "and if any attempt is made to harass or prevent her singing we shall apply to the courts for an injunction.

"I expect the state commander of the American Legion to be here Monday, and I believe he will be able to put the matter before local veterans in somewhat of a different light."

Urges Fare Slash and Extension of Streetcar System

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—Further expansion of the municipal street railway system should be the policy of Senator-designate Couzens' successor as mayor of Detroit, in the opinion of Henry Ford. One of the first things the new mayor should do, Mr. Ford declared, is to cut fares in half. This, he declared, would treble the street railway's business.

"People would find they could ride the cars so cheaply," he aded, "that tens of thousands who now drive to and from work would ride the street cars—the saving would be so considerable they could not afford to drive."

Pledging aid to the municipally owned traction system, Mr. Ford said a large amount of additional power was being installed in the River Rouge factory of his company, which he would gladly furnish the city at a moderate figure.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Wade Right In.

Dear Minerva: I enjoyed a good laugh tonight after reading in your Mail a letter from 'Mere Man" and your reply to same. Both were amusing to me. Now Mr. Mere Man I am afraid you have gotten your feet wet unexpectedly by mentioning what you deem Minerva's misfortune in being a woman. If you are not afraid, please come right in and explain for we are curious to know and the water is just fine. "ONE OF THE OLD STAND-BY's," M. M. S.

A Welcome Word.

Dear Minerva: Your column is certainly unique in attracting men readers. Most such departments are for women only and read by women only and pretty pallid in interest. As another man reader I certainly relish your spunk in printing Mere Man's letter and answering it as you did. Your column is of never-failing interest in our family, and we who have read it from its beginnings think it grows richer, riper and more worth while each year. Accept my heartiest congratulations and please publish them. I happen to know you usually cut out the nice things that are said to you and if you publish the criticisms you had better even things up by printing some of the compliments. ANOTHER MAN.

A. I curtesy low with gratitude at your staunch support. Criticism may be good for the soul. But compliments are a lot jollier.

Acquired Another Interest.

Dear Minerva: I wrote to you before and your advice worked so well that I am coming again. I started going with a fellow about a month ago. He rushed me the first three weeks then just about a week ago he quit coming and began going with another girl. I see him quite often as he lives near me and he always speaks but never asks for a date. Once in a while he walks home with me if there is no one else going his way, but if there is he walks with them. I am wearing his ring and he mine and when he began acting this way I offered him his ring back, but he would not take it and still wanted me to wear it and when he wanted it he said he would ask for it. Now Minerva what do you think of him? It seems to me that he just goes with me when he has no place else to go or no one else to go with. Do you think this way? I think a great deal of him and value his friendship also, but the way he acts I don't know whether to still be friendly with him and put up with his indifference or not. What would you do? UNDECIDED.

A. The young man probably has acquired another interest or other interests that absorb him more than you do, and you should act accordingly. I favor your returning his ring and securing yours. I see no object in such a meaningless exchange. Treat the young man with friendliness, but not with any marked attentions. Ask him no questions. There is no particular reason why he should explain his lack of attentions to you. He would hesitate to say he preferred to see Mary or Rose or Jane, if such were the case. Doubtless the idea of your worry over him has not occurred to him. Nor do you want it to do so Just accept his friendship as it is offered and do not expect more. Boys being as they are, and not perhaps as they should be.

An Unpleasant Breath.

Dear Minerva: I am inclined to have a bad breath much of the time although my teeth are in good condition. Can you tell me what to do for this? Does chewing gum help, or do any of the perfumed candies relieve this condition satisfactorily? MILDRED.

A. Don't resort to perfumed breath drops, for they at the best only conceal the unpleasant breath by outdoing it in strength, and the combination of odors is far from desirable. Your bad breath must come from catarrhal trouble, stomach disorder or tartar on the teeth.

Simple, easily digested foods will aid in overcoming any acidity from the stomach which may be a cause. Another aid is to drink a glass of cold water with five to fifteen drops of ammonia in it. If you eat food which may leave a strong odor chew a leaf of parsley or drink a glass of milk to take away the odor. Charcoal tablets aid in purifying the breath also.

A dentist told me to put a little tincture of myrrh into a glass of water enough to make a milky emulsion and rinse the mouth. This will dissolve and remove the tartar from the teeth.

The Man's Job.

Dear Minerva: I wish you would tell me how to win the affections of a young man I care a great deal for. We have gone together off and on for several years, but he seems to have no special liking for me, that is, any more than for other girls. At one time I thought he did, but that was a long time ago. I am afraid I will lose him though he is as nice to me as to any girl and I love him dearly. Please advise me. JANET

A. Don't you know that you're reversing things, that it is the man's job to do the courting, not the girl's. Tuck this bit of knowledge in a convenient corner of your mind. It is the woman who keeps a man guessing who is adored. Nothing is more futile and pathetic than a girl clinging to an outworn friendship with a man. Just be a good sport and win this man's respect and liking if you can't have his love.

Questions Answered Briefly.

Broken-Hearted: Don't be a worm. Crush the love which is spurned, and seek interest in other young people.

Thank You: You children who were born in the United States are citizens.

Green Sweater: Write to the School of Agriculture, University of Nebraska and see if you could enter this school. If not, you could make up your credits by attending night school in Lincoln.

Broken-Hearted: Don't try to "win him back." Turn your interest to someone who appreciates it.

Eva: Your question is how to bake bananas. You may arrange bananas in shallow pan, cover and bake until the skins become very dark in color. Remove from skins and serve hot sprinkled with sugar.

Or remove skins from six bananas and cut in halves lengthwise. Put in a shallow granite pan or on an old platter. Mix two tablespoons melted butter, one-third cup sugar, and two tablespoons lemon juice. Baste bananas with one-half the mixture. Bake twenty minutes in a slow oven, basting during the baking with remaining mixture.

A Constant Reader: I referred your query to an eminent child specialist, who advised me that the daily nose-bleed and nightly prespiration of the child indicates weakness. It would be well for you to have him examined thoroughly for causes. It might be from undernourishment, or it might be from some other cause. Twelve hours' sleep is recommended for the child this age. He should weight 50 pounds.

Green Freshie: Ask the presidents of the other classes in your school, or the retiring president, what the duties consist of. Such duties vary in different schools. Inform yourself as to the customs of your school. Do not be afraid to ask questions.

Mrs. N. B.: I cannot very well teach you the game of Five Hundred through the Mail. Ask one of the club members to give you preliminary instructions, then you can pick up the game gradually through playing. Also send to one of the Lincoln stores for an official rule book since the local stores do not carry them.

H. G.: Sorry, but I cannot find you a place on a dairy farm through my Mail. I do not act as an employment bureau.

Alicia: Bunions are difficult for the novice to treat; better have them treated by a specialist. Put vaseline on your eyebrows to encourage their growth.

Student: The 8½x11 inch paper, double spaced is all right for the manuscript. Write your name and address on the upper right hand corner of each page. Enclose postage, not stamped envelop. Enclose a brief formal note to the editor, stating you are submitting the enclosed story for his approval. Visit the library for magazine addresses.

TIM HEALY FIRST GOV. GENERAL

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, Dec. 4.—The appointment of Timothy Healy as the first governor general of the Irish Free State is regarded as a certainty. It is understood the post was offered to him some time ago and that its final allotment to the veteran champion of Irish autonomy depended only upon his acceptance.

This acceptance, according to several of the best informed correspondents in Dublin, has been given, and the consensus of opinion today was that the announcement "the king has been pleased to appoint," will immediately follow the declaration of his majesty's assent to the Irish bill which will pass its third and final reading in the house of lords tonight.

MAKES REPLY TO KELLER CHARGES

Daugherty Alleges Impeachment Action Move By Certain Radical Leaders.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Formal reply to the charges filed against him with the house judiciary committee by Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota, has been prepared by Attorney General Daugherty for presentation to the committee when it met today in legislative session to consider the Keller resolution demanding the attorney general's impeachmen.

U. S. ISOLATION DUE TO POLITICS

Rev. Bolt Says Nation Should Join With Allies For Peace.

New wars precipitated by the present conditions in the Near East as an imminent possibility and the necessity of the United States abandoning its present policy of isolation to join with the Allies for peace was the theme of a sermon given Sunday evening by Rev. W. W. Bolt at the Plymouth Congregational church.

The policy of "no entangling alliances" was necessary in Washington's time as a means of self-protection, for a weak nation such as the United States was at that time could not mix in world affairs with any degree of safety. The Spanish-American war definitely ended this policy and made the United States a world power. The world war settled this beyond doubt, the pastor said.

This policy of isolation is the result of politics, Rev. Bolt said, and should be abandoned. The United States should lend its advice and moral support at least to the new nations of Europe that it had helped bring into existence. It should help these nations "win their way to quietness and peace."

Urges Fare Slash and Extension of Streetcar System

DETROIT, Dec. 4.—Further expansion of the municipal street railway system should be the policy of Senator-designate Couzens' successor as mayor of Detroit, in the opinion of Henry Ford. One of the first things the new mayor should do, Mr. Ford declared, is to cut fares in half. This, he declared, would treble the street railway's business.
